His dream of gold came true

ONE of the happiest men in Durban is Mr. M. Rajah of Mayville, who dreamt last week that there was a tin of sovereigns buried in his cellar. When he looked—he found it.

Mr. Rajah, the father of 10 children told "The Leader" with a very happy smile that he always believed that a windfall would come his way.

"I am an ordinary worker," he said, "an all my life I have been working for meagre wages. Often I used to wonder how I managed to survive, and I always hoped that one day I might catch a big double or find a couple of thousand pounds."

Mr Rajah, who lives in a hovel said that he dreamt that an angel came to him from Heaven, pitied his struggles, and told him that there was a tin of golden sovereigns buried in the cellar by a very rich man who was a miser.

The next morning he told his wife about his dream. She told him to act upon it because there was something very sacred in an angel coming to him.

When he arrived from work that same evening, he followed her advice and after digging for a short while he struck a rotting tin full of golden sovereigns. He said that he could hardly believe his eyes when he saw it.

One of the first things that he did was to offer a prayer of thanksgiving, and to contribute some money to charity.

Burial not refused say cemetery officials

MEMBERS of the committee in charge of the Hartley Estate Moslem Cemetery are indignant at a Press report that burial was refused to a resident of the area because he was in arrears with his burial subscriptions.

Mr. A. Gany, an official, said, "We have on numerous occasions allowed burials free of charge."

The reports states that the caretaker of the cemetery refused to allow the burial of the late Mr. Sheik Fareed Ally, of Wandsbeck Road, Sydenham, who died two weeks ago. The refusal was alleged to have been made because "Mr. Ally was in arrears with his subscriptions."

Mr Gany told the Leader that the owners of the cemetery paid £1 each per year for its upkeep while residents, in employment, paid 10 shillings a year. Those who cannot afford to pay have free membership."

"From our records the Ally family did not pay any subscriptions."

The cemetery committee has done valuable work in the past. During the riots, many burials took place at no cost to the families concerned. The Committee also [illegible] for people from overseas [illegible] in this country.

MILK DAILY FOR POOR CHILDREN

AS a result of public funds made available to the Pietermaritzburg and District Malnutrition Relief Organisation by the Paramhansa Yogananda Ashram, 120 indigent Indian children of pre-school age are to receive one-third of a pint of milk a day.

The distribution of free milk commenced operation at Northdale last Monday and is to continue every day until the end of December, but more public aid is needed so that the scheme can be continued.

Mrs. A. E. Barnitt, acting convener of PADMRO was present at the distribution.

The Northdale Indian Welfare Society has undertaken to distribute the milk under the supervision of the Pietermaritzburg and District Malnutrition Relief Organisation.

Mr. S. R. R. Naidoo, an official of the Yogananda Ashram, said that it would cost R400 a year to feed 120 children, although there are about 500 children who are in need of milk.

At the moment, owing to insufficient funds it is only possible to feed those children most in need.

Mr. Naidoo has been appointed to collect contributions on behalf of the PADMRO for the continuance of free milk distribution at Northdale.

Donors are requested to contact him at 80 Church Street, Pietermaritzburg.

TALK OF THE BAZAAR

by The Fakir

HAVE I mentioned the TV yet? Well, I am still not quite decided as to whether or not our Dr. Albert Hertzog is quite so blamy in refusing to allow the "miniature bioscope" in South Africa. The "commercials" from Springbok Radio are frequent enough and often sickening enough. But the Commercial TV in England! Well, as B.B.C. TV-man Richard Dimbleby said this week on the 25th anniversary of his association with broadcasting, it is so oriented and even tied down to advertising that programmes are suited to the advertiser and not to the viewer.

Much of the TV fare is utter rubbish, and the advertising is so silly that the sponsors must take it for granted that there are lots of mutts tuning in to the channel. (And I dare say, from what I've seen of LoLndoners so far, the TV-advertisers may not be so silly after all.)

But whatever the contest of TV, the image on the little screen flickers so often that it is no wonder one sees so many children on the streets of London wearing glasses. I should imagine that Cassim Bassa, Ganas Nynah the Natal Indian Blind Society should, if only in favour of their campaign against preventable eye-defects, support old Hertzog in his anti-TV decision.

THOMPSON'S EYE-WASH

BUT flicker or not, we watched [illegible] last night when the programme was a discussion of apartheid. There was a Mr [illegible] who tried to explain that Apartheid was aimed almost entirely in the interests of the society," said Mr. Thompson, "the African could not rise to the highest positions. The aim under apartheid is to remove European domination and to make it possible under a system of parallel development, for the African to reach the highest positions."

He was questioned rather closely by a group of young people, obviously students, who evidently did not know enough to pin him down and jump down his throat when Thompson said airily, "The African is paid for the job he does in the same way as the European." This was a away with it while your scribe watched the TV screen and listened to the words in impotent frustration.

BISHOP REEVES

ON the same programme the interviewer introduced Bishop Ambrose Reeves who, as you know was deported by Dr. Verwoerd's government because of his opposition to apartheid. Bishop Reeves looke very well, his many friends and admirers should be pleased to learn, and as could be expected, vigorously denounced apartheid on the grounds that it was un-Christian, unjust and bound to fail.

In general terms, Bishop Reeves said the sort of thing about apartheid for which, in the mind of the average British televiewer, he is well enough known. I was somewhat dissappointed therefore that Bishop Reeves was not more ready with facts and figures, of which there are countless, and most of which serve to illustrate the sham and the hypocrisy and the deceit behind apartheid or segregation or White leadership as propounded by Dr. Verwoerd and Sir de Villiers Graaff.

POOLS AND BETTING

BUT for heaven's sake don't get the idea that the average Briton is particularly interested in the devilish practises of Verwoerd in South Africa.

Prime Minister MacMillan may, with an eye to Tanganyika and Nigeria, talk of the "wind of change". ChFurchmen may talk, in all sincerity of Christian principles. But as far as I can see the average Britisher just dosen't care tuppence about the fate of Moonsamy under the Group Areas Act or of Ndhlovu under the pass laws and Bantustans.

He is far too busy filling in his latest football pool form and thinking about the possibility of a strike in hte factory to spare a thought for the apartheid victim in South Africa.

By the way the Anti-Apartheid Committee is so low in funds that one of its sponsors says in a letter to "The Times" that unless funds are urgently provided by the public, its work will suffer. The public here, when it does take time off to consider anything other than betting and pools, wonders whether Uncle K is going to be as beastly as Adolf, the late unlamented.

OH, MR. K!

SAID Mrs. Smith of Shandon Road, London, to Mrs. Jones of Narbonne Avenue, London, the other day: "From wot I 'ear, this Mr. Krush Have may blow us all into maternity with his 'bomb."

ABOUT "HOME BOYS"

MORE S.A. Indians: We had dinner the other night with Angie Naidoo, daughter of the late A. Harry and Mrs. Naidoo of Sea View, and her husband Dr B. T. Naidoo, whose father is the well-known Mr. S. T. Naidoo of Tongaat.

She is nursing here after having obtained her double qualifications an Dr. Naidoo is working in a London Hospital while he writes his Membership exam. of the Royal College of Physicians.

I hope to see Iqbal Meer in the next few days and will tell you more about S.A. Indian students here in the next Talk.

Left: A garlanded Councillor Cyril Milne, Mayor of Durban, said after laying the foundation stone at the David Landau Community Centre in Asherville on Sunday, that such centres would also be built at Chatsworth and Merebank where 4,000 houses have already been built. The City Council presented the land for the David Landau centre and gave a grant of R6,000 to the building fund; the Indian community of Asherville raised R3,600; the R. K. Khan Trust raised R2,000 and the M. L. Sultan Trust contributed R7,000. The Rotary Club and the clothing industry contributed the rest. On the Mayor's left is Mrs. H. Kissoonsingh, who garlanded the Mayor and on his right is Mr. I. Levy, the president of the Durban Rotary Club. Mr. H. Kissoonsingh presented the Mayor with an engraved silver shovel.

Boom conditions soon—Verwoerd

CAPE TOWN, Tuesday. — Shortly after he arrived at Ysterplaat by air tonight, the Prime Minister, Dr. H. F. Verwoerd, told a welcoming crowd of about 200 people that within a few months, boom conditions would return.

Dr. Verwoerd told the crowd: "I have received letters from English-speaking people who differ politically from us, but who say that if South Africa is attacked in any way, they will stand with us to protect South Africa." (Cheers.)

He appealed to Nationalists in Maitland to support Mr. Frank Waring at the polls. The Nationalists should help the English-speaking people who supported them, he said.

"Whether he is a Nationalist or not is unimportant. What is important is that he, as an English-speaking South African, says that the Nationalist Party is the only party that can govern here."

Dr. Verwoerd criticised the Opposition for making propaganda of the "temporary unemployment" in the Republic, and said that South Africa's position was much better than what people would have thought a few months ago.—Sapa.

NEW CARE COMMITTEE FORMED

RESIDENTS of Wentworth South met at the Liberty Drive-in Theatre on Sunday, September 25, and established the 45th Area Care Committee of FOSA.

Mr. S. Brijraj, Chairman of FOSA, addressed the meeting and outlined the voluntary services rendered by members to bring a measure of happiness to those afflicted with TB, and their dependants.

The "Care Work" done by these members he said, was unique and had contributed to the very sharp decline in the death rate in the Indian community from the disease.

The Association presently had 1,650 current cases which are being supervised by voluntary workers, and of this a number of cases in the Wentworth South Area needs care and attention.

Mr. M. K. Padayachee (Treasurer), Mr. V. M. Reddy (Executive Member) of FOSA, and Mr. T. Palan (Chairman Clairwood South Area Care Committee) and Mr. D. Rampersadh of Queensburgh Area Care Committee of Fosa — addressed the meeting.

Mrs. Bodhree and Mr. A. Meera of Wentworth also spoke and stressed the need for a Care Committee in the area.

The following were elected to office: Chairman Mr. M. G. [illegible], Secretary Mr. M. Govender, [illegible] Mr. M. Pillay, second [illegible] Mr. G. K. Naidu.

Trust again seeks sport facilities

THE Durban City Council's Parks and Amenities Committee deferred consideration of the application by the South Coast District Indian Football Association for the provision of further sporting facilities in the Clairwood-Merebank area pending the establishment of a co-ordinating body representative of all Indian sports organisations in Durban.

Despite numerous approaches to the Durban Indian Sportsgrounds Association, no progress has been made with the establishment of this co-ordinating body and the following letter has now been sent by the South Coast District Indian Football Association Sports Trust.

"Further to the meeting convened by the Durban Indian Sportsground Association during the latter part of last year and addressed by Councillor Warman, I am given to understand from them that no further development has been made.

"However, my Trust feels that what the meeting will decide and what we are seeking for are quite different matters. In our case with the present set up with the Merebank Indian Housing, it necessitates the development of extra sporting facilities.

"We will therefore be pleased to know as to what provision the Council has made for us in this respect."

The matter has now been submitted for further consideration by the Parks Committee.

[illegible]

The provision of adequate playing fields, to consist of approximately 60 acres in the Merebank area, to cater for soccer, cricket, athletic, golf and tennis.

Financial assistance, on a loan basis, to erect boundary walls to our present sports ground.

The steel stand or stands that are to be disposed by the Kingsmead ground.

Dumping of soil to erect banks on the Clairwood grounds for the seating of spectators.

Provide grant-in-aid for the following roads leading to the present ground: Archary Road, Ganesh Road, partly from Sirdar Road northwards, unnamed road from Edwin Swales Drive to Archary Road southwards.

EAST LONDON, Tuesday — Wind reaching gusts of hurricane force in East London today closed the East London harbour, caused cuts in electricity to domestic consumers in six suburbs and some damage in the city.—Sapa.

JUNIOR LEADER

CHACHAJAN managed to carry himself to the sunken temple at Rossburgh one day this week to find out why so many thousands of people from all over the country were streaming in like pilgrims.

Several Europeans also took off their shoes and moved from one little temple to another. (There are four in all). Scores of people, after taking their vows, just sat on the temple grounds doing nothing in particular. They sat there for hours for hours, and even a fierce wind which whipped up whorls of dust did not distract them.

This was a wonderful example of faith, and I too could not help being moved. Stories of miraculous cures after several visits to the temple have spread throughout the country. I saw a number of cars with T.J. and T.P. number plates.

Faith is a wonderful thing . . .

£5 FOR EPIC POEM

LONDON, August 30, 1667.—An Epic poem, "Paradise Lost", is the first we have from John Milton's pen for some years.

He has spent many years in writing this—his greatest work—which comprises nearly 10,000 lines of blank verse. All he has got for it is £5.

His publisher, Mr. Samuel Simmons, has promised him £5 for each edition of 1,300 that is sold. In all Mr. Milton is not likely to get more than £15.

He has lived a quiet life since the Restoration, but it is surprising that he is alive at all.

Just after King Charles was beheaded in 1649, Mr. Milton declared himself on the side of Parliament by publishing:

Tenure of Kings and Magistrates, proving that it is lawful and hath been so in all ages, for any of who have the power to call to account the Tyrant or wicked King, and, after due conviction, to depose and put him to death . . . . .

REWARD

He was rewarded with the high Government position of Latin Secretary during the Commonwealth. One wonders why he was not put to death, or at least given a long sentence, when King Charles II was restored seven years ago. Instead, he was allowed to retire.

Mr. Milton married recently for the third time. After the break-up of his first marriage, to 17-year-old Mary Powell, he wrote a pamphlet approving a divorce. His second wife died a year after their marriage.

Mr. Milton is a courageous, even inspired man. He has been totally blind for the last 15 years (since he was 44).

The whole of "Paradise Lost" had to be dictated to his daughters who have been his eyes and hands since his blindness.

The poem is about 300 pages long. Surely only a genius could compose work as long as this without being able to see it in front of him. "Paradise Lost" is one of the greatest poems in the English language and is not likely to be surpassed . . . . . (Saga).

SEA ROUTE TO INDIA

LISBON, September 18, 14[illegible].—Vasco Da Gama, back from exploring a sea route to India, was feted yesterday by the people of Lisbon. He drove in procession from the palace of King Manuel the Fortunate. Received with every mark of distinction, Dom Vasco [illegible] —as he is now called—had [illegible] and properties showered upon him on behalf of a grateful Portuguese nation.

Da Gama was not by any means the first European, nor even the first Portuguese, to reach India. But he is the navigator who discovered, building on the work of Bartholemus Diaz, the sea route via the Cape. This is the great [illegible] because it promises what land [illegible] never could — the prospect of a great trade.

In ancient times many [illegible] from Europe travelled to India. Indeed the geographer [illegible] us that many Roman coins [illegible] from the Third Century, [illegible] found in Ceylon.

He adds that Western [illegible] Ceylon was conducted [illegible] medium of the Axumites [illegible] Ethiopians.

Then, of course, between the years 1275 and 129[illegible] Marco Polo was an agent of the Imperial Council of Kublai Khan.

In 1292, in company [illegible] father and uncle and a Mongol princess, he set out from [illegible] chow (now Amoy) [illegible] island of Formosa for [illegible] he reached India over [illegible] before Vasco da Gama.

FROM VENICE

Among other notable [illegible] the Orient was Nicolo de [illegible] Venetian merchant. In [illegible] year 1419 he left Venice [illegible] velled by way of [illegible] Persian Gulf. He [illegible] Sumatra and Borneo before [illegible] ling back to Burma. Finally [illegible] to Japan and down to [illegible] China; then back to [illegible] home to Venice in 1444.

Now Dom Vasco himself [illegible] us that, when he arrived at Calicut on his first visit he met a [illegible] merchant there.

He decided to send Bartholomew Diaz to find a way around [illegible] of Africa and Pedro de Covilha [illegible] way of the Red Sea.

Da Covilha's instructions [illegible] to explore the [illegible] details of India (2) to search for Prester John, the supposedly Christian king of North East Africa, who was to be [illegible] as an ally in the struggle [illegible] the Moslems and (3) to get details of the gold production [illegible] East Africa.

PRESTER JOHN

On May 7, 1487, three months before Diaz set out, De Covilha set out for Alexandria and Cairo. His partner sailed down the Red Sea to Aden.

A companion [illegible] in his quest for Prester John [illegible] Da Covilha—probably in a [illegible] sewn, lanteen-rigged vessel—[illegible] gated the Arabian Sea to [illegible] He found the Zamorin of Calicut quite prepared to trade [illegible] Portuguese.

Da Covilha wrote a lengthy report to King John before [illegible] breaking off his return [illegible] follow his earlier [illegible] ing Prester John. In [illegible] outlined the geography of [illegible] of East Africa [illegible] urged the King to [illegible] a way round the [illegible] the route that Dom Vasco [illegible] secured for Portugal.

In fact Da Gama [illegible] ly to Calicut because of [illegible] letter, and not to [illegible]

So we must [illegible] Bartholemew Diaz and [illegible] Covilha who really [illegible] to the West Indies [illegible] honour to Dom Vasco.

JUBILANT SCENES AT END OF MURDER TRIAL

THERE was joy and jubilation at the Durban Supreme Court on Monday as M. K. Maharaj walked out of the docks a free man after being charged for murder arising out of the shooting of his wife on January 13 last. Maharaj was sentenced to a fine of £50 and six months suspended for three years on condition that he did not commit any crime of violence within that period. The charge was also reduced to culpable homicide.

There was tense drama in court as prosecution and defence fought out what was one of the most talked-about cases in Durban.

The jury voted eight against one and in their summary made a strong plea for mercy.

Maharaj said in evidence that his wife had pricked his manliness when she had accused him sometime in November last of being half a man and of carrying on a secret affair with another man.

He said that she had told him once that her paramour could give her a better time than he could and she refused to have anything much to do with him.

In his defence, counsel A. Miller Q.C. said that Maharaj was driven to an extreme situation and even to a point of temporary insanity by his wife's constant provocation.

U.K. journal attacks the U.P. too

LONDON, Tuesday. — The monthly journal, "New Commonwealth," devotes its main editorial in its October issue to the South African General Election and says that it once more focuses attention on the "racial distrust and fears of that unhappy country."

Headed "A Light in South Africa," the editorial says that the Western world cannot condone race discrimination and injustice.

"It would be neither morally right nor politically wise to do so. South Africa has gone wrong by equating civilisation with a White skin, and the result has been group domination born of fear and distrust and in its turn creating fear."

"It is a thing deeply to be regretted that the United Party has followed the Nationalist Party in basing its policies on those mistaken concepts. The world cannot, after rejecting the race discrimination of Dr. Verwoerd, condone and accept the discriminatory policy of the United Party," says the editorial.

U.S. BASES TO REMAIN IN U.K.

LONDON, Tuesday.—A decision to shut four United States Air Force bases in Britain has been postponed indefinitely, it was announced in London tonight.

The four bases, at Sculthorpe, Alconbury, Chelveston and Bruntingthorpe, are to remain in normal use "as a result of the current situation."

About 10,000 relatives of the servicemen are also involved. —

PATTERSON TO DEFEND TITLE

TORONTO, Tuesday. — The world heavyweight champion, Floyd Patterson, will defend his title in Toronto against Tom McNeeley on Monday, December 4, it was announced today. — Sapa-Associated Press.

Princess Margaret's husband is now the Earl of Snowdon

LONDON, Tuesday.—Queen Elizabeth has conferred an Earldom of the United Kingdom on Mr. Antony Armstrong-Jones, husband of Princess Margaret, it was announced from Buckingham Palace today.

The 31-year-old former society photographer will be known as the Earl of Snowdon. Today's Palace announcement comes a few weeks before the Princess, also 31, is due to have her first baby.

If the baby is a boy, he will be known as Viscount Linley, a subsidiary title granted to Mr Armstrong-Jones today by the Queen.

If a girl, she will be known as Lady Armstrong-Jones.

The text of the Palace announcement reads: "The Queen has been pleased to confer on Mr. Antony Charles Robert Armstrong-Jones the dignity of an Earldom of the United Kingdom.

"His styles and titles will be Viscount Linley and Earl of Snowdon."

Princess Margaret and Mr. Armstrong-Jones were married at Westminster Abbey on May 16, 1960.

It was reported yesterday that Mr. Armstrong-Jones had reluctantly agreed to accept elevation to the peerage, but only because he wanted the forthcoming child to have a title.

Until Princess Margaret became pregnant, friends said he felt unable to accept a title conferred for the sole reason that he had married into the Royal Family.

Announcing the Earldom, Commander Richard Colville, the Queen's Press Secretary, told Court reporters:

Princess Margaret's baby would have been born plain Armstrong-Jones if her husband had declined the title.

Court informants said Snowdon was chosen as the name for Mr. Armstrong-Jones's Earldom because of the Welsh origin of his family. Snowdon, a Welsh mountain, is the highest peak south of the Scottish border.

Mr. Armstrong-Jones's father still maintains a home at Caernarvon and is a Deputy-Lieutenant of the Welsh county of Caernarvonshire.

Linley is a family name on Mr. Armstrong-Jones's mother's side. He—or his son—will be described as "Viscount Linley of Nymans in the County of Sussex." Nymans is the name of the old family home of his mother at Staplefield, Sussex.

MORE ARRESTS OF O.A.S. LIKELY

ALGIERS, Tuesday.—A French Government spokesman said tonight that there would probably be a large number of arrests of members of the underground secret army organisation within the next few days.

He told reporters that five had been arrested in the last 24 hours in the Mitidja area, bringing the total for the last three days to 26.

Usually reliable sources said that it was expected that there might be as many as 100 new arrests very soon, as the French pursued their drive against the anti-Gaullist O.A.S. and its plastic bomb commandos.

In Tunis French forces today completed their evacuation of the town of Bizerta, which they partially occupied last July in fighting with the Tunisians.

The withdrawal of French troops to military installations and camps around Bizerta which began last weekend followed an agreement between the two countries on a return to the positions they occupied before the four days' battle in July.

French military sources said today the withdrawal had taken place without incident and they hoped the situation would now be what it was before the fighting.—Sapa-Reuter.

U.N. CHIEF: HELPERS PROPOSED

NEW YORK, Tuesday — Smaller member-nations of the United Nations were understood today to be exploring the idea of a Secretary-General with five top assistants to help him make major political decisions.

This proposal, which follows Western rejection of a Soviet plan for an interim chief executive with three deputies, was once proposed by the late Mr. Dag Hammarskjoeld himself in the face of Soviet demands for a "troika" executive.

Mr. Hammarskjoeld said his five top assistants should include an American and a Russian, and that the three other posts should go to nationals from "outside any power bloc."

The initial reaction of the big Western Powers today was extremely cautious. Sources said there would have to be iron-clad guarantees that the assistants were named by the interim chief himself and were not subject to the decision of the veto-ridden Security Council or of the General Assembly.—Sapa-Reuter.

Pratt's widow flies to S.A.

The cremation has been set to take place at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.—Sapa.

NO OPEN DOOR

THE Minister of Indian Affairs, Mr. W. A. Maree, has issued an official statement in which he states: "I never indicated that the Government accepted the principle that the door was open for Indian teachers and religious instructors "from India to come to South Africa."

This statement contradicts an earlier statement put out by Mr. M. W. Holland, the Coloured Representative for Outeniqua, in which Mr. Holland said that Mr. Maree had told him that he accepted in principle that teachers and religious instructors from India would be allowed to come to South Africa under contract for a specified period.

The Minister's own statement gives the lie to Mr. Holland. We accept the Minister's statement. It is possible Mr. Holland misunderstood or misinterpreted the Minister's words spoken in a telephone conversation with Mr. Holland.

We were never taken in by what was put out as a gesture to the Indian community, by Mr. Holland. From bitter experience, over more than 13 years, we know it to be a fact that gestures do not come easy from Nationalist Party Governments.

So far as we know, the door is very much closed to Indians, and there has been no change of heart, though there has been a change of Ministers.

Nasser may be preparing new military offensive

DAMASCUS, Tuesday.—Syria has asked for the immediate return of all Syrian Army and Air Force officers studying in the Soviet Union, it was learnt in Damascus today.

Between 25 and 40 officers were sent to Russia by the United Arab Republic in an attempt by the Egyptian High Command to prevent a possible uprising by the Syrian military.

Other potentially dangerous officers were discharged or appointed to less influential posts in Cairo, the new Syrian Commander-in-Chief, Gen. Abdel Kerim Zahreddin, said.

The recall of the officers was not seen as a political move. The new Syrian Government, installed by the revolutionary command, has declared Syria will follow a policy of non-alignment.

But Mr. Adnan Kuwatly, Minister of the Interior, said today Communists and their Party would continue to be banned in the country under existing regulations.

Meanwhile, President Nasser's U.A.R. Government has asked the United States to ignore Syria's request for diplomatic recognition. The U.S. State Department said no immediate decision would be taken on Syria's request.

Syria's borders were opened on Sunday for correspondents, diplomats and Syrian citizens wishing to return home. Frontier points from Lebanon are still sealed, however, and an official source said it was because of the danger of infiltration by U.A.R. sympathisers.

The number of political prisoners the new regime discovered in prison was so great that so far there has been no accurate estimate, the Minister of the Interior said.

The Government has ordered that all foreigners taking part in demonstrations or engaged in anti-Government activities be expelled from the country.

Trained observers said today the possibility that President Nasser may yet launch military action to regain Syria cannot be ruled out, in spite of the Egyptian leaders declaration that "unity can not be a military operation." They noted that President Nasser in the past has often made a tactical retreat before going into action.

NEW ANTI-SUB FRIGATE FOR SOUTH AFRICA

LONDON, Tuesday. — South Africa's second fast anti-submarine frigate, the President Steyn, will be launched at a ceremony on the Clyde by Mrs. Muller, wife of the Ambassador, Dr. Hilgard Muller, on November 23.

She is a sister ship of the President Kruger, which was launched last year, and which is expected to be completed early next year.

Work has started on the third and last frigate of the same class, the President Pretorius. The keel has already been laid.

Hitch in Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Tuesday.—Dr. Conor O'Brien, United Nations Katanga chief, said today that President Moise Tshombe had refused permission for the joint military sub-commission, helping to supervise the Katanga cease-fire, to visit Jadotville.

Almost 20 Irish United Nations troops have been held captive at Jadotville, 80 miles north-west of Elisabethville, since they surrendered to their Katangese attackers a fortnight ago. — Sapa-Reuter.

"Internationalised" Berlin under U.N. control suggested

NEW YORK, Tuesday. — Canada today suggested an "internationalised" all-Berlin regime, operated by the United Nations, as a possible solution to the crisis in Germany.

Mr. Howard Green, Canadian External Affairs Minister, said the General Assembly could help in three ways towards solving the crisis.

First it must focus world attention on the problem, "leaving the four Powers in no doubt that they have an obligation to reach a negotiated settlement," Mr. Green told the Assembly.

Secondly the U.N. could, with the agreement of the four Powers, serve "in an observer capacity in the whole city and on access routes. Properly integrated into a four-Power settlement, a U.N. presence in the Berlin area would add stability and restore confidence."

Mr. Green added: "A third possibility is that the U.N. might be asked by the four Powers to assume some responsibility for operating an international regime for the whole city of Berlin.

Mr. Green said the General Assembly must "find means of compelling the countries responsible to cease the testing of nuclear weapons." He said it was no longer sufficient "merely to express concern and to record blame."

Mr. Green said the radiation hazard alone was sufficient justification for demanding a halt in nuclear weapon tests.

"But there is another concern and that is the spectre of the development as a result of test explosions of new and even more terrible weapons—for example Mr. Khrushchev's 100 megaton bomb—which might be called the Armageddon Bomb."

German peace "this year"

BERLIN (Eastern Sector), Tuesday. — The East German Foreign Minister, Dr. Lothar Bolz, was quoted in Berlin today as saying that all communications routes with West Berlin, including those by air, would come under East German control after signature of a German peace treaty.

Such a treaty would come this year, he said in a speech to members of the National Democratic Party and quoted by the Party's newspaper, "National Zeitung."

The Party, of which Dr. Bolz is chairman, is one of the minor groups in the Communist-led National Front.

TAGORE'S CONTRIBUTION TO CIVILISATION

By BENNIE BUNSEE

[illegible] any single man has [illegible] to civilisation is [illegible] a tremendous tribute to [illegible] and yet throughout [illegible] of mankind certain [illegible] have stood out [illegible] intellectual, cultural and [illegible] of a nation, and given [illegible] articulation to the [illegible] truths of the people, [illegible] themselves the noblest [illegible] life, and by strict adherence to the search for truth, [illegible] taken nations one step [illegible] towards that light of [illegible] and salvation of man. [illegible] were Homer, Aristotle [illegible] Christ.

[illegible] I can think of no other [illegible] than Rabindranath Tagore [illegible] such a representative [illegible] the exception being Mahatma Gandhi.

[illegible] not really discover any [illegible] new truths but he [illegible] a crucial period in the [illegible] of man when the powers [illegible] had triumphed over [illegible] and Goodness.

[illegible] especially so in the West [illegible] the two world wars and [illegible] of Russian Communism made people abandon [illegible] of the inevitable progress [illegible]. This is reflected in [illegible] and art based on the meaninglessness of life, as in the works of Camus and Sartre. The loss of a belief in God with the rise of science and the consequent rise of an increasingly materialistic outlook in life, was the beginning of the West's present decline.

WELL ARMED

Tagore came to the West and met this grave challenge. He came armed with the ancient wisdom of the Upanishads. When the impersonal forces of nature had triumphed over the individual soul and become fragmented, Man's loneliness on earth came back to him in all its nightmare.

The beginning of all philosophy is the quest for eternal values, the need to rise above the meaningless multiplicity of nature and the cosmos, and to seek a life beyond death and the desire to be assured that there is a life beyond death and the sufferings and wickedness of this earth.

There can be only one answer to this quest, and it is a spiritual answer.

It was precisely this answer that Tagore gave to the West with the [illegible] and poet's imagination of a great artist. To meet the impersonal forces of nature as contrasted against spirit or rather the conflict between self and not-self, he preached the Unity of existence, the union of man with all things around him and the embracing this union through love.

This union is achieved through a perception of the Eternal Spirit "whose power creates the earth, the sky, and the stars, and at the same time illuminates our minds with the light of a consciousness that moves and exists in unbroken continuity with the outer world."

He described his task in his great talks with Albert Einstein when he said he tried to "reconciliate the super-personal man, the Universal Human Spirit, in my own individual being.

This was his direct answer to the West's relentless fight in trying to master nature for its own comforts. Not that Tagore was against materialistic progress but he continually warned against not seeking oneness with nature.

As long as the individual is merged in himself, he cannot rise above the ego or embrace the cosmos in its entirety. So Tagore warned us against egoism which blinded man to the greater truth of the Eternal Spirit around him.

We have to sacrifice the self not only in the interests of society but to realise the greater truth of the One in All.

This was Tagore's philosophy of the Universe, but there was another profound truth that he continually reiterated in his writings, and this was his pantheistic outlook. It would be no exaggeration to say that Tagore was a child of the harmony that he felt with nature.

He felt that man surrounded by the beauties of nature, by the song of the birds and the colours of the flowers would be naturally imbued with religious feeling and piety.

"We do not want nowadays temples of worship and outward rites and ceremonies. We want a place where the beauties of nature and the noblest pursuits of man are in sweet harmony. Our temples of worship are there where outward nature and human soul meet in union."

He felt that "to commune with the unutterable we should get away from the noisy world of action, escape from the machinery of life which kills the soul."

How true! There is nothing that is destroying man's life so much today than our machine world of harshness and none that says against the harmony of the soul. If man has to re-discover himself, he will find that kinship with nature wherein he can find his soul in harmony with the universe.

In an essay, Tagore compares Indian drama to that of the West and says that the vortex of passion which is Western drama is because the characters are removed from the benign influence of Nature.

INDIAN DANCING

By Bhaskar as told to Sunil Bramdaw

FROM hundreds of years of lapse Indian dancing in its traditional form is again coming to the forefront and taking a high place in the world of art.

It fell into a decline with the coming of British imperialism to India. The British looked down upon it and condemned it as being sexy and vulgar. Indians cowed by conquest did not challenge this contempt of the British and consequently neglected it.

But since India has won its independence it has been consistently re-discovering its great cultural past and asserting it defiantly in the face of the Western challenge of seeming superiority.

And since its recent resuscitation Indian dancing has been having considerable influence over Western forms of dancing and the "Modern School" of dancing founded by Martha Graham in New York is an incorporation of Western and Eastern elements of dancing. This school was founded about 40 years ago and since then it has gone a long way in combining these two elements and making an artistic success of it.

RECOGNISED

In the West classical Indian dancing has been popularised by dancers like the famous Ram Gopal Uday Shankar and others. So that we see today that it is a recognised form of art in the West.

Indian dancing had its origin as a form of religious expression through the medium of the body since it is supposed, in Hindu philosophy, to be the receptacle of the soul. In its strict sense it is not a form of entertainment as such but a cultivated form of religious expression through gestures of the eyes, hands, and body movements.

It is this sense of religious expression which makes it so distinctly different from ballet in the West. Although ballet does tell a story yet, despite this, it is aided by an ensemble. Ballet has a sense of excessive and continuous motion and tries to reach out towards the heavens, whereas Indian classical dancing is more earthy and limited in being strictly individualistic. Hence, too, its sharp and jerky movements that are different from the other.

INFLUENCE

In its influence upon Western dancing Indian dancing is not new. The flamenco of the Spanish people originated in India when the gypsies from India went and settled in Spain. The castanets of the Spanish musicians are a direct derivation from Indian sources.

There are four chief forms of classical Indian dancing in India. They are the Bharata Natyam, the Kathak, Manipuri and Kathakali representing the geographical localities in India.

Of these forms the Bharata Natyam is the most famous. It is about three thousand years old and in all its long history it is practically unchanged. It is in itself a perfect piece of art.

The other dances have become stylised from folk dances and do not have the sense of perfection of the Bharata Natyam. South India up to this day is the cultural storehouse of classical Indian dancing.

But today in modern India, Indian dancing is becoming more and more bastardised under the influence of the Western impact. Much of this dancing is cheap and purely sensual and it is hoped that something better will come out of this indiscriminate fusion.

Dancing has also been used to give greater meaning to Indian dramas and in this it has taken precedence over Western dramas.

NOT VULGAR

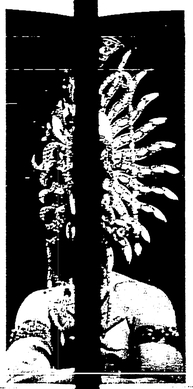
But in India today something more has happened in the attitude to dancing. It is no longer looked upon as a vulgar thing as it was before because of its association with the deva dasa (temple dancers) of ancient times.

Perhaps in this healthy attitude India might yet be able to save itself from the more vulgar intrusions of Western forms of dancing.

Or let me put it another way. There is a terrible lack of cultural values in an industrial and technological society, and this monotonous uniformity is the sad fate of societies throughout the world.

Technological societies defeat the very idea of cultural diffusion as there are forces at play here that are formidable obstacles to real cultural pursuits.

This has been so since the rise of the industrial revolution in the West, and Matthew Arnold in his



OH! OUR CULTURE

By T. P. NAIDOO

IT IS this much be clear—I am not making this criticism and attack because I wish to draw public attention to myself by taking a view that I know will offend many. I write in all sincerity.

I offer this criticism because I know that the Indian community is capable of much more than it offers today in its culturally apathetic state.

Let us face facts. As a community we boast too much rather than give something creative and of real value to the South African community.

What is the cause of this?

Our oppression? Yes. But what has happened to our elite who should be in a position to offer something positive. They have instead lost themselves in a smug, social life and given a snobbishness and hypocritical tone to the whole community.

Krishna Shah says in an article this week the need for a cultural elite in our industrial societies. It is high time that our intellectuals got together and took a plunge into a real cultural venture. Not that we don't have numerous bodies calling themselves cultural this and literary that, for the truth is that they are culturally and literary in name only.

They have not arranged any series of stimulating public lectures or produced anything worthwhile.

Our young generation which is more harmoniously fused into Western and Eastern cultures should take the lead. We have many university students and young men outside schools who would genuinely profit by a cultural get-together. We see the talents of our young generation going to waste in the numerous fields of art. As most of our young men reach intellectual stagnation instead of progressing further.

Our young generation could help to bring about that cultural integration that is so necessary for the salvation of our racially-ridden society. From our great cultural past we could bestow great benefits to South African society.

In the philosophy of Tagore, Gandhi and the Upanishads, we have genuine answers to the spiritual maladies of the West and the modern world in general, arising from its gross materialism.

South Africa in a nutshell is the meeting ground of all the great civilisations of the world—African, Asiatic, and Eastern civilisations meet in this sub-continent of such culture.

Africans, Indians, "Kaffirs" and Whites are struggling still to [illegible] culture [illegible] Dark Continent [illegible] cultural [illegible] relation.

Discovering that Sukanya is an imposter but still very much attracted by his great beauty, she leaves the King and goes away to her father's kingdom. But he disowns her as she has brought disgrace to his name.

Kings of other provinces also seek to have Sudarshana as their wife and invade the kingdom of the Queen's father. The motive mind behind the plot is the cowardly but contagious King of Kanchi.

The Queen is deserted and confined to a small chamber at her father's instructions. She hopes that Sukanya will come and rescue her, but she proves to be a coward. In her moment of utter despair and loneliness the truth dawns on her, and she longs for the true King who loved her.

She is reduced to complete humility and treks back stripped of all pride and glory to offer herself to the King. The King shows further nobility in forgiving the treacherous King of Kanchi.

It is the grandfather in singing of the pitties of the King who sees the true meaning of everything, above materialism, who shows us when the plot and meaning of the play finally unfolds and when spiritualism triumphs over materialism.

The King, standing for the longsoul within oneself shows us also what true kingship is. He does not associate himself with the glamour of a king but despite this, he is a true king.

IN A NIHILISTIC WORLD

CULTURE AND THE MASSES

By Krishna Shah as told to Bennie Bunsee

OURS is a sick civilisation. Some thing terribly wrong has happened, and we seem to be straying further and further from the right path. We are in the throes of a deep crisis which I think is going to decide the future survival of the world.

Our mental institutions grow larger and daily more and more people find the necessity of consulting a psychiatrist. There are many ills in the world today and one of the most frightening is the lack of culture which is prevalent all over the world.

The truth is, that if we define culture to mean the search for Beauty, Truth and Goodness as the definition has stood for thousands of years, then we simply have very little culture.

Indeed the question of the lack of culture has become a problem to the intellectual world, and more particularly in the West.

Or let me put it another way. There is a terrible lack of cultural values in an industrial and technological society, and this monotonous uniformity is the sad fate of societies throughout the world.

Technological societies defeat the very idea of cultural diffusion as there are forces at play here that are formidable obstacles to real cultural pursuits.

This has been so since the rise of the industrial revolution in the West, and Matthew Arnold in his 'Culture and Anarchy' was amongst the first to warn us of it.

What is the culture of the masses? It is simply bingo-nights, pubs, sports, television, dancing, Hadley Chase books, cabarets, cocktail parties, and so on.

The result of all this is that modern mass man is really half-educated and is as empty in the mind as he was in days of greater ignorance. The rubbish of mass media is a great contributory factor.

WHO DO YO BLAME?

It is a debatable question who is most responsible for this cultural emptiness, the masses, or the nature of a technological-city constructed society itself, although both do interact upon each other.

Torn from his agricultural existence, modern man finds himself alienated from himself and reduced to a cog in a machine, and his individuality suppressed to irritable conformity. Mass man leads a vegetative existence. He works from eight to five every day; he has a half day on Saturday and the rest of Sunday off.

Consequently he has not much time for genuine cultural pursuits. To "kill time" as it were and to fight against the monotony of existence he is more or less forced to these alle amusements and various forms of sensationalism.

And only when he want to kill time but he also wants to run away from the nightmarish sense of loneliness he feels.

If modern societies have this tremendous unease it is because man wants to run away from this sense of isolation as he cannot bear himself to himself.

While mass-man or mass democracy has become the central feature of our modern society throughout the world, there are also small cultural and intellectual elites who keep the culture of the age something alive.

These are elite in the true sense of the word, and not in a snobbish sense. Theirs is a most difficult task because they are so tremendously isolated and because they have to fight against the great commercialisation that has crept into all spheres of life and militarisation. There is a stability in an uncultural world is their reliance upon each other.

THEIR TASK

And theirs is a double task. Not only have they to keep culture alive, but more, they have to keep it alive where most intellectuals sacrifice their intellectualism to specialisation in a scientific world. That is why today we see a move afoot to bridge the gap between the humanities and science so that the latter does not become dehumanised at the cost of the humane influence of the former.

It is the duty of the cultural elite to raise the masses culturally. But to me, ours is a far-gone civilisation. I am not really a pessimist nor am I an optimist. I think that I vie whether with rational impartiality, and everything around me tells me that there is very little hope for the world today.

I think that the forces that man has to contend with are too much for him.

The French existentialists tell us that in a world without any real a priori values, man's responsibility is upon himself. But man can only exercise this responsibility if he wants to, mental faculties.

In a mass culture society such as ours the thinking powers seem to be submerged completely. We must re-awaken the ability of the individual to think rationally so that his place in the world has not only a utilitarian significance but more importantly a cultural one.

REAL TRAGEDY

Both Albert Schweitzer and Einstein have said that the real tragedy of modern man is that he does not think anymore. Modern man has become mere robot sensibilities.

Life in the modern world is becoming more and more difficult, and it requires good thinking capacity to adjust oneself to it intelligibly . . . . . .

I sense we are that gigantic human selfishness and sense of sacrifice that is needed to save the world asserting itself. The present day nihilism which is the mark of Western civilisation will spread throughout the world and we seem to be in the same situation that the Romans were in before the rise of Christianity.

Materialism destroyed the Roman Empire but Christianity came to save it and put something else in its place. But what can we replace against our present day materialism when religions have become social institutions.

IDEALS OF INDIAN WOMANHOOD

By Surya Kumari as told to Hiron Bramdaw

By natures own laws women are made inherently different from men. Men are combined more to the "mushy" battles of life that call for more physical assertion and the ability to shoulder burdens that are usually beyond the capacity of women to bear. Women are more gentle, more tender and even helpless in life's many battles, and yet man and woman are the complement of each other on earth. There is a spiritual need of each for the other.

The loneliness of man which is one of the greatest spiritual maladies that can be faced by a human being is overcome by the union through love and devotion that each gives to the other.

Yet despite the terrible need that each other must have for the other Eastern thinking that woman is burdened with the greater spiritual task.

CREATIVE POWER

Ancient Indian realised the true place of a woman and placed upon her a value as great as that placed upon man himself. Tagore writes in an essay upon Woman and Home that "woman is an inspiration to man making his restless energy into an infinite variety of creations in literature, in music and religion. That is why in India, woman has been described as the symbol of Shakti, the creative power."

Truly a woman has a stabilising influence upon man and there comes a stage in a man's life when he wants to settle down that is to be found in a home.

But the home is the artistic creation of a woman. It is she really who is the beautiful spirit which it is not too much to say is enshrined in the immortal words "what is a home without a mother".

A woman has by nature those qualities which give a home its soothing episodes. Unlike a man she is endowed with a far greater natural charm and grace and sympathy.

It is precisely these qualities which are needed for human relationships to blossom into fullness and Nature has endowed women with these qualities has fitted her for the very special role of a mediator factor in man's relationship with the world.

Tagore says that "woman's activity is not for money making, or for organisation power, or intellectually probing the mysteries of the world, but for conservation and maintaining human relationships requiring the highest moral qualities."

The ideal of Indian womanhood is expressed by character of Sita in the Ramanayana. She is greatly devoted to Rama and her home. And when Rama has to leave her and go into exile she says that she wishes to be with him and to follow him wherever he goes.

ENSLAVEMENT

Ancient India regarded a women's natural place as being her home although this was carried too far and woman came to be enslaved in it. But enslavement is something apart from occupying a graceful position as wife and mother in all womanly dignity and spirit of sacrifice.

In the West we are seeing a new version of womanhood that is quite different from the Eastern one. The Western woman has become more and more like man. Does she seem to have retained that saintly place, fullness of womanliness and spirit of home in a manner like unto her Eastern sister? Modern woman has gained much from their lonely duties, and the best man is he who has a bulging pocket.

Modern women want maximum satisfaction and they have reduced men to money making slaves because of this. She does not possess that grace which makes a home such a wonderful place.

The high rate of western divorces are turning out many delinquents in western society. The children become delinquents because they miss the love and security that makes one take a healthy attitude towards life. The child misses the warmth of a home, it becomes filled with bitterness and seeks to destroy instead of creating.

This is one reason why Americans in Japan are taking back house more and more Japanese girls as their wives. Americans have stated that they have been charmed by the modesty and extreme feminity of Japanese girls as well as by their sense of devotion to husband, home and children.

In our industrial societies life has become more and more drab and the individual is faced with increasing boredom. The great burden has fallen upon the women to provide a home that can not only stabilise the family but also give the broad women the attention he needs.

TAGORE'S CONTRIBUTION

He was no ascetic who denied the human needs. He exulted in the varied forms of life around him. He sang of love, youth, and motherhood. Tagore himself consumed these needs, satisfied his hunger, and he called upon them to thirst on their fire in improving the state of his country.

In this sense Tagore was much more a complete man. I think that Gandhi, Gandhi was somewhat unreasonable, humble and in great measure a saint. Tagore was a human nature that were far beyond the capabilities of the ordinary man. The difference between the two was well borne out by their respective attitudes towards industry. Gandhi did not want industry to come to India at all.

Tagore saw its inevitability and accepted it. All his life he felt that the future of the world lay in a fusion between eastern philosophy and Western materialism, that is materialism which took man along the road of progress and not towards vulgar materialism.

Tagore was never removed from the national life of India. Like Gandhi, he made upon practically every aspect of Indian life and in his literature he criticised Indian customs and manners. In his famous "Gora" for example, he bitterly attacked the inhumanity of the caste system.

He was not only the complete man in the sense that he lived life to the full and his search for the harmony between nature and man's activities upon earth. He was also the complete artist.

Besides winning the Nobel Prize for literature, he won universal acclaim as a musician, a painter, and a song writer.

Tagore symbolised that were human about which he philosophised. Perhaps this is why Nehru said that he was more in tune with Tagore than with Gandhi. He was a man let not only in appearance but also in the true sense of the word. . .

Opposition Accra M.P. arrested

ACCRA, Tuesday.—Police today arrested Mr. Joe Appiah, a leading lawyer and Opposition Member of Parliament and according to persistent reports also detained an undisclosed number of President Nkrumah's opponents in various parts of Ghana.

Mr. Appiah's British-born wife, Peggy, whose father was the late Labour Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, told Reuter by telephone from her home that her husband who is 38, had been taken to police headquarters from a court hearing in Kumasi. After she had seen him he was conveyed to a new jail 40 miles outside Accra, she said.

Usually reliable sources said those arrested include the Accra editor of the Independent newspaper, "Ashanti Pioneer," which usually reflects Opposition opinion.

SAW POLICE

Correspondents also saw police round the house and office in Accra of Dr. J. B. Danquah, a leading lawyer, who is an Executive Member of the United (Opposition) Party.

Meanwhile the Commonwealth Secretary, Mr. Duncan Sandys, had a second round of talks with President Nkrumah. They met for 90 minutes today in their efforts to "clear the air" before the Queen visits Ghana next month.

Mr. Sandys, who is expected to meet Dr. Nkrumah again, has said he cannot remain in Accra beyond Friday.

Duke an author

LONDON, Tuesday.—The Duke of Edinburgh is artist and author of a book of bird photographs with "substantial text" expected to be published next spring, the London publishers Longmans Green announced last night.

ADVENTURES OF FOUR ESCAPEES

THE escape of four Confederate prisoners and a girl from a fort in the Arizona territory in the 1860s, their pursuit by a tough-as-nails Union captain, and their subsequent adventures in the escape attempt and in an attack the Indians provide a screenful of thrills in "Escape from Fort Bravo," which plays at the Scala next week.

William Holden, Eleanor Parker and John Forsythe are the principals involved in the romantic triangle of this M-G-M adventure.

Holden plays the hard and tough Captain Roper, a man difficult to outwit or outdraw. But where his opponents fail, the lovely Southern sympathiser, Carla Forester (Eleanor Parker), succeeds.

With her aid the four rebels, including her fiance, Captain Marsh (John Fortsythe), escape from Fort Bravo hidden under the tarpaulin of a goods wagon, and Carla goes with them.

BASED ON AUTHENTIC INCIDENT

STEMMING from an authentic historical incident, the massacre of the White inhabitants at an Arizona wayside station named Dargoon Wells, comes the tense outdoor drama "Dragoon Wells Massacre," which plays at the Scala this weekend.

The story of a destiny with fate on the early Western plains the film stars Barry Sullivan, Dennis O'Keefe, Mona Freem and Katy Jurado.

A prison wagon, a somewhat crude version of our modern Black Maria, taking two lawbreakers to be sentenced by the feared "hanging judge" of the frontier desert of the Arizona territory of the 1860's, overtakes, in turn, a renegade trader of contraband to the Indians, a cavalry officer survivor of an Apache ambush, and a stage coach carrying a pair of equally beautiful, but entirely different in character, women.

O'Keefe scores as the cavalry captain, a man of both physical and moral strength.

Blonde and beautiful Mona Freeman comes into her own in a good role as an irrepressible selfish and man-hungry young woman, achieving a proper blend of maturity and appeal.

EXPENSIVE

A HUGE landslide, produced at a cost exceeding 50,000 dollars, climaxes Ray Stark's "The World of Suzie Wong."

More than 500 extra were used in the sequence, which had to be staged several times for different camera angles.

The Paramount film stars William Holden, Nancy Kwan, Michael Wilding and Sylvia Syms.

LARRY PARKS BACK

LARRY PARKS will return to films in John Huston's production of "Freud," a story dealing with the early years of the great Austrian founder of psycho-analysis.

Parks will portray a medical colleague of the young Freud, played by Montgomery Clift, who seeks the latter's aid in trying to cure a mentally upset patient.

HEMINGWAY MUSIC

Academy Award-winning composer Franz Waxman, who won an Oscar for "Place in the Sun" and "Sunset Boulevard," has been signed by Jerry Wald to compose the score for Ernest Hemingway's "Young Man," the film adaptation of the late author's "Nick Adams" stories in which Richard Beymer will portray the title role.

Titled "The Ernest Hemingway Suite," the theme music of the film will be dedicated to the Nobel Prize-winner by Waxman.

GREAT APPEAL SRI VALLI HAS

THE preview of Sri Valli held at the Naaz was well attended and the outstanding feature of this star-studded film is its musical score by G. Ramanathan and the lyrics are more than well written by Kamahdass.

For a South Indian film, Sri Valli outdoes anything produced before in Madras for its lavish sets and excellent use of colour.

The dances are spectacular and are beautifully mounted. Helen does ample justice to her role of court dancer and her opening number is a delight to watch.

Of the stars, Sivaji as Muruga gives a sterling performance and is excellently matched by Padmini, whose beauty and enchantment make her an ideal "Valli."

Chandrababu is his usual self but this time he gets across a superb mime performance.

NORTHDALE NEWS

THE Northdale Welfare Society's president, Mr. E. C. Phillips, gives a big "Thank you" to Mr. A. S. Pillay and Mr. D. C. James, directors of the Roxy Cinema for giving the Society free use of a Tamil film hit and the cinema on September 26.

Another Indian film is on the way for the Society's benefit at the same cinema on October 29.

Other fund-raising projects by the society are a bazaar on October 14 and a darts doubles tournament for the Prushotam Phillips Memorial trophy at the Taj Mahal Hotel on October 15.

Replicas of the trophy will be given to the winners by Mr. Lolly Goldberg, licensee of the Taj Mahal Hotel, and the runners-up will receive trophies donated by Messrs K. N. Moodley and D. K. Soni. And there's a special prize for the highest scorer.

The tournament starts at 2.30 p.m. Inquiries will be answered at the Taj Mahal Hotel.

LOST GIRL

ACADEMY Award winner Anna Magnani and Academy Award nominee Mary Ure, have been set for 20th Century-Fox's "Lost Girl", which is based on a story by D. H. ("Lady Chatterley's Lover") Lawrence.

NEW R45,000 RACING PRIZE

BONN, Tuesday. — The Cologne Horse Racing Association yesterday announced the institution in 1963 of an international race to be known as the Grand Prix of Europe. The race, for three-year-olds and upwards, will be run over a mile and a half and will carry 250,000 marks (R45,000) prize money. The winner will receive 175,000 marks (R31,800).

OFF-BEAT WARDROBE FOR JEAN

AN off-beat wardrobe will be on trial in "The Grass is Greener," a sparkling new comedy produced and directed by Stanley Donen.

"The Grass is Greener" stars Cary Grant, Deborah Kerr, Robert Mitchum and Jean Simmons. Miss Kerr plays a titled Englishwoman and Miss Simmons plays an ultra-sophisticated "other woman." To accent the difference in their characters, Donen decided to try something unusual in the wardrobe department.

When Miss Kerr arrived in London in advance of production, she found that no dress designer had been assigned to create a special wardrobe for her. Instead, she went to work with wardrobe man John Apperson, and they selected shapeless sweaters, slacks, tweeds and even low-heeled shoes.

"The clothes are not merely smart—they're slightly mad. It's a welcome change from jeans, street dresses and slave girl tunics," said.

Boy and girl entanglement is theme

Delmar Daves wrote, produced and directed the screen adaptation of Mildred Savage's best selling novel, filming it on location in Connecticut's famous Tobacco Valley, against the historic setting of the 19th Century whaling village at Mystic and at the luxurious Terra Mar boat and yacht club at Old Saybrook.

The film will be screened shortly at the Raj Cinema.

Deborah comes of age

THIS year Deborah Kerr, currently starring in 20th Century-Fox's "The Innocents", "comes of age" in her distinguished screen career.

It was 21 years ago, in 1940, that she appeared in her first film, "Major Barbara". Her role: a Salvation Army lass.

In the eventful years since then Miss Kerr has played in nearly 40 films and played roles ranging from nymphomaniacs to nuns.

The film she has chosen to make in her 21st year in films is an appropriate one. In "The Innocents" she plays a ghost-haunted governess.

A gunfighter fights to redeem himself

WHEN a man achieves a reputation as a gun fighter, gambler and drifter who abandons his family, it requires an extra-ordinary act for him to regain the respect of his community and of the son he left behind.

It is just such a dramatic act which occurs in "Gun Glory," the M-G-M outdoor action drama, filmed in Cinemascope and colour and starring Stewart Granger, Rhonda Flemming and Chill Wills, with Steve Rowland, James Gregory and Jacques Aubuchon heading the supporting cast.

Based on Philip Yordan' novel, "Man of the West," the picture was filmed on location in both Northern and Southern California, with its climax of a spectacular cattle stampede filmed in Painted Canyon, near El Centro. It will be screened at the Scala next week.

A newcomer to films, for whom stardom is predicted, is young Steve Rowland, handsome, six-foot son of the picture's director, Roy Rowland.

Laid in a farming valley of the late 1800's, the story of "Gun Glory" casts Granger as Tom Early, a rancher who returns after three years of wandering to face a hostile reception. His wife has passed away. His son, young Tom (Steve Rowland), vows never to forgive him. The townspeople want nothing to do with him, particularly when he again kills a man, although it is in self-defence.

It is only when the peaceful valley is faced with disaster that Earl is able to redeem himself.

TENSE BUT UNFINISHED TENNIS STRUGGLE OF CENTRAL-AVOCA

by Ebrahim Osman

CENTRAL and Avoca fought out a memorable and thrilling battle in the deciding Pritheepaul Cup fixture on Sunday. Every point was grimly fought for and after eight hours of absorbing tennis the issue was still as undecided as it had been at the beginning.

In the first match of the day P. R. Mandan battled all the way in going down 7-9 3-6 to R. Ramlakan.

Then Avoca's Joe Luckraj suddenly recaptured his best form, which had completely deserted him this season. He ran up a 4-1 lead over T. H. Naran. Naran, always a slow starter, then took charge and won the set 6-4. Luckraj continued the play well and took the second set 6-3. In the final set Naran slowly gained control and went on to win 6-2. This made the match score 1-1.

In the first doubles, Avoca's Poonsamy brothers put up a great fight against Central' Naran and Mandan before losing 1-6, 15-13, 5-7. This put Central up by two matches to one.

Then in the second doubles, veterans B. S. Moodley and D. Lalloo had the redoubtable Ramlakan and Luckraj fighting for their life. They captured the first set 8-6 and lost 4-2 in the second and looked like causing the biggest upset of the season, but the Avoca pair fought back grimly to take the second set 7-5 and the third 6-0. That made the match score two-all.

In the fifth match, Luckraj continued to play inspired tennis against Mandan. He captured the first set 9-7. Mandan took complete control in the second set to win 6-0. Thme final set was again a thrilling struggle before Mandan scraped home 8-6, to give Central a 3-2 match lead.

The crucial singles between Naran and Ramlakan began at the end of the day. This match provided more unpemeful tennis and after a four point-for-point battle Ramlakan won the first set 9-7 before bad light stopped play.

KRUGER DAY MATCHES

Thus Central lead by three matches to two, but Avoca have a two-set advantage. This match will be completed on Tuesday, October 10 (Kruger Day) at the Central Courts after the completion of the Estcourt finals.

On the same day the Estcourt championships, which have reached an interesting climax, will be completed at the Technical College Courts in Durban.

Naran and Mandan have already reached the finals. The other finalists will be decided between the Roopnarain brothers and Ramlakan and Luckraj, whose incomplete semi-final match stands at 7-7 in the first set. October 10 should provide a feast of tennis.

In the other Pritheepaul matches Sydenham 5-1 and Royal beat Tongaat 5-0.

On Sunday, Avoca play their last Pritheepaul fixture against Kismet at the Kismet court. Main interest in this match will be the singles matches of "Ginger" Mahomedy against Ramlakan and Luckraj.

MOOLA IS CHAMP OF CHAMPIONS

THE Champion of Champions tournament organised by the South African Table Tennis Board at the Orient Hall last week was won in grand style by M. G. H. Moola of Southern Natal. In the women's section the title went to Iris Barry of Western Province.

In the final against D. Greenewald, Moola conceded the first set and then put in a sparkling display to clinch the next three.

A grim favourite for the title P. R. Mandan was knocked out earlier by Moola in a great game.

Full results are as follows: M. G. H. Moola beat D. Naidoo 21-18, 21-17, 21-17; P. R. Mandan beat K. Minnies 21-19, 14-21, 22-20; L. Barry beat M. Pretorius 21-13, 21-10; D. Greenewald lost to D. POLICE were called in tonight to lock the front door of a Durban beach front bank in West Street. A member of the staff, it is believed, forgot to close the door.

The open door was noticed by a passer-by, who reported it to the manager of a nearby hotel.

Police, after determining that nothing had been removed from the premises, made sure that the door was locked. — Sapa.

Hilton meeting told that party is "wrong theoretically"

Witness Reporter

PROGRESSIVE Party policy came under criticism at a United Party meeting in Hilton last night. Dr. Aubrey Radford, M.P. for Durban Central, condemned it as being "theoretically wrong" and told the 24 people present that it was the "wrong road to take" if they did not want to see South Africa under a Black dictatorship.

He stressed that the only way to get rid of the present Government was by peaceful means— "which can only be done by detaching some of the Nationalist supporters."

"There are not enough anti-Government voters in South Africa to out-vote the Government, so we must come to a compromise with the more moderate Nationalist," he said. "Our principles are the same as those of the more decent Nationalist, and only by combining with them can we oust the Government."

But the Progressives, he continued, wished to use the medium of democracy to obtain their own ends, and in so doing would only destroy true democracy.

"Theirs is a path from which there is no turning back once it is taken — it is a path which can only lead to Black dictatorship," he said.

"We must not give the Blacks the power to push us around. This is what the Progressives advocate with their policy of giving the vote on merit. They are so obsessed with their war-cry of 'no racial discrimination' that they cannot see the fallacy of their policy. They do not realise that under their policy the Blacks in South Africa will revert to tribalism just as is happening in the Congo and other Black states in the North."

ONLY POLICY

FAMILY SPENDING HIT BY DECIMALS

Pretoria, Monday.

THE spending power of hundreds of families in South Africa has been decreased by the switch to decimal coinage, according to the President of the Housewives' League, Mrs. Willows-Munro.

She said in a newspaper interview in Pretoria today that superimposed on the steady and chronic rise in living costs, the increases due to decimalisation were causing real hardship in many families, which four or five years ago were able to live within their incomes.

"We intend to bring this to the notice of the Government, and to appeal for a closer watch on the prices of certain products which have been raised behind the cloak of decimalisation," Mrs. Munro said.

ATTEMPT TO FREE RUSSIAN SHIP WILL BE MADE TODAY

WALVIS BAY, Tuesday. — The four captains of the Russian ships operating in the vicinity of Walvis Bay, have agreed to salvage terms with the Port Captain here, and a bid will be made at midday tomorrow to pull the Soviet fishing depot ship, Simferopol from the sandbank, five miles from Pelican Point, where she went aground on Sunday.

Two harbour tugs, the R. B. Waterston and the Otto Siedle, will leave for the scene at 6 a.m. tomorrow. After getting a line aboard the Simferopol, they will wait for high tide at noon before trying to pull the ship free.

The ship was still lying at a 15-degrees list today. Her full crew was still aboard. The ship has been keeping up steam, but it appears that sand is building up against her seaward side. The propeller and rudder are clearly visible, with the rudder hanging loosely and moving freely with every wave that crashes over the ship's stern.

Brigadier J. Verster, Police Commander for South-West Africa and North-West Cape, arrived on the scene today. With him were the security officer and men from Windhoek.

Brigadier Verster said the Police were watching the position and would be available to give assistance if required.

The ship appears to be intact, and does not seem to be in any danger of breaking up.—Sapa.

Statement on Dr. Helgesen clarified

CAPE TOWN, Tuesday. — The South African Medical and Dental Council today passed the following motion at its meeting in Cape Town.

"The report in the public Press that the S.A.M.D.C. decided to reject an application from Dr. J. I. Helgesen to be represented by an advocate is incorrect.

"After Dr. Helgesen was heard by the disciplinary committee for more than a month, and was represented by senior and junior counsel, his legal advisers have now applied to the Council to again make their representations to the full Council. It was this application which was refused.

"The Council will deal with the matter on Thursday and decide what penalty, if any, will be imposed on Dr. Helgesen."

In a report yesterday, it was stated that the S.A.M.D.C. had rejected an application by Dr. J. I. Helgesen to be represented by an advocate this week when the Council is to consider sentencing him.

Dr. Helgesen was recently found guilty by a disciplinary committee of the Council. — Sapa.

WAY READY FOR SOCCER CHANGE

THE suspension of the Football Association of Southern Africa by the Federation Internationale de Football Association (F.I.F.A.) executive in London last week was received with mixed feelings all over the soccer world, writes R. S. Govender. It was indeed a sad day for South African White soccer, and virtually a day of rejoicing for millions of non-European soccer public.

The F.A.S.A. (all-White body) was given twelve months to remove all racial discrimination in South African soccer by the FIFA congress in Rome last year. This period expired without FASA making a single move to adhere to the decision and remedy the position. It was obvious that the FIFA Executive had to implement the resolution by suspending FASA. FASA, in fact, made the problem more difficult rather than improving the position when it shielded behind the laws of the country (which really do not exist in the statute books) and refused to allow Durban City to play a Natal non-White team—in spite of the Group Areas Board (a Government body) sanctioning the match. No true sportsman would be happy to see South Africa out of world competition, but with the step taken, it is a blessing in disguise for non-European footballers that FASA is suspended. It [illegible] for a change of heart, [illegible] of policy and change of [illegible] for non-racial soccer in the country. If FASA was not [illegible], then the South African [illegible] Federation's persistence for [illegible] recognition would [illegible] problem.

[illegible] shocking and unsel[illegible] comment was from Mr. [illegible], the Sports Editor [illegible] Sunday Times, and it is [illegible] that Mr. Litchfield will [illegible] swallow his words.

Leathermen's soccer

[illegible] employed leatherworkers, playing for Lotus United in the Pietermaritzburg Leatherworkers' Soccer [illegible], finished the series on Sunday with a 3-0 victory over Ameri[illegible] to head the log with 11 points.

Their closest rivals, Drakes United beat Felicity 3-1 and if Drakes win their remaining match, they will share the league championship.

Sandals came back to match-winning form with a 4-2 victory against Dick Whittington on Sunday. But the unlucky Sutherlands Tannery [illegible] bottom dogs after losing [illegible] against Richleigh.

THE turnstiles should have little respite this Saturday night at the Icedrome, when classy Percy "Kid" Lewis tangles for the second time with Sexton "Wonder-Boy" Mabena, as seldom have we had a bill with so many good supporting bouts, says Ronnie Govender.

In the main fight, I expect Percy Lewis to win a thrilling battle. Mabena will no doubt force the fight but this will be to his own detriment. With Lewis having sharpened up his punching which appears to carry much more sting at this stage, Mabena will walk into devastating counter punching. However, I don't expect Lewis to fight on the retreat all the time. I am confident that this time he will do more chasing than before.

The most supporting bout sees a return between Jerry Moloi and Homicide Goba in the lightweight division. This is virtually a battle between the hammer and the rock. Goba is the hammer and Moloi the rock. The question is just how impervious is the rock to the hammer that blasted the stuffing out of another rock Sabela recently, on the Rand. I believe that for once in his career the hardy Moloi is going to kiss the canvas pretty hard. Goba is a tough boy and his up-and-down record in the past was due to weight reducing which weakened him a lot. Fighting as a lightweight he should be at his strongest. However, there is still the possibility of Moloi hanging one on his glass jaw.

Nagoor Govender tackles Philip Mtembu in what should be a battle of the hard-hitters. Nagoor is a lad who can stand up and take it. He showed this only too well in his [illegible] encounter with the two-fisted Leonard "Killer" Madela. He can also hit hard. His main weaknesses are his poor defence and footwork. He has a tough customer in Philip and the bout should materialise into a first-class slamdinger.

Glamour boy Louis Joshua, now on a [illegible] comeback campaign, does battle with the Rand's Letty Masondo. Louis is showing great form and his consistent workouts [illegible] speed ball having sharpened up his timing and punching. A win over Letty will enhance his national title aspirations as the latter is one of the Rand's top boys. Joshua has also added some technical ring craft to his fighting and should thrill the crowds with another characteristic [illegible] display.

For level headed and classy boxing, young Eddie Veeran is hard to beat. It is a real pleasure to watch this game youngster do justice to the real art of boxing. Once more he is pitted against a very tough opponent in the rising Michael Ngcongo. My bet is that Michael is not experienced enough for Veeran, and if he doesn't get in a lucky punch he should lose on points.

There are two other smashing prelim's to set a high note to another great fight under the City Promotions banner.

ATHLETICS TRIALS FOR KING'S PARK

THE Durban Athletic and Cycling Stadium (European) have kindly allowed the Natal Amateur Athletic and Cycling Union to use the King's Park Stadium for its trials on Sunday, November 19.

The trials are being staged to select the Natal team to take part in the South African championships at the same venue at the end of the year.

Mr. Danny Naidoo, Secretary of the Union, said that the King's Park authorities may allow the Union to use the stadium at least four times a year. He added that the stadium will only be allowed for Natal events and not school or club championships.

"This is a blessing in disguise", said Mr. Naidoo, "because we haven't a suitable track of our [own]."

He said that his Union was very grateful to the Durban Athletic and Cycling Stadium.

Mr. Naidoo said apart from the trials, special events are being organised for primary school children, and if successful, this will be a regular feature. He has appealed to sportsmasters of primary schools to co-operate.

BOXING CHAMPIONS

ALTHOUGH there are a number of amateur boxing prospects in Natal, the Natal Amateur Boxing Federation was not able to send a team to take part in the South African championships which ended in Cape Town last week.

Mr. M. R. Mistry, the president of the Federation, stated that an effort was made to raise sufficient money to send a small team, but it was not successful.

Gopaul Govender (brother of Nagoor Govender of Stanger, an up-coming boxer, finished as runner-up in the bantamweight division.

WITH the resounding win over the League top-dogs, Transvaal United, Aced United's day of reckoning is past. They have proved not only their mettle as a team of diz-hards, but with this win, are right back in the torrid fight for league honours.

Standing in their way is the team that humbled them thrice before, twice in the amateur ranks, and once in the pro league—the mighty Moroko Swallows, whom they meet this week at Curries Fountain in what can be described as the most crucial match of the series.

If Aces win, and if Avalon Athletic triumph over Transvaal United, Aces will be the only Natal team in the running for top pro honours. Considering the great work done by Natal in pioneering professionalism, such a turn of events would be most befitting.

Indications at this stage are that United stand the best chance of gaining revenge in this match. The most important considerations in arriving at such a conclusion are Aces' undoubted return to form, and the return from Rhodesia of those brilliant men, Excellent Mtembu and Zenzeni.

One must not be misled by Swallows recent defeats at the hands of Transvaal and Blackpool. If anything, these losses indicate that Blackpool and Transvaal have strengthened their resources considerably. Blackpool have always been a threat and from all reliable accounts have improved.

Remember in their last encounter with Aces, which ended in a 3—3 draw, they almost won.

Swallows haven't slipped, make no mistake about that. I gather that since their match against Aces is of such vital importance to them that they are making concerted efforts to put their best foot forward, and if we have seen only too well in the past what Swallows are like when they do this.

However, Swallows at their very best have seldom had a challenge like they are going to get on Sunday. Aces are back where they were, and that in itself presents a problem. Whom are they going to leave out to put in Excellent Senseni. While Senseni is a must for the team, I do not share the same optimism about Excellent.

The Aces side have settled down as a team, especially the forward line, and I cannot see any of them being left out. That is a problem that the team selectors will have to face and one must hope that their decision is guided by past experience.

ANOTHER HIDING FOR PLUCKY BEREA

BEREA took another hiding at Curries Fountain last week in the second round of the U.T.C. League Cup competition when they were soundly thrashed 4—0 by bottom-of-the-log, Avalon Athletic. In a forward line that packed plenty of punch and thrust, Hector Fynn played an outstanding game and was in fact the chief architect of Athletic's well deserved win.

Avalon were without their stalwart, Herbert Zuma, who is back in Holland playing for the pro side, Heracles. In his stead, Athletic fielded the wily former national forward, Thiri Rampath.

Highlights of the game were:

Dharrum Mohan, collecting from McTavish, cut across beating down Dunn and Basil. A scrimmage ensued in the hard-pressed box and Joey Chetty lobbed the ball to be collected by wide-awake Derrick Desplace in goal for Berea.

Bernie Crowie and M. M. Freddie bamboozled the Athletic defence and got within scoring range but the low lying defence held out somehow and the ball sailed out of the box to be picked up by roving Basil Petersen who tore in a scorcher and had the misfortune of hitting the cross bar.

Eddie Richards broke away from the [illegible] Ladren Nkabinde to cross within the teeth of the open goal but Magwa and Freddie were inches away to let slip a grand opportunity.

With the Berea field still upfield, only Dunn and Vassie were left to hold off a cross from Manitsi [illegible] down wind to Dharrum. Vassie's [illegible] struck air as he hopelessly [illegible] the ball. Mohan had only the keeper to beat and the stadium held its breath as a scorcher left his boot, and Desplace sighed as the ball grazed the upright.

Athletic came into the fight with a fury and had Desplace not dived full length with first-class anticipation on Bopela's feet it would have been a goal for certain.

With the pressure increasing by the second, Vassie Govindsamy was forced to concede a corner. Peter Minnie made excellent use of it and Bopela slammed in the gift cross.

Desplace came down hard to stop it but the ball rebounded and the tearaway Hector Fynn was on it in a flash to register Athletic's first goal.

Berea had two misfortunes after that. A Eddie Richards corner kick saw Freddie dash in a beauty only to hit the cross bar and a goal from Basil was disallowed as offside.

After interval, Bopela's second goal, after Dunn and Vassie were beaten down in grand style, seemed to take the wind out of Berea's determined first-half stand.

They did, of course, put up a strong mid-field battle mainly through the tireless efforts of Bernie Crowie and Duggie Perumal. A harrassed M.M. Freddie was ordered off the field after allegedly kicking an Athletic player with the ball out of play.

Once more a rebound after Desplace stopping an absolute scorcher, saw Fynn take Athletic's score to three. Desplace and Dunn were outstanding as Athletic pummelled the nets but they couldn't stop Bopela, try as they might who sealed the fate of the match with Avalon's fourth goal.

Will S. African Darts Union be formed?

SINCE 1954, when Pietermaritzburg darts officials succeeded in organising the multi-racial Natal Darts Union, they have been sounding other centres about the formation of a South African Darts Association.

Leaders of the movement were Messrs S. N. Bobby Naidoo, L. "Chicken" Govender, first president and secretary respectively of Natal darts; Harry Ramdass, M. K. Naidoo, C. Rajagopaul and others whose names do not readily spring to mind.

And last year, Natal officials who accompanied a Coastals team which toured the Cape Province and had talks with leaders there, returned home in optimistic mood.

But, although Natal had set the wheels in motion, word was received that the Cape centres were thinking of setting up South African Darts headquarters in Cape Town.

While welcoming the coming of flower of the South African Darts Union, Natal officials feel that headquarters should be situated here.

The Natal delegation consisting of Messrs M. M. Govender (Durban) Nam Moodley (Clairwood) M. P. Govender (Tongaat) S. David (Isipingo) and S. N. Boddy Naidoo (Pietermaritzburg) leave by car tonight to attend a meeting to be held this weekend in Cape Town.

In Pietermaritzburg's Lion's Hall on Sunday, Pietermaritzburg "A" beat Tongaat "A" 2—1 but the "B" team lost 0—3. Crusaders beat Tongaat Bakery three [illegible] in a Natal League game.

Supporters' Club

THE Aces United Supporters' Club which was formed recently, will hold its first meeting at Club Lotus, Durban, on Sunday, October 8 at 9 a.m. Members and intending members are invited to attend.

RONNIE GOVE[illegible]DER SAYS:

Tragedy that sh[illegible] never have been

I DO NOT share the jubilation of many of our sportsmen at the exclusion of the all-White Football Association of Southern Africa from the Federation of International Football Associations. I think that this is a tragedy—a tragedy that should never have happened. The blame must be laid four-square at the feet of the White soccer administrators who have blindly insisted on racialism, using the Government as a shield for their own whims, AS THERE IS NO LAW AGAINST MIXED SPORT.

The South African Soccer Federation which, mark you, is now a non-racial organisation, and which pressed the issue at F.I.F.A., cannot be blamed. For years they have tried to negotiate with F.A.S.A. to solve the soccer problem in this country, but for years their rightful pleas have fallen on deaf ears.

"This is only the beginning. If White South Africa insists on leaving out the country's non-white from the [illegible] of international sport, it will one day find itself left out in the cold. Instead of bandying about such words as "intrigue" and "unconstitutional" they should instead turn their attention towards arriving at a proper settlement.

WILL SAID ROGER EAST

While White sportswriters such as Eric Ritchfield of the "Sunday Times" are falling over themselves trying to defend F.A.S.A., Roger East of the "Natal Mercury" has faced the situation like a true sportsman. His was the most sensible reaction and in case you missed it, I am reproducing his refreshing remarks below:

"So the cordon's tightening. In these past 48 hours of recriminations, soul-searching and baying defiance at the humbling of the country's soccer status, I admit to remaining stony-eyed.

"The banging of nails in the country's sporting coffin has held held the attention of neighbours for some time past but has been pointedly ignored in the funeral parlour itself.

"I stand four-square behind the principle of multi-racial sport. By an accident of birth—in Australia—I grew up with a white skin and by circumstances shared a rough school desk with a coal-black mission kid.

"Over the years I have wrestled with them, [illegible] with them and during the war fought with them. To the best of my knowledge I'm still untouched by all this.

"When the mass of words have been sifted since the F.I.F.A. suspension statement there remains only the outline of racial prejudice and ignorance.

"The English language has been called on for some ignominious roles, but none more distasteful than equating immmoral actions with lofty phrases.

"There is no blanket ban by the Government on multi-racial sport, in areas other than those classified as 'White' fixtures can be promoted if the desire is there. Obviously this does not exist.

"Those who think that way travel in [illegible] company. At the Berlin Games [illegible] 1936 a humble American Negro, [illegible] Owens, through his athletic prowess dominated the citadel then de[illegible] the white skin.

"An outraged Hitler refused to shake his hand. History has buried him."

"TEAM OF THE YEAR"

THE Durban Indian Football Association under the chairmanship of that brilliant administrator, Mr. R. K. Naidoo is in process of selecting its Team of the Year" and its "Player of the Year". This is a very difficult task as D.I.F.A. has produced soccer of the highest grade since "R. K." took over, especially this year.

All considered I would give the "Team of the Year" vote to Young Aces who have proved themselves in every department. "The Player of the Year" is an even more difficult job. I have in mind two players who have been particularly outstanding and I hope D.I.F.A. takes them into consideration. They are J. Sivlingamdas of Aces and the brilliant Derrick Desplace, goal-keeper for Comets.

BUSMEN THREATEN TO GO ON STRIKE

By a "Leader" Reporter

GRAVE and widespread discontent was expressed this week by bus conductors and drivers over the treatment given them by bus owners. The drivers and conductors complain that they work under intolerable conditions and that they are grossly underpaid.

Several drivers and conductors told me that they would take strike action if their demands were not met soon. "What could the owners do if we went on strike?" one driver said defiantly.

Here is a list of their grievances, expressed by the drivers and conductors:

1. They are grossly underpaid. Drivers are supposed to get R2.30 for an eight-hour shift, but get R1.25.

2. Instead of working an eight-hour shift they work a 16-hour shift from about five in the morning to past midnight.

3. Many conductors do not get R1.25 for the eight hours a day that they work.

4. Most conductors are so fatigued by the long hours of work that they are forced to hire relief workers and pay them 10c or 20c from their own pockets.

5. Drivers and conductors never receive the three weeks holiday pay to which they are legally entitled.

6. They receive no sick fund nor are they compensated when their buses break down.

7. They never receive overtime pay, and permanent relief drivers are hardly ever employed.

8. They are not registered with the Unemployment Benefit Fund.

9. They are not allowed to protest about their working conditions or they are immediately fired.

10. They are retrenched "without rhyme or reason."

11. They allegrd that the Bus Employees Union is working hand in hand with the owners. They allege that whenever complaints are lodged with the Union the owners invariably get wind of it and reprisals are taken against the complainants.

12. Serious complaints, they allege, are quickly hushed up by the Union. Because of this lack of faith, most drivers and conductors refuse to pay their subscriptions of about 75c a month. They also refuse to pay for their uniforms as they cannot afford it.

13. Drivers are constantly reprimanded when business is bad, and if they do not do something about it they are fired.

14. Drivers have to pay the fines when they are caught for overloading.

The drivers and conductors say that they "have reached the end of their patience and by standing united they are going to show their power."

Bus Wage Rise Rejected

FOLLOWING the rejection of the meagre wage increase by the Wage Board for bus drivers and conductors, the Wage Board has agreed to consider a revised memorandum submitted, Mr. P. M. Harry, secretary of the Bus Employees Union told "The Leader" this week.

Mr. Harry said that as soon as the Union received the final news, a meeting of members will be called when the new wage increases, etc. will be announced.

Warning to Indian Bus Drivers

DURBAN'S Chief Constable Mr. John Graham has issued a warning to Indian bus drivers that he is taking a serious view of their racing one another. He said that if they do not stop it, he will take action against them.

He also warned drivers of the North Coast road that they have to stop "crawling and picking up passengers in Centenary Road and making unauthorised stops in Alice Street."

He said that he was perturbed to see Alice Street being made another terminus. He said that he had received reports that there are three or four buses at a time standing for more than five minutes in Centenary Road and Alice Street.

Mr. Graham added that if the drivers do not stop doing this, he may be forced to remove all bus stops in Alice Street which would cause passengers considerable inconvenience.

DEATH LEAVES THEM DESTITUTE

FOR Muniama Govender and her nine children life is going to be much harder than it was when her husband was alive. Then they had some money to buy food and pay the rent. But last week, Mr. Chinnapen Govender (Pepsi) (51), was found dead in a bush. And now they only have two pounds a week to live on — the wages that the [illegible] of the family — the eldest son.

Chinnapen Govender left home on Sunday morning at about six to go to work. He did not come home that night and the family were worried. They reported the matter to the police station, and later a neighbour found Mr. Chinnapen lying in the bush.

He informed the family and when Mr. Chinnapen's son went to his father, he found him dead. Foul play is not suspected and the police [illegible] investigation.

Muniama Govender said: "Why should God take him away from me when there is nobody to help me in the world."

She does not receive any relief grant.

A FAMILY of 12 is virtually starving in Isipingo after the sole supporter, Dojiall Ramchunder (21) was killed by lightning recently.

Dojiall was a packer at a firm in Jacobs and earned about R[illegible] a week, and on this the family managed to live.

The father, Mr. Ramchunder, has been unemployed for five years. He used to work in Durban, but he was sick and when he returned to work his job was gone.

He applied for a grant to the Child Welfare Society and received groceries from there for a time.

At present his eldest son is doing a casual job at the place where Dojiall used to work, and the family is living at the moment on this money. If he proves himself he may get a permanent job.

Before Dojiall began supporting the family his aged mother did so by selling potatoes at the market, but she is old and sick.

Father and son die within an hour

"WHERE is my son, Prem. I want to kiss him before I die," said a dying father, who had been stricken down with a heart attack.

Prem was out and his father never saw him but only an hour later the son was to die in a motor accident on the way home.

The father, Mr. J. Budree (45), a bricklayer, of Mayville, was washing under the tap when he had a heart attack. Prem died when his car hit a lamp standard.

Father and son were buried the same day, next to each other. A large crowd of friends and relatives were at the funeral.

Grief stricken Mrs. Budree who lost a husband and son in one day, told "The Leader" that Mr. Budree was rarely sick.

"He used to walk to his work and back every day, covering about eight miles altogether. How he got a heart attack, I don't know," his wife said.

Prem was an apprentice bricklayer under him. He was to be married next year to his schoolday sweetheart. He was a handsome young man, who was showing great promise as a footballer.

Society plan family of man exhibition based on Natal Indians

THE annual general meeting of the Durban International Photographic Society on Thursday marked a milestone in the history of the society. For the first time in the society's history Certificates were awarded to three members who successfully passed their examination in the society's course lasting over a period of six months. In addition the society's "Recognition Trophy" was awarded for the first time to Mr. J. Nathadhra for all-round proficiency and the "Best print of the year Trophy" was awarded to Mr. R. A. Moodley.

Mr. E. H. Ismail, the president of the Society has outlined proposals for the future of advancing photographic art in Durban.

He said that the Society hoped to hold an exhibition on the life of the Indian Farmers in Mini Ex. depicting the life and times of the Indian people of Natal.

Mr. Hasam Lakhi who awarded certificates and trophies to the successful candidates praised the society for cultural work which the society was doing for the benefit of outsiders in the field of photography as amateur photographers.

He reported the fact that the society had to cancel its lectures for the last year on account of the lack of coverage by those in a position to do so.

A new course of lectures for the Beginner's Classes will commence on Tuesday, October 17th, 1961 at 3.30 p. m. at the Society's rooms, 358 Pine Street, Durban. The lectures are spread over a period of 26 weeks.

The scope of the lectures include some knowledge of the working and handling of the camera, developing the negative, enlarging, composition, mounting and preparing prints for exhibition, and so on.

The following officials were elected:- President, E. H. Ismail, Vice-Presidents, Alin Mia Jhetam and Dr. G. H. Vanda, Secretary, Miss Olive Peel, Treasurer, S. Father and Chairman, C. I. Amra.

DETERMINED THIEF WILL GET SHOCK

MR. S. SINGH of Sydenham is hoping that one day he will catch the thief who continually raiders him.

He told "The Leader" that for the past few weeks a thief has been making attempts to break into his house, and every time he comes out of bed to catch him, he runs away.

Besides stealing a few items, the thief has not stolen anything else.

He tries to break into the house at the early hours of the morning. Last week he made two attempts to get into the house but ran away when, on both occasions, after shining a torch into a room which awakened Mr. Singh's son who screamed and alarmed.

Mr. Singh said that he feels the thief is determined to break into his house. "But next time I will be ready for him," he said.

TIMES ARE TOUGH FOR CALL-GIRLS IN JO'BURG

JOHANNESBURG non-White call girls are up in arms over a new wave of arrests in their city. They blame country girls and visitors from outside Johannesburg for lack of "custom and blame on the plying of their trade.

The name what they call "law-abiding" for being "loose on the job" if it was these girls, they would had revealed their places of work and places of abode to the police.

One girl told me: "I have been working here for many years, so I always pray a lot in case I ever had the misfortune of being arrested."

She said she had another job in the trade before recently and she was a small farm in the country.

Girls whose expenses are seldom lasts to "Town boy's Black and Coloured more settlement in the location of what she regards as small-time country girls.

Girls in the trade "Town boys of their kind" if they had the sole business.

Much talk among the girls of a celebrated alliance of "women" girls. The complaint that the scheme is depriving sustenight is "but the arrests and prosecutions not stamped out the trade. On the contrary, it is growing. Unemployment is increasing and more African girls are becoming and more sophisticated in morals as Africans. They are going the same way as we are with us, we are ruined.

We also know that many of the girls with European lovers have affairs with Africans. One of their White friends, a girl in Hillbrow has a beautiful room turned into a luxurious penthouse complete with Indian furniture. Her room is off bounds to all Africans. Those are the instructions from the White friend who bought it for them.

Amazing coincidence of stolen best suit

A MAN whose best suit was stolen in Durban 11 years ago was amazed to see it worn by someone 'miles' away.

Mr. G. Cloete of Maraisburg in "The Leader" last week he saw the man wearing the suit. He was sure it was stolen. It was 11 years to him from the time it was stolen and while wearing it in the city of Durban.

"I went up to the man and offered to buy the suit from him. He was worried and said he was a poor man and could not afford to buy a new suit. I said I would give him the money to buy a new suit. I would give him the money. He then told me the suit had been left with me and wanted to know what a grader of tailor for the suit and the manufacturer. He said he had no idea the owner."

Robot Wanted near Hotel

FOLLOWING the recent accidents near the Moon Hotel, Mr. Wilfred Gammidge, manager of the hotel, has made application to the Road Transport Board for the erect of traffic regulations.

Mr. Gammidge said that he thought that a pedestrian crossing or a robot would be ideal.

TALK OF THE BAZAAR

by The Fakir

INDIAN fellow-occupants played a tape-recording of Divine Life Kirtans last night bringing to my mind what had been an engrossed routine of an article about Africa in the "Spectator".

And particularly in, unbidden thoughts of V.S. or Brother Sri-vasan or Swami Sahajananda or just plain Swamiji, tele four names by which this former Maritzburg boy now a confirmed ascetic and in his own right spiritual leader of tens of thousands in South Africa, is known.

And known in spite of himself, for as all my experience as a newspaperman of eleven years, he is the only news-worthy person who deliberately and genuinely shuns the limelight. It is only because 4,000 miles separate us that I dare to talk about this man, whom I think of as perhaps the greatest individual South Africa has produced.

NOT A DISCIPLE

OH, no. This is not the ideising of a man on a religious pedestal for I often think that Brother Swamiji is quite crazy in many ways (Like Father Satchell was, but a true sort of crazy.) Practical people often do not often go for all the religious mumbo-jumbo for they detache all of the secrets For myself I've found it more useful to structure for people to spend their time and energy and their money in helping these less fortunate than themselves than in squatting for hours on end chanting bhajans.

But why don't have to agree with a man to admire him, and in any event an objective evaluation does convince one that there is, after all, creative and constructive purpose in all these "mumbo-jumbo".

I'm certain that V. S. Naidoo (for that is Swami Sahajananda's legal name) could not have dreamed what a transformation he was in being into the life of Indians when, some fifteen or so years ago, he decided to dedicate himself wholly to religious pursuits and started the first branch of the Divine Life Society in Durban, then published the first issue of his magazine, of "Path to Total Realisation".

COMPLETELY SELFLESS

HE was a teacher then, and I well remember offering to obtain financial assistance for his work. "Thank you," was his reply, "but there is no need yet. I get my salary every month and, so far, that meets my expenses."

Dismissed as nonsense is not a true indication of unselfishness, you may say. Quite true. But, I know, he was later dismissed on a Friday and was to be seen selling his soul music philosophies and mantras that Friday in many places in Durban.

MASSIVE ORGANISATION

THE Divine Life Society now covers at least three acres of ground in Durban and, I believe, is the largest organisation of its kind in South Africa. Its ashram, temple, dispensary, library, publishing house, etc., are somehow extolled Divine Life in and around them and, as I said, it is a fitting tribute to Swamiji, a man in a foreign country for unknown to the outside world.

THREE SISTERS TO GIVE SHOW

MRS. M. A. Naidoo and her three daughters arrived in the Kampala on Saturday.

Two of her daughters, Moses Gunsmith (Tamil and Parimavathi (Prema), have qualified in Bharatha Natyam Dancing.

The three sisters will make their first public appearance at a show presented by the Andhra Maha Sabha of S.A. on November 29 at the Durban City Hall.

Found stolen car parked outside his house

Some joker had a hearty laugh at Mr. R. Ramperasadh's expense last week. They stole his car from outside a bioscope while he was inside and parked it outside his home in Maxwelle.

Mr. Ramperasadh said that he parked his 1958 Zephyr at a safe spot near the cinema.

When he came out his car was gone. He looked everywhere but could not find it. He then reported the theft to the police.

He went home to his and to his amazement he found the car parked outside his house.

Mr. Ramperasadh believes that he was the victim of some practical joker and was lucky to get it.

Are there any "hidden" jobs

The Indian Advisory Council (Durban) on Indian "hidden" jobs is an implement for Indians, said its chairman, Mr. M. Pillay, at the Council's 13th annual meeting last week.

Mr. Pillay added that while he had been accused of concentrating on "pressures", it does seem absurd employment could not be found for Indians as bus drivers and conductors and postmen.

GROUP AREAS

The Indian Council was strenuously opposed to the Group Areas Act, but rather than having a representative on the Group Areas Boundary Committee, they had found another direct means of showing their opposition.

The amendment to the Act has made argument resistance more difficult. The Board can now pick off its victims one by one to suit its convenience, and at short notice—three months for residential sites and 12 months for businesses.

This means that affected people know in shortly uncertainty, not knowing when their turn will come.

Officials re-elected were: Chairman, Mr. M. Dwarz; Senior Vice-Chairman, Mr. A. E. Meerkani; Secretary, Mr. K. K. Maharaj; Treasurer, Mr. S. Bridgfall.

ACCIDENT — AND FATHER FINDS HIS SON IS THE VICTIM

NO more will little Cheesy's sweet voice and happy pranks amuse the neighbours, as last week he was run down by a bus and killed.

MOHAMED IQBAL

Three year old Cheesy whose real name was Mohamed Iqbal was the darling of the neighbourhood in Curlow Road, Mayville. Everybody loved him and he loved everybody. He died only 30 days after his grandmother who adored him.

Cheesy's father, Mr. Shaikh Ahmed told "The Leader" that he had gone to arrange a burial ground for a neighbour's child who was still-born.

Returning home he saw a huge crowd of people and when he pushed his way through, he saw Cheesy dead on the ground.

"He was my favourite child," his father said. "He was clever and he refused to learn Urdu. He could only speak English and I will miss him because I had high hopes for him.

"He was such a happy child — the home seems empty without him."

JUNIOR LEADER

I GOT to thinking the other day that most jobbers today have lost the spirit of adventure and enquiry. The games they play and the manner they spend their leisure hours are childhood's game without any thrills. Gone are the days when little boys used to wade knee-deep in rivers with orange-pocket nets to net river fishes like some fabulous men of the sea. Gone are the days when boys used to make kites that could fly the highest. Hiking, picnicking, camping, climbing cliffs are all dead pastimes.

The Beat Generation has taken so much fun away.

EARTH'S ATMOSPHERE

That the estimated weight of the earth's atmosphere is 50,295,000,000,000,000 million tons. It consists of nitrogen, oxygen, argon, water vapour, carbon dioxide, hydrogen, neon, krypton, helium, ozone and xenon. In addition, there are varying quantities of impurities such as sulphur compounds, ammonia, nitrous and nitric acids, particles of soil from the evaporation of sea spray, particles of soot, fine dust and pollen of many varieties.

CHEVIOTS ORIGIN

That the origin of both the Greyhound and Afghan dog is lost in antiquity. A tomb in Egypt dating between 3,000 and 4,00 B.C. shows carvings of dogs of the Greyhound type. The Afghan was developed in Afghanistan but was known in Egypt for hunting in deserts and were probably closely related 2,000 years ago.

DA VINCI — ARTIST AND THINKER

Leonardo Da Vinci was born 500 years ago (April, 1452) at Vinci in Tuscany. Although he is best known for his painting of course, his ideas were far ahead of his times. Although he is the most versatile genius the world has ever known, he was also a great engineer, a great thinker and a great artist.

Even the structure of his eyes was abnormal. He could see and record things not otherwise recorded until the coming of slow-motion photography.

STILL ECHOES

Here are some of the ways his wisdom of five centuries ago are still echoing in our modern world.

The helicopter isn't exactly new. Leonardo designed the aerial screw that is often called the forerunner of the modern propeller. His idea of the motive power for this was a spring mechanism much like clockwork.

Other "inventions" of his were:

- A machine gun which had 33 guns in each of three tiers. One tier was fired while a second was being loaded and the third one was cooling off.
- An Odometer that measured distance travelled by a wheel by means of dials.
- A flying machine consisting of a wooden board and two flapping wings.
- A car designed to be driven by springs.

MONA LISA

As a painter he was greatly responsible for the changes that came over Italian painting at the turn of the fifteenth-sixteenth centuries. He was first master of the High Renaissance style. One great work of art always associated with his name is the small painting called the "Mona Lisa" which hangs in the Louvre Museum in Paris.

Every Frenchman and all people travels to Paris just to gaze on this famous painting. All day and every day you can see people from every country in the world looking wonder upon the painting of the woman with the mysterious smile. Every year, you will see students and great artists alike well, they sacle set up before the Mona Lisa, trying to copy it.

But no one yet has quite succeeded in reproducing the famous smile because it is done so brilliantly that no one has even been able to analyse how Leonardo achieved the effects that have delighted and baffled the world for five hundred years.

And we thus be no means large examples of a simple woman but become the universal Da Vinci the world remembers Leonardo Da Vinci, painter and scientist.

O. I. CHRISTOPHER

DEATH OF MR. CHRISTOPHER IS A GREAT LOSS

WITH the death of Mr. Oswald James Christopher on September 27, 1961, Newcastle has lost one of its foremost residents.

His death removes a colourful and versatile personality, who was surrounded by friends, and was both a friend in need and a friend in deed.

The late Mr. Christopher received his education at Fort Hare, and joined a firm of solicitors as clerk, he relinquished this position and established himself in commerce.

He lived in Newcastle for more than 40 years and had made numerous and permanent contributions to the various activities in this area.

He held many important positions in the community, and represented the local Indians on various matters affecting their interests at both municipal and provincial levels.

As a sports administrator he was held in very high esteem and served numerous organisations with distinction in various official capacities.

In the field of education he showed very great concern and interest. His drive and initiative brought about the establishment of a Government school in this area, and his untiring efforts saw the establishment of secondary classes at Newcastle.

SPONSORED SCHOOL

Before his death he was instrumental in rallying support for the erection of the S. F. Vanda Government-aided Indian Junior School. This school is nearing completion and it is a tragic misfortune that he was unable to witness its occupation.

Mr. Christopher held many very important positions, including Executive member of the S.A. Indian Congress; first Northern Natal man to be president of the Natal Indian Football Association; H.L.V.P. of Natal Indian Football Association; Chairman N.I.F.A. Appeal and Misconduct Board; Natal Delegate to S.A.F. Board of Control; Chairman Committee at the time of his death, among which were: President of Newcastle Parents' Association; Newcastle Centenary Committee; Bursary Committee; Indian Ratepayers' Association; and Trustee of Newcastle Tamil Association.

Friends from all parts of the Province were present at his funeral and represented all sections of the community.

Moving tributes were paid to his memory by the Mayor of Newcastle, Mr. Luttrell West, Dr. M. B. Vawda, and Mr. C. V. Ramiah.

He leaves behind a wife, two sons and other relatives.

Malicious gossip is scotched

Malicious gossip that emanated from his home town and threatened to ruin a wealthy Pietermaritzburg businessman, was scotched on his return from Indian at the weekend.

He is Mr. M. H. Moosa, son of his wife spent seven months holidaying in India and the Middle East. The couple spent the holy month of Ramadaan visiting shrines in Mecca.

One of Mr. Moosa's sons, Mr. E. H. Moosa, said "The Leader" that his father had retired some years ago and left his business empire to his four sons.

While his parents were holidaying in India, some Mr. Moosa malicious gossip began circulating in Pietermaritzburg that his father had been arrested on charges of smuggling and that he had died in prison.

Cables from relatives in India indicated that Mr. Moosa was alive and well. And on his return to the S.S. Kampala last September, his passport was found to be in order.

Candid Commentary . . . by Politicus

Strange things were happening on dark chamber opening night

NOW that the Tagore play has had a successful opening, one is free to criticise the way the whole thing was organised.

The public was anxious to see a good sort of way, that the opening night was not available, as the ticket sale because the house seems to have been booked by some clique or other.

There was a bit of a scene at the booking office, and one very concerned - looking gentleman seriously produced 40 tickets, and the magic from nobody knows where to placate the angry would-be patrons.

But when the queue was about half down, they were told that all the seats were placed at two and seven bob! There were no prices advertised — from 75 cents to a rand, 50 cents.

THREE DAYS LATER, the advertisement appeared that the opening night was "sold out" for the Gandhi Memorial Fund. This was another surprise, because there is such a fund. A friend had heard of it in Durban.

The news was soon out in the usual way had passed the rounds, rather indiscreetly. Tickets were available at a price the Congress at some booking offices would be glad to get in touch with.

THIS WAS CONFIRMED WHEN IT WAS SEEN THAT CERTAIN CONGRESS OFFICIALS WERE GOING PLACES, OFFERING THE TICKETS AT R10.00 PER HEAD! FOR THE GANDHI MEMORIAL FUND, OF COURSE. A FUND OF WHICH WE HAVE YET TO HEAR.

Putting two and two together, it was by now obvious that the Congresswallahs had their finger in the pie. No one could deny the right of the professional theatre company to organise their show as they wished.

But the conclusion is inescapable that the Congress was climbing on at the Tagore Centenary Celebration sentiment, to raise some much-needed funds for its very own Congress properties Trust, which it was rumoured was about to be converted to the Gandhi Memorial Fund.

The net result was that many persons who were determined to get to the opening night, decided not to go anywhere near the Orient Hall.

As a non-together organised at a Congress "Dog shows" place, to meet the visiting producer and artists, it was strange to see the Congresswallahs fraternising with leading lights from the rival NOD, who, of course, could afford the grand tickets.

A significant thing about the get-together was that hardly any Africans were about. This appeared to be no fault of Union Artists who, in that play, had Africans in the cast.

Now that it is over, perhaps the trustees of the so-called Gandhi Memorial Fund will inform the public about how much money they collected for their worthy cause, and in what ways it is going to be spent.

Footnote: In case the writer of this Column is misunderstood, let it be known that he did attend the opening night, having collared two tickets at two-and 50 cents at the booking office. He could afford them, but a friend who came to buy six tickets at 75 cents could not, and had to return disappointed and angry.

Wear White Button for Racial Harmony

A FELLOWSHIP of Reconciliation to help promote good relationship between the races in South Africa has been formed. It is headed by the Rev. A. W. Blaxall.

In a Press statement the Rev. Blaxall has asked all those concerned about the dangerous state of race relations in South Africa to wear a piece of white cloth, pot button, button and sew it on their coat, to show so that those who wear the white button will recognise such people as pledged to have no association or dangerous weapons of any kind, and not to resort to violence at any time".

The white button would also be a cope to "make friends as much as possible, and greet with kindness anybody who wears the white button".

The statement said that "such little things could change the whole atmosphere and give a new direction to life in our beautiful and richly-endowed country."

Defiant Indians refuse to move

INDIANS throughout South Africa are taking a more defiant stand against the Group Areas Act. The latest is the move by fifteen Cape Coloured families in Newclare, Johannesburg, and in many areas outside alternative facilities are provided for them, writes our Johannesburg correspondent.

Indians have been living at Newclare for generations and many of them have built houses there at considerable sacrifice and expense.

They were told to get out about five years ago when Newclare was zoned for Coloured occupation. Since then, a number of Indian families have left and gone to Lenasia.

However, a spirit of defiance which has fired Indian people all over the country, has arisen in Newclare where the remaining residents say that they will not move to the "degrading huts" in Lenasia.

They have been told by the Group Areas Board that if they do not move to Lenasia they will lose their rights for occupation there. But the families have replied "that they are not worried about this."

They say that there are no proper communications, lights, or sewerage at Lenasia and "that they would feel lost without these facilities."

Northdale denies sugar-water drinking

Mr K. P. Naidoo, secretary of the Northdale Welfare Society yesterday issued a denial of recent Press reports that infants in the township were being given sugar water drinks instead of milk.

Mr Naidoo said that he was given to understand by the Yogacharya and Ashram of Pietermaritzburg, who were responsible for the misleading Press statements, that they were supplied with the information by someone they were unable to identify.

The Northdale Welfare Society is a registered welfare organisation which is fully conversant with the conditions obtaining in township and the increase in the Society's Relief Account from R12 months to R[illegible] bears testimony to the fact.

The meeting will be asked to elect a new secretary in place of Mr. S. Brodfall who is retiring after 16 years in the city. Brodfall, who lives in the city, feels that a Ratepayer resident should succeed him.

True Friend

THE Indian community lost a great friend when Mr. Ivan Walker, former Secretary for Labour and Controller for Manpower, died recently.

Mr. Walker will be remembered by the Indian community for his arbitration in the great sugar dispute between the sugar millers of Natal and non-European sugar workers, when he gave his decision in favour of the latter, which resulted in the sugar workers being paid thousands of rand in back wages.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Is it true? are soccer sides using black magic to win?

"Awake" is still wide awake

SIR,—In reply to my letter, Mr. Lachmee displays a great deal of "immaturity and inexperience"—the very things he accuses me of having.

Presupposing that he himself is a teacher who "reads with discrimination" it is clear that he dissolves and rejects my statements as "ludicrous and laughable," but in his reply a constructive criticism?

Indeed, his decidedly negative approach in this matter makes one wonder whether or adopts this same attitude when confronted with everyday problems found within the four walls of the classroom."

Needless to say, I do not wish to assign Mr. Lachman to any particular position in that large body of critics from the rare good to the worse tropical variety, and I hope that my learned friend will not get the impression that this is a personal attack, but rather, that it arises out of the hollowness of his statements.

I make bold to state that the high school students lack a spirit of freedom. The entire approach towards their classroom subjects is so completely negative that the individuality of the students is not, of at all, developed.

They are taught in such a manner that they are required to regurgitate all that they are satisfied with. This attitude is encouraged for examinations purposes.

The result is that they leave school with a smattering of knowledge that makes them incredulous to truth and credulous to untruth and to mention their indifference, as a result of their schooling, to the glaring abuses in our society.

This inability to think is carried into the so-called open university, where there is, to some small degree, some independent student activity.

But as intelligent thought and actions are not encouraged, one wonders, again, how the students enthusiasm is "guided and stimulated".

"AWAKE"

RUDD, TIYO IN JAIL

JOHANNESBURG, Sunday. — Bevil John Rudd, the Old Etonian and former Coldstream Guards officer, and the non-European actress, Dottie Tiyo, yesterday surrendered themselves at the Magistrate's Court to serve their six month sentences for contravening the Immorality Act, Mr. David Schneider, Rudd's attorney announced.—Sapa.

CROWD HECKLE KENYATTA

NAIROBI, Sunday. — Police intervened at a meeting held by Mr. Jomo Kenyatta today at Nakuru, 100 miles from Nairobi, after he had been fiercely heckled by supporters of the Kenya African Democratic Union (Kadu).

This was the first time the African Nationalist leader had been heckled since his release from restriction.—Sapa-Reuter.

NEW ROCKET

LONDON, Sunday. — Russia yesterday launched what was described as a "new type of rocket" into the Pacific, Moscow Radio reported. The Radio gave no details.—Sapa-Associated Press.

Sir,—With reference to a letter which appeared in your column in the issue of September 29, relative to the using of pig's fat by a supporter of Spade City Lads, I wish to confirm that witchcraft was again evident last Sunday, October 1, when the same team played against Suppi F.C. of Tongaat in a Southern Natal semi-final fixture for the Gandhi Memorial Cup.

A few of us noticed pig's fat on the goal post towards the Sea-view end of the Mayville ground.

PIG'S FAT.

WHAT HAVE EVE GOT TO DO WITH OLD CUSTOMS?

Sir, Pandit Sadanand Mahatan is supposed to be opposed to Christian section said marriage customs among Hindus. He refers to the Garden of Eden, of Eve's culture, then to Satan, and Eve as the chief agent of Satan. I fail to see what this argument alludes to.

Do we, as Christians, allow our ... to do with Eve's culture?

On silence in church, St. Paul gives direction to women when entering the sacred precincts of the church, to cover their heads and observe silence. This is an injunction that the church has rigidly observed.

This, however, has nothing to do with the question of inferiority. God created male and female; the female sex is the weaker sex—but not inferior.

The women of India throughout the ages were the symbol of respect and love, and their place was the home.

But in this modern generation we see women folk in industry, schools, hospitals and so on.

Why do we have to discriminate?

Who is our Guru?

Sir, — I would like to support your reader signed "Puzzled" in the September 29 issue. For any man to stand on a platform and claim that all present acknowledge his Gurm as their Guru ("Our Guru" he says) is a presumption.

From the Christian point of view there is only one Guru. From the Buddhist's point of view his Guru is Buddha. For the Muslim there is one God and He is Allah.

Boycotts are on again

The old anti-Indian bogey of boycotting Indian shops is being stimulated by some extreme Afrikaner die-hards in the Northern Transvaal areas.

Last week the Mayor of Ermelo called on the White people in that town to support White shopkeepers only.

The Transvaal Indian Congress issued a statement against this and described his remarks as "deplorable". The Congress also expressed concern about the boycott campaign against Indian traders in areas such as Piet Retief.

THE LEADER EDITORIAL

THE VOTE COUNTS!

DR. ALBERT HERTZOG was his usual provocative self at a Nationalist Party meeting at Greytown last week. "The uncivilised Black man cannot be given the franchise (vote) and he does not want it," he said. "The idea is so him strange and he is not interested in it."

No one has yet produced a convincing argument in support of denying the Black man the vote. Dr. Hertzog too, has not found one. All he can say is that the "uncivilised" Black man does not want it.

That may be with the uncivilised. But what of the civilised Black men? The vote is not strange to them, and they are very much interested in it. They know that it is the vote that counts. In the ultimate analysis, everything from a decent home to a decent job, decent schools and security in old age, depend on the power and influence of the electorate.

At least, that is so in all civilised countries except the countries of the Iron Curtain where the vote is manipulated to suit the ends of one dictatorial clique entrenched for ever.

The Black man is convinced that the only way to put an end to White domination and dictatorship is the extension of the franchise. Then, and only then, will this country be a real democracy.

Play prices sky-high complaint

Sir,—I hope the much-boosted show "The King of the Dark Chamber" proves to be a hit with citizens of all races.

I expected the prices to be HIGH, but not sky-high.

Booking has opened at "Greenacres" and prices are from 75c to R3.50—the 75c tickets being the last three rows (from the back) downstairs.

Upstairs the prices are R1, R1.50, R2 and R2.50. I studied the booking plans. I hope the high prices will be reduced a bit for the non-Europeans and "special" 25c (and R1) shows should be held for schoolchildren during the morning or afternoon.

The man in the street can ill afford these prices and take his family out. (For the night it may cost him a week's wages.)

Is Krishna Shah a world-famous director? Who said so? So one did not hear of him till he came here. And are our local artists receiving adequate remuneration for the grueling work? What's the average rate. The public should know.

CAPACITY HOUSES

WHY DOES THE TECH DO IT?

Sir, — I agree with Politicus's remarks re the hiring of the magnificent and best non-European hall in Southern Africa, the Tech Hall, excluding Africans.

Why do we have to discriminate?

The M. L. Sultan Tech Council, including the late Mr. Sultan's own, must get a free ruling about the hall, so that people of ALL RACES can get there on the same footing as those the better.

STOPS PAIN ... ENDS NERVOUS TENSION

TWO PAGES OF ...

A powerful action drama

A FIVE-STAR cast—Rock Hudson, Kirk Douglas, Dorothy Malone, Joseph Cotten and Carol Lynley—are teamed in "The Last Sunset", a powerful action drama of conflict and passion, which opens shortly at the Rialto.

In "The Last Sunset," romance is frank and explosive, while its wild unruly action is multiplied by the fury of storms, cattle stampedes and treachery. The wierd twist at the end is also startling.

No more perfect screen rivalry can top the virile painting of Rock Hudson, a relentless man seeking revenge, and Kirk Douglas, a human stick of dynamite ready to explode at any moment.

Dorothy Malone, as the palatial prize for which the two men struggle, gives eye-filling stature to her portrayal of a woman strong in everything, but affairs of the heart.

Joseph Cotten literally shocks those who know him as a romantic screen hero, with his deft characterisation of a whole-some cowardly failure.

Teenager Carol Lynley is delightful in a role which has been described as "Lolita with lactate." Neville Brand proves his bad brand of villainy into a shostly evil.

Age lays glamour boys low

HONOURABLY discharged from the battle of sexes, Maurice Chevalier, at 73, and Charles Boyer, at considerably less than that, are content in their new-look armchair roles as a couple of waterfront characters in Warner Bros. "Fanny".

Proudly wearing their battlefield scars, the retired Romeos still sport ribbons of valour won during their respective engagements with the ladies of the cinema and the ladies in the audience. Their happy faces bring with them a warm and provide reassuring evidence that life can be beautiful in retirement. After all, they say, it's nice to lay down your arms, wave the white flag of surrender and enjoy the serenity of truce.

In "Fanny", they are satisfied to mail on the sidelines while Leslie Caron and Horst Buchholz perform the romantic duties with the same fervour that Maurice or Charles showed, say, two or three decades ago.

SHE HATES HIGH-HEEL SHOES

WHEN the House of Christian Dior Paris created Ingrid Bergman's R100,000 wardrobe for United Artists "Goodbye Again", it was more a case of the shoe, not the show must go on. For although the Bergman foot is an acceptable size the world's most high heeled shoes.

Top designer Yves St. Laurent solved the problem by specially making a matchless shoe wardrobe, ranging from low-heeled luggage leather walking shoes for medium-heeled opera pumps to match her pearl silk evening dress.

Miss Bergman's aversion to high heels is not affectation, but rather a sensitivity about her height. "High heels are not suitable for me", she wisely admits. "I am too big (she is almost 5ft. 9 ins. in stockings) and there is not point in a tall girl trying to look taller even around a big man."

But Miss Bergman certainly could have worn high heels in "Goodbye Again" for her leading men Yves Montand and Anthony Perkins measure 6ft. 1ins. and 6ft. 2ins. respectively.

SIR FRANCIS IS TOPS

"FRANCIS" NOMINATED FOR TOP AWARD

THE International Catholic Office of Film in Brussels has nominated "Francis of Assisi" as a candidate for its Grand Prix of 1961.

Ten films—seven American, one British, one German, and one Brazilian—have been nominated.

It will be recalled that recently Johannesburg and eight other cities in far-flung parts of the world shared the world premiere of the film Cecil B. DeMille's "Francis of Assisi", which stars Bradford Dillman, Dolores Hart and Stuart Whitman.

NEW TRICK TECHNIQUE IN 'KONGA'

When Anglo-Amalgamated's mighty new picture, "Konga" is released to the public it will be a revolution as well as a revelation, for "Konga", as well as being one of the most exciting and entertaining pictures, also presents a new technique that will revolutionise the art of picture making.

The new process is called "Special-Motion" and is a entirely new form of trick photography, performed by "tricks" inside the camera. In "Konga" the new technique makes a gorilla grow into a gigantic monster over 100 feet tall!

It was invented by Herman Cohen, who spent months of research and experiments with the worlds leading technicians—experts in the art of trick photography. The result of their months of hard work, "Konga", is truly nerve-shattering screen experience.

Starring Michael Gough, Margo Johns, Jess Conrad and Claz Gordon, the executive producer of "Konga" is Herman Cohen.

INDIA TO HOLD FILM FESTIVAL

AN International Film Festival will be held in India during October and November at New Delhi, Calcutta, Madras and Bombay.

While the exhibition will be held at Delhi from October 27 to November 2, the dates for Calcutta is November 3-9, Madras is November 9-15, Bombay is November 19-15.

The Festival has been recognised by the International Federation of Film Producers' Association, Zurich.

Among the 36 countries which have agreed to participate in the exhibition are: U.K., U.S.S.R., U.S.A., Japan, Federal and Democratic Republics of Germany, Yugoslavia, France, Sweden and Malaya.

WOMEN BAIT

BRITAIN'S glamorous Diane Dors is the victim of a vicious murderer in "Man Bait", Lippert Pictures release which comes to the Scala next weekend.

Miss Dors plays a Soho strip-tease dancer who uses her seductive charms in an effort to blackmail her employer and — unknown to the play backfires.

George Rigg and M... Chapman are co-stars.

Authentic film of war at sea

VICTORY at Sea", which comes next week at the Scala, is the exciting and dramatic story of World War II on the sea, over the sea and under the sea. It is the dark days of Pearl Harbour, the final dissolution of the Japanese Empire in the explosion of the atomic bomb over Hiroshima.

KERR AND YUL REUNITED

THE JOURNEY" pairs Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner for the first time since they starred together in "The King and I", in a drama set in 1956 Hungarian revolt.

Filmed entirely on location in the Hungarian provinces, the story centres on a group of persons involved in a desperate quest, their lives, loves, hopes and problems intertwined against a background of national crisis. Escape from the strife seems impossible.

It is also the story of a group of neutrals, a lovely British woman and her relationship with a cynical and unpredictable Russian, who finds that love is his bane.

Robert Stack and Jason Robards shall play supporting roles in the film which plays at the Rialto next weekend.

NOTHING FALSE ABOUT THIS SCENE

WATER traffic came to a standstill as a rusty freighter limped slowly into busy Haifa harbour. Cameras turned, for Otto Preminger was directing a scene for "Exodus" his music powerful production which will be seen soon.

It was exactly on ships like this that Jews in the Forties tried to run the British blockade of Palestine. Several of the Israeli extras aboard the ship had arrived in the country from Europe, had been caught by the British and had been sent back to the detention camps of Cyprus, landing at the same harbour where the film was being made. The crowded deck, the unshaven, ragged showers and latrines, dirt and confusion, brought memories of other days. Many of the Cyprus exiles already smuggled into the country, had actually been on such a ship, and the atmosphere was almost unnerving.

The water brawny of the Hamburg lashed a seam in "Time Bomb" when stars Curt Jurgens and Mylene Demongeot. The film deals with a race to destroy a freighter in the Hamburg docks ruse in order to collect R5 million in insurance.

THE CHILDREN SUFFER

"LOOK in Ann Window" marks the motion picture debut of the teen-age singing favourite Paul Anka in a dramatic role in the picture which will be seen soon. It portrays a boy whose actions, following his parents' estrangement, become highly emotionally disturbed.

CRACKS IN HER BACK

ALL FOR THE SAKE OF ART: LOVELY French-born Eurasian L. actress France Nuyen recently suffered cramp and a stiff back following a scene for Leo McCarey's production of "The Devil Never Sleeps."

The scene called for France, in her character role of Sui-Lan, to lie flat on her back on a genuine Chinese wooden bed after the birth of her baby was Cradling her bronzed baby in her arms, France stood in her prone position for over five rehearsals and four "takes", which her contracts acted out their lines of dialogue.

By the time the director called "Cut", France was completely numb from cramp and back-ache. "The Devil Never Sleeps" is a 20th Century-Fox release and also stars William Holden and Clifton Webb.

DANNY KAYE IS FUNNY AGAIN

DANNY KAYE returns to his original form and acting for him in his new film "On the Double", which will be seen soon Co-starring with Kaye are Dana Wynter, Wilfred Hyde White, Margaret Rutherford and Diana Dors.

In the Paramount release set in London and Berlin during World War II, Kaye portrays two roles. He is a soldier with a weak stomach and weak nerves, and a cold-blooded British General, whom Kaye wants to assassinate. The soldier, who resembles the general, is passed into impersonating him, thus becoming the target of the "Operation Dead Pigeon" as British intelligence calls the efforts to the assassination.

During the course of Kaye's flight from the Nazis, he meets not only the fetching Miss Wynter and other people including Miss Dors, but a way-night club singer a la Marlene Dietrich. He sings, dances, acts and clowns in the hilarious way which first won him fame and acclaim.

TIMMY ROONEY, 13, son of Mickey Rooney, makes his motion picture debut with his famous father in Allied Artists "King of the Roaring 20's" the story of the gambler Arnold Rothstein.

Father and son share the role of Rothstein's little tinnom pal, Johnny Burke. Timmy, playing tomboy as a boy, Mickey playing him as a grown up. David Janssen has the role of Rothstein.

Getting killer to the gallows is rancher's desperate job

NEVERMORE, who stood in the West of the bad men and the law, ranchers packed an super gun, most of them were peaceful people, but knew how to unlimber their weapons against even lawless strangers, who endangered their lives and the lives of their families. Such a rancher was Ward Bond, who in "Fort Yuma" as the story of such an outlaw and of such a rancher.

Starring Fabian Fond, Dan Heffin and Fabian Fare, "Fort Yuma" is an outdoor suspense adventure rated by Hollywood as a big one in the dramas. It will be screened at the Shah Jehan.

Set in the Arizona Territory of the 1890's, it offers a complete change of pace from entertainment fare for Fond, no stranger to the Westerns and dramatic action.

Captured after a long hold-up, and killing, he is shunted from place to place, while his handed crew try to rescue him before he can be put on the 3.10 for Yuma out of their reach.

As a drought-hit rancher who reluctantly saddles himself with the desperate job of getting Fond onto the gallows-bound train without himself getting killed, Van Heffin plays the peace-loving citizen who is slow to anger and mighty in his wrath.

Gambler with a passion for billiards

BILLIARD balls, rolling silently and clicking softly on green felt under bright arc lights, present difficult props for Robert Rossen, producer-director of 20th Century-Fox's "The Hustler."

The picture, which has cost hundred shooting on location in New York, was filming at a pool hards room in Manhattan, where a talented crew were watching stars Paul Newman and Jackie Gleason engage in an exciting number from "The Hustler" in a dramatic story of a lonely girl's desperate love for a gambler whose passion for the game and for success drives him of all other emotions. Piper Laurie plays the lead in this universal picture.

For this particular scene, the huge camera eye glared down on the [illegible] where the multi-coloured balls gleamed like jewels. For Rossen, the staging of the contest between Newman and Gleason was made doubly difficult because — although all was well with the actors and their lives — he then had to deal with the intangibles of a tennis game.

Despite the presence of Willie Mosconi, world champion of pool, who was and technical adviser on the picture, the balls sometimes refused to do what times had to be repeated over and over again because the balls scattered on the wrong direction or failed to slip into the right pocket.

Crowning additional difficulties was the fact that Newman, a competitive newcomer to the game, had to do many of his own shots. Gleason, who plays a veteran pool shark, and Jackie Hardtner, who first film was many years ago, could bring additional lessons in his credit and, as a result, experienced no difficulty in the time he still manages to make the balls.

Threats of expulsion bring change of heart

The suspension of the all-White Football Association of Southern Africa by the Supervisor of International Football Associations (F. I. F. A.) in London last week produced direct moves by white sporting organisations to talk terms with non-white sporting associations.

The first to speak out was the South African Amateur Weight-Lifting Association which had always turned a deaf ear to predominantly non-White S. A. Weight-lifting and body-building Federation which sought affiliation.

Mr. Clarence Ochley, chairman of the White association, said that his organisation would consider the affiliation of the non-white association, "if they applied for affiliation".

Mr. Ochley said that in future, selection for overseas weight-lifting contests would be on merit only and not by race.

This is a complete about face by this organisation which had made no effort before to consider the plight of the non-Whites.

In weight-lifting circles there is talk already that Mr. Ochley's Association' overtures have come too late. The non-White Association decided last week at its annual general meeting to apply to the world weightlifting Federation for the expulsion of the white South African association on the grounds of colour bar.

Unemployed win cup

WHEN Sutherlands Tannery, underdogs of the Pietermaritzburg Leatherworkers' Soccer League, attached a point—their first this season from Drakes United on Sunday, they did their unemployed colleagues Lotus United, a good turn.

The loss of that vital point prevented Drakes United from sharing the league honours with Lotus who finished with 11 points from seven games against Drakes' 10 points.

The donor, Mr. M. M. Govender, of Durban and South African darts fame, is expected to present both the league and five-a-side cups to the winners on Sunday.

The final placings in the Pietermaritzburg Leatherworkers' Soccer League were:

Dartsman's gift to soccer

FANCY that now. A luminary in the South African darts firmament has given valuable gifts to soccer.

He is Mr. M. M. Govender, a former president of the Durban and Natal Darts Union, and whose service and gifts to the game are legion.

Mr. Govender's latest gifts are two valuable silver floating trophies, One to the Pietermaritzburg Leatherworkers' Soccer League champions; the other to the winners of the League's three-a-side soccer tournament which is to be held at the Northside Stadium on Sunday, October 15, starting at 9 a.m.

The tournament is open to all leatherworkers' teams including the unemployed. The winners will be given replicas of the trophy and suitable prizes for the runners-up.

He wants to put boxing on map

WHEN Leslie McKenzie, a former non-White South African welter-weight boxing champion, staged his boxing-cum-gymnastics display last night at the Taj Mahal Hotel, he set out on the road to restoring Pietermaritzburg to its place on the boxing map.

At 29 years of age, McKenzie is not hankering after any more title. But, looking around, he feels there is a reservoir of non-White boxing potential in Pietermaritzburg.

These lads need nurturing, he says, but they must be prepared to train seriously if they want to win fame. And fame apart, "a sound in mind in a sound body" is essential, says McKenzie.

He wants to draw back the crowds to professional boxing. If they desert amateur soccer for the paid game, they will surely come to watch professional boxing.

Last night's boxing exhibition was the preliminary to a "Champions of Champions" tournament on December 16, when the best boys from Durban, Pietermaritzburg and the Northern Districts will be pitted against each other at the Lotus Hall.

CRIMSONS CAUSED AN UPSET

CRIMSON LEAGUE caused a major upset by beating Rialto at Curries Fountain last Sunday in a semi-final for D.I.F.A.'s "A" Division K.O. Cup semi-final.

Rialto entered the field as favourites but Crimson attacked earlier. Rialto were at their footballing best but failed to finish. On the other hand, Crimson made the most of every chance they took.

Crimson's lanky centre-forward, Guha, brother of M. M. Fouzia, was in terrific form and beat the Rialto keeper with a fine header to register Crimson's first goal.

In the second half, Rialto, at six, usual best in defence and attack, Crimson's second goal came from a penalty.

ACES CHASE LEAGUE CUP

Swallows beaten by pure science

IF you like swashbuckling, make or break, football, the Aces Swallows clash at Curries Fountain last Sunday cut hardly be called exciting. But if you like football pure and scientific then this match was a treat all the way.

It did seem, however, that at the end of the gruelling match, when the 8,000 crowd gave the triumphant Aces a standing ovation, that the students had fully appreciated the great fight between two of the greatest sets of footballing talent in the country.

Matching more for more the powerful Swallows held off a determined, beautiful Aces forward line with brilliant defence.

"Difference" Mbatya, once again superb in his role as helmsman of the dangerous Swallows forward line. All the copy-book moves were there, but there was a new wall to break through, a wall that was almost impregnable in the front of Aces attacking defence was the rock, Archie Zulu who, unlike the back-boys was tireless and unrelenting. Scream Zulu. Occupying the new built on the right wing, with "Excellent" Memela taking his place on the left, Swallows brought an amazing sparkling performance. It was through his threat and wizardry that Aces got their two goals.

The game had hardly started when the Aces forward line were on the attack. From outside the box, S. Lall took a pot shot at goal. Keeper Neku timed stockstill but fortunately for him the ball sailed inches over the bar.

SWALLOWS TURN

Then it was Swallows turn and they pummelled their opponent's goalmouth. Winger W. Ngobese recovering from Duff plastered in a torrid grounder but Dias was on at it the best of a series of brilliant saves. Neku's anticipation was tops and he has regained his former brilliance.

A cross from Strini Moodley sent Sexy dash down the wing. On winning the steely defence he slipped the ball down to an unmarked Sexy Morgan.

Sexy was in a difficult spot but despite the speed of the move displayed superb control and accuracy to beat "Fish" Neku all ends up with a wave of a goal.

Came the second half and the game was all Aces. Swallow's surdowne can be attributed in some measure too to a strong wind that whipped up from the Saint College end and they were at sea as the well-groomed Aces forwards cracked down on them.

With Neku drawn out of place for a deceptive move on the left flank, Strini Moodley cut the air with a tremendous drive. It seemed a sort. But it hit the bar, which fairly cracked under the tremendous power of the shot.

On winning an Academy Award for his "Spartacus performance, Peter Ustinov, to be seen soon in "Romeo and Juliet" said to Sandra Dee, John Gavin and Akim Tamiroff, said, "You prepare to lose, you wonder how to behave. As arrogantly as possible. All of a sudden you hear your name. You're not sure you've heard right. You laugh a moment. Nothing could be worse than to get up, realising you've made a mistake, and have to walk back again.

S. NATAL GIVE LEAD IN ENDING RACIALISM

IN accordance with the South African Soccer Federation's call for the abolition of all racial soccer within its fold, the Southern Natal Football Association, under the chairmanship of the dynamic Sonboo Rajah, convened a meeting at the Himalaya Hotel last Sunday of all soccer units in the province to discuss the implementation of full integration.

The meeting was well attended with

SONBOO RAJAH

Indian, Coloured and African units fully represented. Mr. Sonboo Rajah was elected chairman and Mr. R. D. Pillay secretary.

Opening the meeting, Mr. Rajah said: "In view of the Federation's decision somebody has to make a move. We hope that at a time when we are internationally frowned that this move will bring about complete unanimity in Southern Natal."

Mr. S. L. Singh, member of the South African Soccer Federation, then addressed the meeting.

He said "Today is an epoch making day. The Whites are not going to hit their explosion bring down. There will be no rifle among us. The Whites have proposed a meeting so that we are realistic.

We must be in a position to refute that, but we must do so honestly. We don't want to hit anybody under the belt, and we don't want to be hit under the belt."

After long and careful deliberation a resolution put forward by Mr. Gordon Leach was accepted. A sub-committee was to be set up to draft a complete constitution to keep in line with the Federation's decisions in Durban.

The sub-committee would consist of one member from each unit.

Mr. Leach who was given the sole responsibility of organising the conference said that the next conference would be held some time in early December. He told "The Leader" after he meeting: "I am quite confident that we will implement a complete integration in Southern Natal before Mar. 31st."

Golden Axe win 3-2

IN the final of the Natal Centrecal League Cup at Sarah Baartman Central and Golden Axe, Cyril Zimbele scored the score for Axes after 35 minutes play.

This second came from a cross by A. Zimbele which Central's keeper, Leslie Gengan pushed out but Lionel Homed Sewpal, in desperation, ran the ball into the net.

On resumption, the crowd forward line got moving and they combined through Alex Kubhan who Zimbele (Pout), only for A. Zimbele to score a third to make Axes comfy winners by 3—2.

I hate to say I told you so but Percy Lewis fully justified my faith in him when he clobbered Gideon Mabena in two minutes forty seconds of the first round at Sydenham last Saturday night, writes Ronnie Governder. Mabena didn't know what hit him as his seconds carried him to his corner after a blistering barrage of punches from Lewis.

From the moment the first gong went it was apparent that this was a different Lewis from the one who dropped a disputed decision to Mabena. Sonny pen Lewis started into his man, picking his punches. Despite the speed and precision of his attack, his defence was impeccable. After blasting Mabena with his left he would perplex Sexton with beautiful boxing and weaving.

Mabena, too, was anxious to make a fight of it and in the process left himself wide open. After landing well to Percy's face he swung forward to avoid a counter-punch from the left. Percy's left came all the way up from the canvas in one tremendous swung and Mabena walked into it, the punch catching him flush on the jaw. It was a devastating punch and Sexton went down as if he was pole-axed. Shaken to the knees he got up at eight and Lewis was after him. The ex-Empire champ finished the fight in superb fashion. Following two rights he stepped back neatly and administered the coup de grace another whopping uppercut. Mabena was out!

After the fight Mabena's camp

claimed for a return, claiming that their champ was caught out by a fake punch. Guy Plumstead, Mabena's manager, said he would make arrangements for a return bout.

BOXING Sensation, Eddie Vee-Van (112lb) once again lost the decision in his evening bout with Michael Ngcobo (108½lb). Vee-Van showed the best and deserve a blistering win, get in some damaging blows especially towards the latter part of the fight. He was more warned for hitting low, although the blows didn't appear to be low blows, the crowd booed the decision.

GOWA BEASTS INSTEAD

COMING in as a last minute substitute for Jerry Molife, Warwick Tweetie (131lb) was no match for "Homicide" Dick Gobe (133lb) who outclassed the Tweetie with a stunning right in the first round. Martin was game but alley visiting the canvas two times, the referee mercifully stop him from further punishment.

SOSIBO WAS GAME IN DEFEAT

SUBSTITUTING for Mark Governder, David Sosibo put up a grand performance in fore surrendering in the fifth round to Philip Mtembu (124). Sosibo stood up to the fitter Mtembu in a remarkable courage, stepping up rid two-fisted exchanges.

NO-CONTEST

THE Lonsa Joshua (122) Fig Masonda (119½) fight looked like developing into a real belly when the referee suddenly stepped in to call it a no-contest. Fig was ahead on points and his boys appeared to be making a go of it until the referee unceremoniously stopped the fight.

HARVEY BOXES WELL

FRANKIE Harvey (114) Fig boxed well to outpoint Gil Bloemen (115½). The boxing was always dangerous, as Bloemen alley walked into Harvey's perfect punches.

Natal cricket changes are planned

MR. S. BRIDGEMOHAN, the Chairman of the Natal Inter Race Cricket Board, who was a guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Southern Natal Cricket Union in Durban said that in keeping with the decision of the SA. Cricket Board of Control, vital changes will be made in the administration of Cricket.

He said that when the Cricket Board is reorganised it might receive a district or regional unit.

Mr. R. G. Nauman, the elected secretary, said it interesting and promising to report the full contents and also consider changes made.

Regarding the Mr. Naidoo proposal to assess the total number of matches played, Mr. Naidoo said, comparisons between the Indian and Coloured teams. He added that the total number of matches played would be a guide to the game.

He said that the Indian Cricket Union on an average at the South Africa Association there were attractive more attractive cricket in Schools cow-lead side for training.

Tennis bodies take big step on path to integration

AT a general meeting of the Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union held over the last weekend, the three National Bodies (South African Indian Lawn Tennis Association, South African Tennis Board and the Southern Africa National Lawn Tennis Union) agreed to dissolve and merge as a national unit under the Lawn Tennis Union as from December 28, 1962.

In his opening remarks the Chairman, Mr. C. D. Mosner, stated that only very tennis players throughout Southern Africa could make any headway was under the one banner of a non-racial union.

The present setup which is multi-racial, was not competitive and was outdated.

The meeting was attended by the three national bodies and representatives from Southern Rhodesia.

The proceeding of the meeting gained momentum when Mr. Ralph Molefe, President of the Transvaal Lawn Tennis Federation, addressed the meeting.

Mr. Molefe has a big following in the Transvaal and his support strengthens the Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union.

The meeting commenced at 10.30 a.m. and after almost twelve hours deliberation, agreed that the entire country including Southern Rhodesia, be zoned into tennis provinces.

Zoning is as follows:

1. Southern Natal (To include Kokstad and Umzimkulu).
2. Northern Natal.
3. Orange Free State.
4. Griqualand West (including Mafeking, Vryburg and Bloemhof).
5. Southern Rhodesia.
6. Eastern Province (Port Elizabeth).
7. Border (To include East London and United Transkei Territories).
8. Bechuanaland Protectorate.
9. Eastern Transvaal and Swaziland (Barberton, Witbank, Badfontein and Middleburg).
10. Southern Transvaal (Johannesburg, Vereeniging and West Rand).
11. Western Transvaal (Potchefstroom, Wolmaransstad and Klerksdorp).
12. Southern Eastern Transvaal (Germiston, East Rand up to Volksrust).
13. Northern Transvaal (Pretoria up to Limpopo River).
14. Little Swaziland.
15. Southern Peninsula.
16. Western Province.
17. South Western Districts (Oudtshoorn, George).

All these provinces will seek direct affiliation to the Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union but will control their own province.

There will be, however, provincial tournaments played once a year and a national championship for the singles and doubles title held each year beginning December, 1962.

The Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union will come into existence as and from the first day of January, 1962, but due to the Southern Africa National Lawn Tennis Union having made great tournament arrangements to be held at Mitchell's honor, Natal, it was resolved that the National tournament commence in December, 1962.

As and from the date that these affiliated national bodies will shut up shop and be merged into the Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union.

It is expected to hold a preliminary to the National Championship will be held in Durban December, 1962.

Those present were Mr. C. D. Acorn (Chairman), M. N. Pather (Secretary), C. C. Hauer (Assistant Secretary), Reggie Ngcobo (Vice President), R. Reenah (Hon. Treasurer), Messrs. N. L. Pillay, S. H. Mbambo, L. Nkosi (Southern Africa National Lawn Tennis Union), I. F. H. Mayet, M. K. Naidoo, R. Jubee (South African Indian Lawn Tennis Association), F. S. Hendricks, C. D. Mosner, J. M. Pfaff, E. S. (Boots) Cawood, B. G. Janiaree (the South African Tennis Board), and R. D. Molefe (Transvaal Lawn Tennis Federation). Mr. Hendricks represented the Southern Rhodesia Affiliated to the South African Tennis Board.

Officials elected were: Chairman, C. F. Acorn; Vice President, Reggie Ngcobo; Secretary, M. N. Pather; Assistant Secretary, C. C. Hauer; Treasurer, R. Reenah.

Avoca have every chance of winning cup again

AVOCA played match-winning tennis when their clash with Central was continued on Sunday, says Ebrahim Osman.

In the incomplete singles match between Ramlakan and Natan, the former had won the first set 11-9. Natan could not reproduce his form of the previous week and Ramlakan won through 6-3. This made the match were 2-all, with Avoca still holding a 2-set advantage and needing one more match for victory.

The next doubles gave them victory, for Ramlakan and Luckhat outplayed Natan and Mohlam to win in straight sets.

So a great struggle ended in a rather disappointing conclusion.

Nevertheless, Avoca's victory was a thoroughly well-deserved and decisive one. And if they beat Kismet on Sunday (as they should do) in the last Pritchepaul fixture for the season, they will be worthy Pritchepaul Cup champions for the second year in succession.

BITTER RIVALS IN LOCAL SOCCER

THE second round of the U.T.G. League Cup has reached its most crucial stage. Three more matches are to be played and upon each one depends the fate of Aces United and Transvaal United who occupy top positions.

This week at Curries, Aces engage their old rivals, Berea. In the next two matches Transvaal United meet Athletic and Swallows. They must win both their matches to clinch the Cup.

If they lose one of their matches or draw both, then they draw level with Aces, provided the latter beat Berea. Can they do it?

Going by recent form i believe they can, writes Ronnie Governder.

But that is strictly by the form book. Berea are notorious for upsetting the apple-cart by their upsets by walloping Aces and Swallows in the first round. Can they rise to meet the occasion again?

I believe that Berea's chop and change policy will be their undoing. The constant reshuffling of the team has done them little good. In fact, if they had stuck to as few replacements as possible they might have been high up in the fight for league honours.

Nevertheless they are a very real threat.

In their last encounter, Berea were armed to the teeth. They gave the experienced Aces little reaping in one of the fastest games seen this year. They were on the attack from the beginning and held off the challenge of Aces forward line brilliantly.

One thing is certain. The rivalry between the two teams is so intense that Berea are quite determined not to let Aces reverse their defeat. With such determination and Aces' undoubted supremacy one can bet on a great fight materialising.

In they go together! Two goal-mouth incidents in the pro-soccer matches played over the weekend. Top picture: Aces' forwards Sonny Morgan and Sealington Dube poised to head the ball home but a Swallows' defender clears as keeper Neko stands guard. Bottom: Lincoln City's Peter Pillay wins out in a duel with Jean Chetty in a goalmouth scramble as Bertie Moodley, goalkeeper Forbes, Dr Lange (right) and Avalon's Bogela watch anxiously.

Avalon will be hard to beat

CELTIXIM has a team taken a match with such seriousness as Avalon Athletic is taking their forthcoming encounter with the league top-dogs, Transvaal United.

If United are beaten in this match then it would make a big difference to the league log and would enhance the chances of Aces United.

Athletic have shown great form in recent matches and have recovered completely from the rut in which they were at the early stages of the league competition.

They have found their stride which they showed so well by decisively beating Durban's mighty Berea.

Last Sunday at Pietermaritzburg they went a step further by beating the mighty Lincoln City 2-1. It was a whistling match and Athletic were always in command of the game against very tough opponents.

Athletic officials have mapped out a gruelling plan of training and coaching. It will certainly be a new Athletic side that will meet Celtic.

RONNIE GOVENDER SAYS

Those Queensbury rules are taking a knock

SHADES of Queensbury! What are they doing to boxing? I cannot, for the life of me, see the light in some of the decisions given in recent boxing shows, more particularly in City Promotions tourney at the Icedrome last Saturday night.

I was not the only one who thought so too, judging from the emphatic manner in which certain decisions were booed. And to cap it all, Willie Torrest found himself disagreeing with two of the decisions on his bold life after the show.

In the Eddie Veeran-Vincent Ngcongo fight, Eddie was warned twice for hitting low. Both interventions were booed and from where I was sitting I could see clearly that both blows had landed on the solar-plexus—a punch which is Veeran's speciality. But what was round astonishing was the verdict.

In my book, Veeran had won practically every round and yet Ngcongo was made the winner! Willie Torrest told me that he thought that Veeran had shaded Ngcongo. Such was the disapproval of the crowd that they roundly booed the decision.

In the Louis Joshua-Lefty Masondo set-to, both boys were twice warned unnecessarily for clinching too often. Imagine telling a man to make a fight of it when that is exactly what he is doing.

Boy boys were milling it at close quarters and the punches were clean and crisp. Yet the referee stepped in to call it a non-contest in the fourth. Willie Torrest was again in complete disagreement. He said that he couldn't see why the fight had been stopped.

SOUTHERN NATAL SHOWS THE WAY

CONGRATS to Southern Natal for taking the first step in the country to implement Federation's decision to integrate completely by May, 1962. This is a very big revolutionary move, and it deserves one to take place before the deadline. Integration throughout the country must act now.

I am glad that the different racial soccer units found themselves in agreement with Federation and I hope that the sub-committee that has been appointed to prepare a blue-print will bear in mind that integration means non-racialism, not multi-racialism.

This is a very crucial moment in our fight for international recognition. We have waited a long time for this moment and we must exercise the greatest wisdom and tact. As veteran S. I. Singh put it, "Let us not give the Whites fodder to hit us back with."

Ebrahim Osman hits out:

THIS TENNIS INTEGRATION PUTS CART BEFORE HORSE

HAS the recent formation of an Interim Committee, which will lead to the formation of the Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union, brought us very much nearer to integration?

I do not think so. I think the basic problems of integration in tennis are at the provincial level. What is needed immediately is a meeting between the Indian, Bantu and Coloured Associations in each province to work out the basis for the formation of a single non-racial provincial association.

Once each province has such an integrated body, the formation of a national body is automatic and a mere formality.

I do not think we have taken a very significant step by starting at the very top, while beneath there is still an integration vacuum. The formation of this interim committee is, to my mind, too much of an abstraction and is important only in so far as it asserts a laudable principle in South African sport.

But such a principle has been accepted often enough and the time is long overdue for something more tangible.

About two years ago a similar meeting was held and an interim committee was formed. That meeting gave the racial associations an ultimatum to disband within eighteen months.

Needless to say tennis is still as unintegrated as ever. It is true that a few attempts were made to bring together the different racial units in each province, but each time the meeting failed to materialise because one or other of the units failed to send representatives.

In all fields of endeavour, interim committees are notorious for their dormancy — especially on the national level because of great distances separating the members. I therefore think that we are wasting valuable time in toying with abstractions, while the basic problems of integration at the provincial level seem to be receiving precious little attention.

ABSOLUTE NONSENSE

There has been the suggestion that the national associations are handing over their assets and shutting shop." This is absolute nonsense. How can the parent body shut its home before its children (the provincial associations) have found an alternate home in the form of an integrated provincial body? Let us get the whole issue in its proper perspective.

As a first step. How about a meeting ~~immediately~~ between the different racial associations in each province, to discuss the various problems and to arrive at a basis for the formation of a single non-racial body to control tennis in each province?

Once we have tackled this problem where it really ought to be tackled—at the provincial level—the problems at the national level fade away automatically and the formation of the national body becomes a simple matter. We can then speak as a truly non-racial national tennis organisation catering for the overwhelming majority of tennisers in South Africa.

I do not see how our claim for international recognition can then be contested.

I sincerely hope that members of the Committee will take the matter at once and call a meeting of the Indian, Coloured and Bantu associations. Then only can the formation of this interim committee of the Southern Africa Lawn Tennis Union be regarded as something more than an abstraction and a significant step towards integration.

If Natal members of the interim committee feel that calling such a meeting of the Natal Indian Coloured and African Associations is beyond their jurisdiction, this paper is prepared to sponsor such a meeting and make the necessary arrangements, provided the three associations indicate in writing their preparedness to attend.

FOR THEM — THIS IS HOME

THE LEADER Friday, 20th Oct.

HIS SUPPER CAME FROM DUST-BINS

Mr. K. Nero displays what he had collected for his supper. His search in the dustbins had yielded pieces of fat, bread crusts and a mouldy orange.

HERE IS A STORY TO MAKE YOU ILL

THIS week I witnessed the depths of human misery when I saw a sight so shocking that I could not believe my eyes . . . PEOPLE LIVING UNDER A BRIDGE LIKE QUARANT RETCHES—TWO FAMILIES without any real home who SCAVENGE FOR SCRAPS OF FOOD FROM DUSTBINS.

These people—about five of them had looks of hopeless despair on their faces. I was shocked at their pathetic plight and I kept asking myself how could they live under a bridge for years in all sorts of weather.

Their furniture was a few cardboard boxes containing some scraps of cloth which was supposed to be their clothing. They had two pots in which to cook and a few tins for water. They had nothing else . . . Nothing except their boundless sorrow.

The "boys" in Wyndsield Road, who said that he had lived under the bridge on the South Coast Road for the last seven years.

He had done everything to get a job, but all he could find was occasional casual work.

He was a jeweller and painter. He lost his job seven years ago. Nero married but he and his wife, Molly, have no children. Nero himself has no parents, brothers, sisters of relatives—they are all dead.

PIECE OF FAT

He exists on one meal a day, which he calls his supper. It consists of scraps scavenged from dustbins. He goes round all the neighbouring bins during the day looking for food. He showed me what he had collected that day.

He emptied it out of a potato sack. A piece of dirty-looking fat covered in sawdust, pieces of stale bread, a mouldy orange and other unbearable items.

He was going to cook that in a large pot from a tap in a factory nearby about 200 yards away. He uses no salt, no spice or any other seasoning in his cooking. Only water.

He washes his clothes with water from the nearby river over which the bridge is built. He rinses off a spotless shirt. Only a few spots in the river water.

They sleep in the bush . . . when the weather permits. When it rains they sleep under the bridge. When the rainwater overflows they go to the verandah of a nearby shop and sleep there. They sleep on sacks and have a single blanket and a sail.

BRIDGE REFUGEE

Another David Classens (44), has been living there since June last. He was kicked out of his home because he could not pay his rent after he was fired from his job. He gets R2 unemployment benefit and he lives on rice on this. He is a model operator.

An African woman, Emfuleni, has lost her mind since she came to live under the bridge. She has a year old child. When I tried to speak to her she raved at me incoherently.

When I asked these people if I could do anything for them they all cried out: "Help us to get jobs. It's the only thing that will save us."

INDIAN GARAGE TAKES CITY COUNCIL TO SUPREME COURT

EPSOM MOTORS, the well-known garage and breakdown experts in Umgeni Road, Durban, are appealing against the decision of the Durban Licensing Officer in granting licences to Mr. D. A. Hansa to open a garage and service station on the other side of Umgeni Road, but further up from Epsom Motors.

At the same time, Epsom Motors have made an urgent application to the Supreme Court asking for the removal from Licensing Appeal Board of the three councillor members.

The grounds of Epsom Motors' application is that the three councillors were present when Mr. Hansa's application for town planning consent was considered by the Durban City Council and its Committees.

The recusal is requested because they have already made a decision on an issue that is the subject of an appeal.

Epsom Motors are asking for costs against the councillor members of the Board. The hearing is set down in the Supreme Court, Durban, for October 24.

The Durban City Council is to defend the application of Epsom Motors on behalf of the Licensing Appeal Board and the councillor members.

PLEA FOR VERNACULAR EDUCATION

Are you ashamed of being Indian? Speaker asks

WHEN he spoke at the annual meeting of the Springfield Kalaimagal Thamizh Pallikoodam, the newly-elected Vice-President, Mr. Iyavoo Balakrishnan, criticised parents for their lack of interest in the teaching of children in the Tamil vernacular.

He said that parents were fully responsible for this situation.

"When there is evidence of lack of interest in this field amongst parents, how can we expect our children to improve their vernacular education?

"Is it the parents' responsibility to send their children to vernacular schools, by force if necessary, and later on to impress upon them its equal importance to that of other tongues.

"This was certainly done in the grandfather's days, but now the position is reversed.

"If we go on, and I hope I am wrong, in 20 to 30 years we will be ruled by a foreign tongue.

"Are we ashamed of our vernacular? If not, why do so many homes speak the foreign tongue? Do they feel superior in their foreign dialect?

"Many do, and this is becoming worse amongst our fairer sex, the mothers of tomorrow. Are they ashamed that they are Indian? I blame their parents.

"The three main causes of this serious situation are:

(1) Westernisation.

(2) The parents. More time is taken by some parents in the consumption of drugs and liquors which dull their brains, so little or no attention is paid to their children's vernacular education.

(3) The sleeping and learned vernacular veterans who cannot find time to pass on the world.

"Do they consider what is happening to our children's future? The learned veterans must wake up and take stock. To parents I plead with them not to lead their children astray, for in later years they are sure to put the blame on you.

"I call upon all parents and urge them to make it compulsory for their children to attend vernacular schools, and if there is not one in their district, to create one.

"The attention of residents of Asherville and district is drawn to the amalgamation of two Tamil schools under one body, namely 'SPRINGFIELD KALAIMAGAL THAMIZH PALLIKOODUM,' which body is now endeavouring to offer better teaching facilities.

"Parents are earnestly requested to send their children to the evening classes," said Mr. Balakrishnan.

Patrons: M. Soobramoney, M. C. Moodley, Seaman Chetty, Kisten Naidoo.

President: P. C. James.

Vice-President: Iyavoo Balakrishnan.

Secretary: M. Arjun.

Treasurer: S. B. Chetty.

TALK OF THE BAZAAR

by The Fakir

THERE'S a man (or woman) somewhere in London whom I'd dearly love to meet. And I dare say that if only they could, either Dr. Malherbe, principal of Natal University, or Mr. Hal Naidoo, principal of the M. L. Sultan Technical College, would drop everything and catch the first London-bound jet to have a few minutes with this person.

(He (or she) has been very much in the news but managers successfully to remain very much in the background. First there was an announcement that an anonymous benefactor had given £250,000 (or if you prefer that silly term, five hundred thousand Rand) to London University. A few days later, another news item declared that Mr. Anonymous had given another quarter million, this time to the London School of Economics, which is another famous University.

GIVEN £750,000

THIS morning—and with characteristic generosity "The Times" reports a third similar gift, this time to King's College, which is a part of the University of London.

"The anonymous donor has given away £750,000 away to the Universities, no stipulation on each case being that no attempt should be made to discover his identity," said Father Christmas is, I do not know," said Dr. P. S. Noble, principal of King's College, "and I will make no attempt to find out."

THE KINS ARE RIGHT

THE London Bridge is falling down. So the thousands of children who sing that jingling nursery rhyme are spot-on. Years ago they knew one . . . owns paraom that lance into Cockney.

The foundations of many of the supports of the Bridge are on London clay and they are sinking very slowly. But the Bridge will probably hang on for another couple of hundred years.

White Hindu on radio

A radio programme — "From East to West" will be on the air soon. The programme is about a White man living at the Ramakrishna Centre who has embraced the Hindu religion. He will give his impressions and views.

Swami Nachalanda told "The Leader" that many Europeans had joined the Ramakrishna Centre. In Johannesburg alone, about 60 Europeans had joined.

He said that these Europeans knew more about Hinduism than many Indians, and they had embraced the religion with the utmost devotion and sincerity.

He added that many Afrikaaners too, were taking an interest in Hinduism.

ROYAL

UNION'S DETAILED REPLY TO COMPLAINTS BY BUS-WORKERS

MR. F. M. HARRY, secretary of the Natal Passenger Transport Employees' Union, has strongly denied allegations levelled against the Union by certain bus workers, which appeared on the front page of "The Leader" last week.

Mr. Harry stated that there is no cause for workers to go on strike because the Union's demands on behalf of its members and bus workers generally, are now being considered by the Minister of Labour, and if there is any need to go on strike, the Union will decide in accordance with the Industrial Conciliation Act.

Mr. Harry said that a number of drivers and conductors are not paid the prescribed wages and are also working long hours, but he said the men are to blame. He added that there are many "hack-leg" workers in the bus industry, who are prepared to work long hours without remuneration, and agree to work for lower wages.

The Union had carried out strong campaign against long hours of work but was unsuccessful because of lack of co-operation from some workers.

He agreed that the long hours of work are detrimental to the health of the worker, and also to the public, because fatigue factors can cause serious accidents.

Major Loxton of the South African Police, had carried out an extensive investigation into the road mishaps recently and held several talks with bus workers. The bus workers told Major Loxton that they are forced to work long hours, and sometimes they fall asleep at the wheel.

HOLIDAY PAY

The Union is fully aware of the situation, and very emphatically pointed out this fact to the Wage Board Investigation which was appointed by the Minister of Labour last year. Strong representations were made by the Union to this Board's hearing in Durban.

Regarding holiday pay, the law provides two weeks leave and not three weeks as stated by the drivers and conductors. A similar period of leave is provided in case conductors were not paid holiday, sick leave or other pay, it has collected hundreds of pounds on these behalf.

Mr. Harry stated that he is not aware of a single case which was reported to the Union and not dealt with, and is prepared to challenge any worker on this point. He said that a special complaints book is kept by the Union which is open for inspection.

LOG BOOKS

The Union from time to time issued bulletins to the workers, repeatedly warning them not to work more than eight hours per day. An employee is entitled to work eight hours per day plus two hours overtime, and he shall be paid time and a half for such an overtime.

The Union further requested the workers to complete daily log slips in terms of the Wage Act but only a few complied this slip.

The law provides that each employee can be prosecuted for permitting his employee to work more than the prescribed number of hours.

Many workers are content to work for long hours and sign for full wages when they receive a smaller amount but in this case the Union causes do much, as if employee to keep a check on such practice.

CROSS EXAMINATION

It is gross exaggeration for some drivers and conductors to allege that the Union is working hand in glove with the owners. In no cases are the workers victimised for bringing complaints to the Union. Most of the complaints only come to the Union when an employee is discharged from employment, and the Union cannot establish if they were victimised.

The law clearly provides that no employee shall be victimised by an employer for reporting matters to the Union or the Department of Labour. This allegation is a calculated move by a small section of workers who apparently are not members of the Union. The Union has a full record of complaints and reports of how such complaints have been dealt with. It is astonishing to read such unwarranted allegations, and the Union is deeply perturbed with some of the allegations.

Mr Harry said that if the worker had any complaints, the Union would be only to pleased to help him. The Union is there to work in the interest of the worker.

Only a small section of the bus workers are not members of the Union, and it is growth untouth to see the workers have no faith in the Union, and that is why they they do not pay subscriptions. And no worker would refuse to pay for uniform because the law provides that 4.6 per week, which is added to the wages, is part of the uniform allowance. The employer is actually paying for the uniform, and if any employee refuses to pay for the uniform, the employee is entitled to stop paying the uniform allowance.

There is no compulsion for an employee not being registered with the Unemployment Insurance Fund. In terms of the Unemployment Insurance Act, every employee is duty-bound to register his employee with the Fund, and on dismissal provide him with the U.I.F. card. In rare cases where an employer did not provide such a card, the Union saw to it that such a card is provided.

WAGE INCREASE

Mr. Harry stated that a bulletin was issued recently to the bus workers, in which was explained the progress made in obtaining increases in wages and improvement in working conditions. Correspondence was entered into with the Minister of Labour, and only in the Government Gazette. The Wage Board sat in November last year.

The Union found that the recommendations were not entirely in the interest of the bus workers, and immediately submitted a comprehensive memorandum to the Minister of Labour, objecting to the recommendations.

The Minister has replied that the whole matter has been referred to the Wage Board for further consideration, and his reply is awaited. This reply is expected to be received any time now.

The Union is there to protect the interest of the workers, and it needs the full support and co-operation of the workers to achieve full success. "Unity is Strength", without which any organisation can crumble down.

In conclusion, Mr. Harry invites any bus worker to call into the Union office and discuss the matter with the officials. If there is any genuine grievances, the Union will do everything possible to help them.

SAD END TO DREAM HOLIDAY

FOR 24-year-old Shakti Goolam Hussain and his wife, of Wesnen, it had been a dream of a holiday—the time they first spent together.

They were returning for the back when robbers pounced upon them in broad daylight at the Durban Station and robbed Shaikh of his pants and Khan of his also took the baby's clothing.

Mr. Shaikh was left praying. He would have lost everything if he had not cried out for help and scared the thieves away.

Luckily for Shaikh and his family, a stranger came to their assistance and bought them new tickets back home. Otherwise, they would have been stranded.

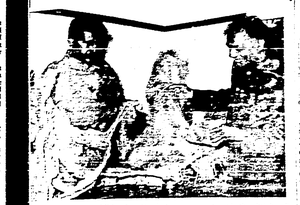
Parents charged with ill-treating child



Two policemen exhibit the blanket, grass mat and the brick on which the child ate.

A HALF-BRICK alleged to have been used as a plate for a child, a dirty blanket and a filthy mattress said to have been his bed, were exhibited in the Durban Magistrate's Court last week when a father and stepmother appeared on a charge of maltreating their five-year-old child.

The case was remanded to November 11.

A doctor said in Court that when he examined the child he found his right eye bruised and swollen. He said that the child showed extreme signals of malnutrition and that physically he was in a very bad shape.

The doctor said that the child's abdomen was distended and that he suffered from free fluid.

If he had continued to receive ill-treatment, he could have suffered some chronic illness, or even have died.

The doctor added that after he examined the child he had been admitted to the St. Aidan's Hospital where he remained for 18 days before he was taken to the Aryan Benevolent Home.

Will Negro boy go to the chair?

ATLANTA (Georgia), Tuesday. Governor Ernest Vandiver said he will grant a stay of execution if necessary to allow the State Legislature decide whether Georgia will send a 17-year-old Negro boy to the electric chair.

Governor Vandiver said that several legislators have asked that he do this so that they can pass on Georgia's minimum death penalty age of 14.

Thomas Cobb Jr., the Negro youth in question, had been scheduled to die on September 22 for the killing last June of a 30-year-old White farmer near Monticello, Georgia. But the execution was postponed when a motion was made for a new trial. A superior court judge has taken the motion under advisement.

MOTHER OF SIX BADLY BURNT

A [illegible] of six children, Mrs. Momeen Roberts, of Merebank, is alleged to have set herself alight this weekend.

The children who live with their parents in a very poor house, are dependant upon friendly neighbours for their food during the day while the mother is in hospital and her husband is at work.

Momeen's daughter told "The Leader" that her mother poured paraffin over herself in the toilet and then came into the kitchen and set herself alight.

She screamed for help and neighbours ran to her. Momeen was badly burnt and she was rushed to hospital.

Indians made school for Africans possible

AN AFRICAN SCHOOL, built through the efforts of all races, was opened at the remote Memela village in Natal last week.

The Ramnaik Brothers, merchants in the district, were chiefly responsible for the school, which became of great interest in the cultural and economic welfare of the African people, they took the initiative of getting a school for African children.

In the past the children of the Memela tribe grew up without education. Those few that could afford it attended the nearest primary school, 12 miles away.

In 1952, Mr and Mrs. Ramnaik gave up some rooms behind their store and asked the Bantu Education Board to start classes there. Since then they have laboured to erect a proper school as over 300 children are enrolled.

Aimed with plans for a proper school—land was donated by Chief Mathuba Memela, and many business men and the public helped them.

They say that the cost of the school was over £3,000, and that the Ramnaik Brothers, as well as many other Indian businessmen, and many Indian people and personal donations by Mr Ramnaik, for example, paid Dr. Peter Hey of Natal University. Mr. Ramnaik continued to work for the school, and other Indian people and businessmen helped him.

And so last week the school was born, and classes at the opening said that the School at Memela showed what all races could unite to build a strong South Africa.

WHO WILL CURE HER! DOCTOR OR PRIEST?

Tara Devi Sooklith, aged 22, will be carrying out an unique experiment soon. She is going to assume treatment from both a doctor and a temple priest to find out which is the more effective.

Her left hand became unmanageable and sick. She feels that she has been attacked by people who do not like her because of personal reasons.

She said that some time ago she was ill during a continement and was cured by a somebaba priest. Since then she has a great deal of confidence in [illegible] faith.

But to prove this point to herself, she is going to carry out the experiment of being treated both by a doctor and a temple priest. She has already been to a doctor and received treatment from him. Now she is going to see a temple priest to see if he can cure her hand.

HOW TO GET A HOUSING LOAN QUICKER

IF you have applied to the Durban City Council for a loan to build a house at the Merebank/Wentworth Housing Scheme, the following hints should help you to get your loan through quickly.

The following is the procedure adopted by the Housing Department after applications, together with plans and tenders, have been received from the City Treasurer.

"A"

(1) Plans and draft specifications are checked and the contract price broken down to detailed costs to ensure that the requirements of the National Housing Commission are met.

(2) Plans are forwarded to the various sections of the Department and to other Departments for comment and approval.

(3) Four copies of the standard specifications are prepared.

(4) Applicant is notified to call in with his builder for the purpose of signing plans and specifications for contractual purposes.

(5) Recommendation is sent to City Treasurer together with a signed plan and specification and detailed list of costs for forwarding to the National Housing Commission for final approval.

The normal time taken for the procedure detailed above in "A" — three to five weeks depending on the number of applications in hand.

"B"

Delays experienced over above mentioned periods are as follows:

(1) Applicants submitting plans and tenders without having first consulted this Department to confirm that the plans are in order.

(2) If after relaxation of building line required by the applicant advertisement in the Press is necessary, in terms of the Town Planning Ordinance.

(3) Applicants delaying in calling to have plans adjusted or to sign plans and specification after being notified, in some instances, several times.

(4) Applicants taking back plans or their architects or draughtsmen for adjustments, and not returning some for considerable periods.

(5) Applicants wanting to change their builders after plans and tenders have been submitted.

(6) Where stock plans are taken by applicants and levels on site have to be obtained arrangements have to be made in some instances for bush to be cleared.

It has been noted by the Housing Department that at times applicants have delayed two to three months after being allocated a site by the City Treasurer before calling at the Department to discuss plans and specifications, although they should call as soon as practicable after allocation of the site.

The biggest delay, however, is usually by the Government because the Durban City Treasurer sometimes has to wait from six to nine months before the loan is approved by the National Housing Commission.

THE LEADER EDITORIAL

U.N.O.

IT is no longer a question of South Africa walking out of the United Nations.

The question now on everyone's lips is, "Will we be kicked out?"

After many years of open defiance, South Africa is now fighting desperately to keep its seat in the United Nations. In all likelihood, any motion to expel South Africa will fail to get the required majority or it will be vetoed in the Security Council by the United States or Britain, or even Nationalist China.

We totally reject apartheid. Yet we would not support any move for the expulsion of this country from the United Nations. It would only help to drive our isolationists further into their lagger.

It should be remembered that South Africa and the Nationalist Government are two separate entities. Whatever the Government, South Africa should be allowed to retain its seat. Governments, after all, do not last for ever.

It's true—children do go without milk

SIR, — I wish to draw the attention of the public to Mr. Vallivaar's letter which appeared in "The Leader" of September 29 (sic).

Mr. Vallivaar is a well-known personality in Pietermaritzburg and it is surprising that he should rush in to print about something that he cannot very well substantiate.

I am given to understand from reliable sources that Mr. Vallivaar was a Council member of the Northdale Indian Welfare Society and as such should be aware of the existing conditions at Northdale.

He says he realises that the Northdale Indian Welfare Society will media, one and all, to work and heal their sickness.

I say that the witchcraft, witchcraft, witchcraft, football. What nonsense! From working, politics, etc., and did really work. The U.N. and the Nationalists have been out of power.

And, who knows could have been witchcraft. That is the A Due to Witchcraft.

The officials of Sydenham young and educated men, initiative and of such ability that they would never, even as low as it were witchcraft.

How the information believe in witchcraft. team consists of, one football, one ballers and every player has ballers either achieved Southern Natal, or Natal.

This year three of players played in the Sun Cup tournament. I suppose owing to "Dekal" it has witchcraft.

Remember, good footballers, and a team, but in order outstanding team there knowledge of Spade City has produced Seld.

Witchcraft, it's all nonsense, he says

SIR, — I was when I read the witchcraft, expressed name Spade City.

For the information "Dekal" witchcraft does not exist, and all of us would be and far with the power of cash.

We would never unemployment or doctors would have unemployed. Witchcraft, and businessmen are playing.

As a rule, SACTU says that as soon as the industrial colour bar in Government's policy of Africa is worsening the unemployment situation.

Further it says that the crux of the matter is the huge disparity between rural to Whites and African workers which adversely affects the purchasing power of African workers and retards industrial development.

It further adds that the rural areas are worst hit as they are functional of capital, and are non-thriving.

What's their secret—skill or magic?

SIR,—I was sceptical when reports appeared in your paper that Spade City F. C. were using black magic to win their matches.

Last Sunday, however I went to see the match between Paradise and Spade City in the league final. To my surprise I actually saw a young man with a white cap and black sweater and black trousers go to the goal posts at each end of the ground and rub them before the match commenced and at the interval.

The score at the interval was 1 - 1 but Spade City finally won by 4 - 1.

The question is do Spade City win through skill or magic, and if it is magic then I think it is poor sportsmanship.

"Spectator."

Son who stuck by his Mother congratulated

As a mother, I wish I had such a son as the one who said in "The Leader" that his marriages was being broken up because he wanted to stick by his widowed mother.

Although it is a sad story of a broken home, the fact that he did not leave his poor mother in the lurch, bearing me.

There are very few who think like him. Most of them listen to their wives and let their parents suffer.

I am a mother and it might happen to me tomorrow.

How would the wife feel if was her mother, and she had a death-bed promise to look after her as best she could?

I sincerely hope that he will meet with the support he deserves that the young man could expect from him and his family.

That article should be read by as many wives and husbands as possible, lest their mothers suffer.

MOTHER

HIGHER PAY IS ANSWER

Plain words to Minister from S.A.C.T.U:

DR. N. DIEDERICHS, the Minister of Economic Affairs, gave eight reasons why jobs should increase in the future, and among them he said that "money was becoming more freely available" and that there were "strong indications" of improvement in the general economic position in the country. He said that these were the factors that lead the Minister of Labour to state that unemployment would give considerably by December, said SACTU in a Press statement.

"On September 15 the Minister of Labour said that unemployment was a temporary phenomenon and would resolve itself in three weeks. When the position worsened, he extended the period to December, and now Dr. Diederichs gives us reasons why the Minister came to such a conclusion. It is all confusing and smacks of wild and irresponsible statements to scale votes and to create the impression that all is well, when in fact the economic position of the country is serious.

"Tens of thousands of workers are unemployed. Thousands are working short-time. Factories are closing down, and business-men are experiencing a slow time. The spectre of unemployment is haunting everybody — business-men and workers alike. Yet we have responsible Ministers making wild and sweeping statements that the position will improve by a certain date and time. The workers and the people, generally, want deeds and not words.

"With all due respects to Dr. Diederichs and Mr. de Klerk, we want to emphatically say that they do not either appreciate the gravity of the situation or are ignorant of the facts leading to the present crisis.

"In the first place there is no need for an economic recession in South Africa. The market is not flooded with goods because of over-production. It is a problem of poverty wages where 70 per cent of the labour force earn 30 per cent of the wage bill.

"In America, Britain, Germany, Australia and other countries the difference in wages between skilled and unskilled workers is only 30 to 15 per cent, in South Africa it is almost 400 per cent. This vast group of underpaid workers can barely purchase the necessities of life, yet they are a potential market for every type of consumer goods.

"Here lies the simple reason for South Africa's difficulties.

"We challenge Dr. Diederichs to prove anything to the contrary. The reasons he gave will never solve this country's problems, but increased wages for the lowly-paid non-white workers and the resultant increase in their purchasing-power are the key factors to a solution of the present crisis ravaging the country."

Nation-wide congress to discuss unemployment

A NATION-WIDE conference on unemployment, low wages, pass laws, influx control, and other issues concerning workers has been called by the South African Congress of Trade Unions and the Unemployed Workers Union. The conference will be held at the Bantu Social Centre on October 21 and 22.

The conference takes place at a time when unemployment queues are getting longer and longer all over the country, and when there is actual starvation in thousands of homes, and businessmen are getting bankrupt.

In a letter, SACTU says that as a result of the industrial colour bar in Government's policy of Africa is worsening the unemployment situation.

Further it says that the crux of the matter is the huge disparity between rural to Whites and African workers which adversely affects the purchasing power of African workers and retards industrial development.

It further adds that the rural areas are worst hit as they are functional of capital, and are non-thriving.

Candid Commentary . . . by Politicus

MR. LOUW FINDS THAT OFFENCE IS NOT THE BEST DEFENCE

BANKING so doubt on the old saying that offence is the best form of defence, Mr. Eric Louw launched on his "Why pick on us?" speech to the United Nations. But not even Mr. Louw, who is no newcomer to the game of politics, could have guessed what was coming to him.

He was, in simple language, dealt with severely for saying some of the things he made bold to say to the representatives of the nations gathered at the international forum. And for a while South Africans of all colours and shades of political opinion could not tell whether South Africa would be "kicked out" of the world body or not.

Some of the editorial comment in the big dailies makes very interesting reading.

"THE NATAL MERCURY" which said only two weeks ago that it "stands right behind Mr Louw on continuing U.N. membership" was forced to admit, after last week's debate, that "The crux of the matter (and it was on this that Mr Louw's case was based) is that the system of South Africa is pursuing is fundamentally at variance with the intention towards four-fifths of its people" a code of conduct which the rest of the civilised world finds indefensible and is trying to eradicate."

"THE NATAL DAILY NEWS" wrote: "The simple truth is that apartheid or separate development (call it what they will) is regarded by the world as an affront to human dignity. . . . For the sake of all the future generations of South Africa it is imperative that the apartheids should be ousted from power. In that end all men of good will must direct their energies."

When we look at South Africa as a figure on the international field, we see that we are much [illegible]

"THE NATAL WITNESS" [illegible] Instead of facing up to the [illegible] Nationalists would [illegible] the rest of the world.

"THE RAND DAILY MAIL" wrote: "The Nationalists will cling to their fantastic belief that the rest of the world is so much more informed about South Africa, despite all the fact that force on [illegible] no other small country [illegible] ever more fully and poignantly [illegible] than the one [illegible] the rest of the world [illegible] the Nationalists are prepared to make up for the sins of the year 1961.

But that it seems that it is going to take a long time, this time years after the U.N. comes [illegible] the annual meeting of the Royal Agricultural Society of Natal rejected a motion that non-Europeans should be allowed to exhibit in the industrial section.

On the same day, the High Court of Southern Rhodesia ruled that the Salisbury City Council had no legal right to reserve admission to its swimming baths for whites only.

And in California, the first negro woman municipal court judge, Mrs. Karma Spencer, was about to be formally installed on the Bench.

Perhaps the best comment came from the "RAND DAILY MAIL" cartoonist, Bob Connolly, in his "Breakfast soup" cartoon. "Even if I am unemployed, I wouldn't want Tom Tower's job."

INDIAN SHOWMAN HAD WHITE ARTISTES

KIMBERLEY Tuesday.—Our Kimberley correspondent writes that the Hindu Cultural and Social Club has become the talk of the town with their smashing show, "Night of Stars", which ran for four nights in the Diamond City.

Behind it all was go-getting impresario, Sunny Naidoo and you'd pop when you hear the names on the show.

M.C. for the night was John Silver, leading Springbok Radio announcer.

There was a Mannequin Parade featuring Denise Maur, "Miss South Africa 1960", Miss Anita Erasmus — "Miss Union, 1960", Mrs. Celene Erikson — "Miss Hobby Fair, 1959," Miss Rene de Villiers and Mrs. Serreta Campbell.

Another compere of the show was the famous comedian, Gerry Kettler.

In the variety section were the dancing troupes of top dancers Joyce Hooper and Ursula Fisher. Doing the cha-cha-cha were Jennifer Dainow (Grab-me-a-Gondola girl) and Don Murray, just back from Australia. To top the dancing section were the only adagio dancers in South Africa, Andre and Lorraine, acclaimed wherever they have appeared.

In the vocal section were a hot shot local group, "The Penetrators" together with Kevin Lawlor and others.

The music was supplied by Peter Christian, Neville Cronje, Clive Demas, Denis Martin and Edgar Salo.

So impressive was the show that the Mayor of Kimberley, Councillor L. Lawn, said, "This show will I am certain rank with the best for entertainment and spectacle."

Leading business house of the city endorsed Lawlor's first impression since the show was in aid of charity.

As a matter of interest officials of the Hindu Cultural and Social Club are: Chairman, Mr. K. Pandy; Hon. Secretary, Mrs. N. B. Naidoo and Hon. Treasurer, Mr. M. Moodaley.

Looks like the fair ladies of Kimberley are leaving the "Bhanas" in the "Indian" behind!

THE FIRST EVER MIXED VARIETY SENT THEM!

THAT night-in-the-goose show! Man with the Midas touch, B. Chetty had them sent down Lakewood way at the Ansflica Hall last Saturday night with his sizzling revue "Havana Showers."

Over the four hours, Whites, Indians, Africans and Coloureds appeared together on the same stage. Each number was huge and the crowds called for more as the guys served it up hot and solid.

The White boys on the show were "The Searchers," and they shook much more for those real hep chords that sent the fans crazy.

Leader of the group was lovely Lorraine Moore and the boys who wear cool togs, school student Donald Scott on the bass was Butch Williams and on the drums Malcolm Miller. This is the first time, too, that this group has played for a show of this kind.

The only other big names in the show were Neville George, "Coon Carnival" man who's looking U.K. way these days, and Pat Pather. Incidentally, Neville has his passport and will be leaving for the U.K. when buddy Danny Williams has something big lined up for him.

Plaudits to B.C. for having arranged such a great show mostly out of real amateur talent. Show-showers should take a lesson from him. don't keep hounding the big names. There's plenty of dark horse talent around waiting for the right guy to come along.

Also, a big thank you to the dancers listed below:

Rowell and Sons Pty. Ltd., Coastal Dry Cleaners, Rania Fashions Nazar Cinema, Mr. M. C. Sewpersad, Mr. M. H. Seedat, Mr. H. H. Karim, Mr. M. S. Kooverjee, Cycle Co., Federal Wholesalers, Wellington Furniture, Rajoo Moshalia, Chosonlall Hira, Bishop McKay's, Gallo Africa, Pty. Ltd., Goodwill Supply Stores, Australian Stores, Warwick Cycle Hardware, the Silver Hills, Amod Sons, Durban Steam Laundry, G. H. Seedat, M. A. H. Seedat, Coastal Sweeteners, S.A. Lion.

Great show for charity at "The Moon"

A BIG bouquet to The Moon's big-hearted manager, Mr. William Gamage, for having arranged such a fine show on Saturday night in aid of victims of the disastrous Clairwood mass accident. There was a terrific response and everybody had a good time while helping a great cause.

Highlights of the night was the choosing of "The Lady with the Most" by the paper with the most, The Leader.

An on-the-spot call resulted in terrific response from the floor. Walking into the spotlight the girls were judged by the spectators themselves, whose applause was the criterion. They had a tough time and "Leader" men Bennie Bunsee, Ronnie Govender and Sunil Bramdaw helped them pick the lucky lady and she was none other than the charming Miss Lorraine White.

The other three finalists were Ursula Smith, Catherine Wood and Joan Bennet.

Four bands were in attendance, the resident "Ivor Pennee," the "Miracoolos," "The Internetes" and the all-White band "The Blue Angels." A raffle was held and a number of prizes were presented by leading societies and business houses.

However, the response from some of the bigger business houses was disheartening for such a magnificent cause. Nevertheless that didn't stop Mr. Gammage and his team from raising in a total of £114 (R228). On behalf of the injured and dependants of the victims of that terrible accident, a big thank you to the Moon Hotel.

Obituary

MRS. KANKIAH (K. FRANCIS)
The death occurred on October 12, 1961, of Mrs. Kankiah (K. Francis), late of 33 Clayton Road, formerly of 298 Kenilworth Road, Sydenham, at the age of 56, under tragic circumstances.
She was buried at Kenilworth Road Cemetery on October 13, 1961. D 2559

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Ramanthar Rajeanthie.—In memory of my beloved wife and our dear mother who passed away suddenly on September 23, 1961.

September passed with sad regret,
A month we will never forget,
Quickly and suddenly came the call,
Her sudden death shocked us all.
Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies,
She dwells in the land of glory,
With the blue and the gold of the skies,
If only those who know can feel
The sorrow of parting without farewell,
For we shed our tears with an aching heart,
While others are asleep,
With treasure her memory for always,
Down through the drifting years,
God bless you mother.

Always remembered by your young husband, sons and daughters Mandal, Dhanraj, Ramdutt, Dhanwantri of 416 New Germany Road, Farm Estate, Durban.

Soobramoney Daniel Naicker.—In sacred memory of my dear husband and our father, who passed away on November 10, 1957.

We lived on hopes and prayed in vain,
That you would soon get well again,
But God decided that we should part,
And left us all with broken hearts.

FRANK D. DHARAMASEELAN (DOVE). In loving memory of our beloved son, who passed away under tragic circumstances on October 18, 1960.

Within our home where all was bright,
God took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, we always will,
Your presence was our greatest pleasure,
Now your memory our only treasure.

Always remembered by your sorrowing mum, dad, sisters and brothers (Inserted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Doraisamy and family, 102 Khan Road, Rangethope, Pietermaritzburg.)

FRANK D. DHARAMASEELAN (DOVE). In sacred memory of our dear Frank D. Dharamaseelan (Dove), who passed away on October 19, 1960.

The memory we have from day to day,
No length of time can take away,
For in our hearts you are always kept,
Still loved, still mossed and very dear.

Ever remembered by Connie, Peggie, Harry and Joy, of Ladysmith.

Mickey gets slapped down

MICKEY ROONEY was slapped about in his picture with Jack Carson, Nancy Gates and Jeff Donnell, the co-heading the cast of "Stage Rroughnecks," coming to the Vogue. First he gets slapped by Carson during a quarrel, and later is knocked flat by Strong Heavy who towers a food and a half over Rooney.

"I'm philosophical about it," says Rooney. "It stands to reason that I shouldn't win a fistfight against a guy who asks for trouble all the time and I've had my share of it on the receiving end."

"Magnificent Roughnecks" is a romantic comedy drama of a South American oilfield.

A NEW AVALON CAN TURN THE TABLES ON SUNDAY

I AM most definitely not of the opinion that Transvaal United will have an easy run against Avalon Athletic in the second round of the U.T.C. League Cup at Curries Fontain this Sunday. If anything, I believe that Athletic might upset the apple cart, the way they have improved recently, says Ronnie Govender.

This by no means is the Avalon side that was unlucky at the beginning of the season. In a long list of defeats, this is a new Avalon, an Avalon that can 'bite' only play at the true sense of the word. It is an Avalon that will fight to the bitter end, no matter what the odds.

Transvaal are not a team that can be beaten, as was shown by both Kays and Cape Ramblers. They are a team whose strength is most evident in the first 20 minutes of the game. With a forward line they attack with people during this period and they tend to peter out towards the stages of the game.

In this crucial period that follows, Athletic must have planned to be on top. Thus the match on Sunday should provide an engrossing study of two great teams matching wits and individualism in what should be a first class match.

Athletic must have planned formations to meet the challenge of the Transvaal.

I have gathered from their officials that they are doing exactly this and they have a plan which they are not prepared to disclose at this stage.

Thus the match on Sunday should provide an engrossing study of two great teams matching wits and individualism in what should be a first class match.

they did against their second game against Swallows, then they will have the way for their hounding forwards who have come right back into smashing form.

In that second memorable game against Swallows which Athletic all but won, they played the 2-2-6 game. This was subsequently abandoned for orthodox football in their second encounter with the same team with such disastrous results. The important thing is that

Richleigh win 5-a-side

IN a thrilling final, Glenn Rangers "A" (Richleigh) beat Romance (Fielding) by two goals to one to win the Pietermaritzburg Leatherworkers five-a-side soccer tournament held at the Northdale Stadium on Sunday.

Fifteen teams competed in the tournament played before about 1,000 spectators.

Mr. M. M. Govender personally presented his trophy to the winners and another to the league champions, Lotus United.

GARMENT WORKERS GO GAY

THE Garment and Industrial Soccer Gala—the biggest annual sports attraction in the industry, will be staged at Curries Fountain on Saturday, commencing at 9 a.m.

Two big soccer finals are featured in the gala programme which ends up the Durban Garment Workers' Football Association's season. In the main charity cup final, Ascot play Golden Arc at 11 a.m. and Natal Underwear XI play Natalie at 9 a.m. for the Rajmohan's cup final.

Both the teams are expected to provide a feast of soccer for the big crowd that usually turns out to witness the gala games. Lionel Horner, Eddie Richards and other top-notch players are included in these teams.

Golden Arc, who won the League Cup added another feather to their cap last Saturday when they scored a narrow 3-2 win over Ascot to win the Derby Cup.

Much colour is added to the Gala Day. Alongside the soccer games, a fancy dress parade will be held. Miss Gala Queen will also be crowned. The winners of the Fancy Dress Parade, tennis pots and trophies, while the Gala Queen will receive the Bellona Trophy, plus prizes.

"BP SUPER . . . that's the petrol for me"

DARTS NOW LINED UP FOR WORLD RECOGNITION

THAT human dynamo from Clairwood—Sam Moodley is at it again. This boy just can't stop organising—he seems to have a seemingly endless flow of warm great help from other enthusiastic dartsmen throughout the country he has not only got a national darts body organised, but is setting his sights on world recognition.

Fortunately for him, as it was with our table tennisters, a national all-White darts body isn't affiliated to the world body which has its headquarters in Wales. Since Sam's national darts association is truly non-racial, it will be accorded automatic affiliation. Bravo!

THAT OLE BLACK MAGIC

THAT old black magic seems to have many of today's soccer followers in its spell judging from the number of letters we are receiving to the effect that Spade City Lads of Maxville are using it to win their matches.

To those chappies who actually believe in the black art of voodoo I can only say forget it. If they can't, then I seriously advise those to see a psychiatrist. It is hard to believe that some intelligent people insist in believing in such junk in this age of space rockets and fruit salts.

I haven't seen Spade City Lads recently, but from what I know of them they are a bunch of fine young sportsmen who have done much for Maxville soccer on and off the field. When I saw them last week they struck me as being a team of able amateurs. Their recent wins might have been close but let us stop making excuses for our failures and give credit where credit is really due.

Cane-sodden boys have had it

AS I thrilled to the great amateur soccer tussle at Curries last week between Spartak and Hallo, I could not help being struck at the amount of progress this sport has made under the able guidance of men such as R. K. Naidoo, R. Mamuar, Buddy Sirkhot, Vic Pillay, Chota Essop, and many others.

It was a real pleasure to see 22 sturdy, healthy youngsters, trained and coached to the hilt participating in sport in the healthiest possible spirit. These youngsters are in the vanguard of a great era—an era that doesn't countenance racialism and cane-trodden grand-daddies.

Juniors have become real juniors. The teams are strikingly attired which sets the atmosphere right and gives players a real team spirit. And most important of all, football has become more a matter of the brain than of brawn.

NATAL TENNIS JOURNEY ON SUNDAY EXPECTED TO BE A THRILLER

By Ebrahim Osman

THE 1961 Natal "A" Division Singles and Doubles championships, begin on Sunday at the M. L. Sultan Technical College Courts.

The Natal Indian Lawn Tennis Association is extremely fortunate in obtaining the use of these excellent all-weather courts.

Previously the championships had to be played at different tennis courts in various parts of the city. For the first time the affair will have a real championship flavour and atmosphere and is likely to draw a big crowd.

This year's singles championship is likely to be the most open in years. It will be a long time since there have been 7 or 8 players all capable of toppling the others.

Parthoo Roopnarain is back to his best form and must start favourite. Last year's winner, Ramlakan, should also be hard to beat if he can regain some of the consistency which appears to have deserted him.

The other two who are most likely to climb the ladder are Naran and Mandan. But H. Roopnarain has regained his best form and can easily come again into the final.

So can Joe Luckraj and "Gigger" Mahomedy. And players like R. A. Omar, L. Sekete and Y. Vahed and Benny Sookdayal could easily cause major upsets.

The Doubles is likely to be a repeat of the Fitzcourt championships with Naran and Mandan, the Roopnarain brothers and Ramlakan and Luckraj featuring in the last four. Which of these will win through? A question no one dare hazard to answer.

These championships are also important for those players fighting for a place in the Natal team to meet Transvaal in Johannesburg in December.

Players such as Mandan, Joe Luckraj and H. Roopnarain will have their last chance to impress the selectors, who are expected to announce their team on November 12.

Aces kept their unbeaten record to retain the Bushepaul Cup. The keenness of competition this year is evident by the fact that the three cups have been won by three different teams:

League: Kismet;
KO.—Central;
Bushepaul—Aces.

T. H. Naran and P. R. Mandan of Central won the Fitzcourt Doubles Championships on Kruger Day.

A large crowd saw one of the first doubles matches played at Durban, in which Naran and Mandan beat the Roopnarain Brothers after a great 2½-hour five-set battle.

Pro league: will it be triple tie?

The League leg of the South African Soccer League is in such a position that anything can happen in the next two matches still to be played. In these matches Transvaal United play Avalon Athletic and Moroka Swallows.

The three top teams at the moment are Aces United with 13 points and Moroka Swallows with 11 points.

These are the possibilities: If Transvaal United win both matches then they get 16 points and become champions.

If they beat Avalon and lose to Swallows they get 13 points and are still champions but there will be a tie for second place between Aces United and Swallows who both have 13 points.

If they lose to Avalon and beat Swallows they are still champions with 13 points but Aces will run a clear second with 12 points.

If they draw with Avalon and lose to Swallows then the three top teams will have 13 points to create a triple tie!

If they lose to Athlete and draw with Swallows then there will be a tie between Transvaal and Aces with 13 points each.

If they lose both matches then Aces United will be the champions with 13 points - a slender one point lead.

NOTTINGHAM WIN

MAGNIFICENT bowling by Y. C. Moodley and fine batting by A. Naidoo, J. A. Frank and A. Davis helped Nottingham C.C. to an eight wicket victory over their traditional rivals, Michaelhouse, on a league fixture played at Balgowan on Sunday.

Nottingham batting first scored 104 (A. Naidoo 34, J. A. Frank 28, Brumphal 2-22, D. Freddie 2-26, Seerbal 3-23).

Michaelhouse collapsed in face of the accurate bowling of Y. C. Moodley (6-7) and were all out for 64 of which B. Rampal scored 16.

Following on, Michaelhouse fared better and knocked up 120 (D. Freddie 38, B. Rampal 31, V. Pillayen 3-56, G. M. Hoosen 3-35).

Chances galore—but Aces threw them away

FOLLOWING a gift goal from Basil Petersen, in a result of a sudden hesitancy in front of the mouth by Vimbar Vinda and Zewani Zulu, Revera climbed out of certain defeat to hang on precariously but tenaciously to finally draw 2-2 with Aces at Curries Fountain last Sunday. This misfortune, which could have been avoided had "Excellent" Nhembu stuck to his position, lost Aces United a valuable point.

With Thirlpath Naidoo back in the right-wing berth, the Revera forward line showed plenty of fight. Derrick Douglas was outstanding in goal and in fact it was he who saved the form book Aces terrific second-half onslaught.

However, in the initial stages Aces dominated play with crackling speed. Dumsville the goal-mouth they got in four goals, two of which were disallowed as off-side.

Diminutive D. Khosa, Aces half, was on par with the musical scheming of Sirini Moodley, whose turnover from a Morgan broke clear and as they hesitated, the inverstial Revera forward, Basil Petersen was on to it in a flash, beat Dan hands down with a pile driver.

Bang up on the first goal came another shock for Aces when Thirlpath Naidoo threw caution to the winds and shot in a header at close quarters to level matters.

Revera never let up in their attack, but were forced to concede as Aces poured on the pressure. It was touch and go for Revera Douglas as the whole Aces forward pack threw themselves at goal but he came off with flying colours as time and again with great help from Ernul Dunn, he brought off magnificent saves.

LOVER BRANDED ON FACE WITH HOT POKER

Leader Reporter

ALL Umzinto was agog this week over the "Branding" of the face of a young Hindustani lover with a red-hot poker when he was caught in the bedroom of his Tamil sweetheart.

It is alleged that the father and the brother of the girl set a trap for the young man, as they had suspected for some time that he was visiting the girl after dark.

When he entered the girl's room, he was pounced upon. His hands and feet were bound and he was carried to the room.

The father is then alleged to have branded with a red-hot poker, a distance of only a fraction of an inch from the terrified face of the lover. He threw the poker across the room and warned him that next time, he would not show any mercy.

BRAND SCARS

The young man received superficial burns and it is said that he will be scarred for life. When he recovered, he immediately left the town and reunited with his friends.

It is alleged by the girl's home that he was alleged to have returned to the house and damaged some of the furniture. The lover is married and has two children. The girl is known the girl for some time. They are almost neighbours.

PUPIL GETS 20 DAYS OR . . FOR ATTACK ON TEACHER

AN 18-year-old schoolboy, Mohammed Shaikh Abdul, was sentenced to 20 days hard labour or R5 in the Durban Magistrate's Court last Friday for assaulting his Vice-principal, Mr. M. D. Maharaj, of the Spearman Road Government-aided Indian School.

Mr. Maharaj told the Court that turning home, he saw Mohammed, during the week, he had gone to the boys' toilet and was passing round the classes inspecting the dress of the pupils, particularly those who dressed sloppily, or wore rakish ducktail styles.

When he went into the fourth form in which Mohammed was a pupil, he saw that he had a duckt tail haircut and he told him to change it.

Later in the afternoon when returning home, he saw Mohammed. He did not take any notice of him but walked past him, and was a few yards away when he heard footsteps behind. He turned around to see Mohammed running towards him with a big stick in his hand.

He raised his arm in defence and asked Mohammed what he was doing. As he did so Mohammed struck him on the arm. He then used to hit him on the head, but he prevented him from doing so.

A car that was passing pulled up, the persons inside went to Mr. Maharaj's aid.

Mohammed pleaded guilty and said that he struck Mr. Maharaj because he had hit him in class.

The Magistrate warned Mohammed that he would be tested the next time he was involved in violence.

"TRULY HUMBLED," SAYS LUTHULI

DURBAN, Monday.—Former Chief Albert Luthuli said in a telephone interview from him home tonight that he was "absolutely speechless" when he received the news in a cable from the Nobel Foundation that he had been awarded the Nobel Prize for Peace. He said he was "truly humbled" by the award.

Mr. Luthuli said the cabled message also asked him to come to Oslo to receive the award on December 10. He said he would try to get the South African Government for permission to go.

"I have just received the news that a great honour has been done to me the honour of awarding me the Nobel Peace Prize for 1960," Mr. Luthuli said.

"I am truly humbled by this honour and he dir know what to say. But I am proud also, not just because this honour has been done to me, but because to my country and its people, especially those who have bleeded and suffered in the struggle for justice the emancipation of all South Africans from the bonds of race and colour.

"I receive this honour as their representative and I am humbly glad to do so. This news gives great encouragement to me.

"In this acknowledgement, the former chief continued, I include also the many South African and friends abroad who have suffered with the liberation struggle and in their own way have laboured for the realisation of a social race relations in our land especially as between Black and White.

"I, and many of my friends, have been tried for treason, for our freedom to speak and to move about freely, and have been punished for our belief in justice and justice.

"We have not had many material triumphs, but we have kept the spirit of freedom alive both in ourselves and in others.

"Now comes this new encouragement which makes us think God and all our brothers throughout the world for their commemorative of us.

MOTHER AFRICA

"It is fitting and appropriate for me to ever Mother Africa, a union dedicated in this honour for many of our sons and daughters in the different territories have tried to secure freedom along peaceful lines.

"Having regard to our suffering and humiliation for years, it is no one credit that we have sought emancipation along peaceful lines.

"May South Africa move into a new era where all men shall be free, none oppressed, none afraid of their fellows, all working together to build a union which will be an example to an unhappy world.—Sapa-Reuter.

I WILL CONSIDER SAYS DE KLERK

Mr. F. de Klerk, Minister of the Interior and of Labour and Immigration, asked in Pretoria if he would consider authorising a passport for Mr. Luthuli to travel to Oslo to accept the award, said: "I will have to consider the whole matter. For the moment I can say nothing."—Sapa.

THEY STILL SCROUNGE FOOD FROM DUSTBINS

SOME time ago a Press report appeared about Indian children who eat from dustbins at the Clairwood High School. The report drew an indignant response from people of all races.

What has happened to that indignant reaction—has it fed any children? The answer is "No". For today, these children are still eating from the same dustbins in which other pupils deposit their scraps of half-eaten sandwiches.

"The Leader" was told that these children come from very poor families who work during the day and often leave the children at home without any food. These children are uncared for, often unwashed, and their hair is full of lice.

The welfare bodies which held a meeting to help the children have apparently forgotten their good intentions.

The Principal of the Clairwood High School has also tried to help. He asked pupils to bring a few extra slices of bread, but then the children's packets promptly kicked up a fuss. The Principal added that the parents refused to accept help from anybody because of a sense of false pride.

"The Leader" believes that the plight of these helpless children is a challenge to the conscience of the Indian community and that they are duty bound to help them despite the attitude of their parents.

Who stole baby boy for two days?

TWO-YEAR-OLD Krishna Pillay, of Sydenham, Durban, who was mysteriously kidnapped, was brought back to his house two days later.

Krishna, who is an imbecile as a result, used to play by a clump of trees near his house.

One day, while he was playing, his mother went to call him to come and eat, but there was no Krishna to be seen. She searched high and low and called his name, but there was no answer. She later reported the matter to the police.

But for two days Krishna was missing while his heart-broken mother searched everywhere.

Then on the evening of the second day she found Krishna in the backyard. She cried with joy, and Krishna cried too.

But he was not able to explain where he had been or who had taken him. His mother says that he just keeps pouring his little finger.

Now his happy mother and family keep a careful eye on him and he is never out of their sight.

But who took him still remains a mystery.

THIS IS WHY WE USED THE STORY, MRS. KHAN

LAST week "The Leader" had an angry phone call from a "Mrs. Khan". In an indignant voice, Mrs. Khan wanted to know if we had become a "Coloured paper".

She was angry because we had carried a front page story about a Coloured family that lived under a bridge.

Her argument was, why should we worry about Coloureds when there are thousands of stories about poor Indians that we could write about. She cited the case of Indian families living in dire poverty in Hanny Valley.

Mrs. Khan also complained that Coloureds have nothing to worry about since they have many privileges with regard to employment, etc., which Indians do not have. And besides, she said, what was the use of doing anything for "these damn Coloureds" as they do nothing except drink wine and sherry.

We regret that Mrs. Khan, and others who may think like her are breeding an ugly racialism which can only set back human to human relationships in our country.

We want to state quite clearly here that "The Leader" is a non-racial paper although the bulk of the news is predominantly Indian. We will carry stories about all races that we feel should be brought to the notice of our thousands of readers all over the country without, any regard to race colour or creed.

We also want to say that "The Leader" will do everything in its power to promote integration between the different races in South Africa because it is firmly convinced that it is only integration that can save the country from ruin.

"The Leader" will always oppose the group thinking of people such as Mrs. Khan who condemn whole races willy-nilly.

We believe that hatred begets hatred and that kindness begets kindness, and that if an Indian, Coloured, African, and European approached each other as human beings, we would have racial peace in our country in a very short time.

We believe that sectionalism and racialism is the result of wrong thinking and that if people realised that while each race group has its own customs we are human beings have a great deal in common because we all want to be happy, fall in love, and live decent lives.

Because "The Leader" believes in human brotherhood instead of communalism and racialism that makes no sense, it will continue to ignore people such as Mrs. Khan and go ahead with the good work bringing the races together in this country.

"Sew" taught Krishna

"SEW, you are terrific. I have never seen Krishna Shah and Mr. R. Sewgolum at Cato Manor exchanging blows after Shah at the first successfully passed a test in South African dress."

Mr. R. Sewgolum said Krishna Shah for his part in the play. Shah had left his [illegible] dress, facing a belligerent York and had to take on an African one to drive home.

Mr. Sewgolum said "The Leader" that Shah was a "fine fellow and a fine gentleman."

Mr. Sewgolum is an expert swimmer and was the second ranking in the country to win a swimming medal.

Leader Guard of honour

MAGNIFICENT TRIBUTE TO A GREAT SON OF LADYSMITH

A PUBLIC memorial service and prayer meeting in honour of the late Mr. Ramnath Kallie, who passed away on September 14, was held at the Sanathan Dharma Sabha Hall under the auspices of the Ladysmith Deepavali Celebration Committee (incorporating the various local Hindu institutions) on October 9.

Mr. J. R. Singh, who presided, traced the life and work of the late Mr. Kallie. All facets of the contribution made by the late Mr. Kallie in the manifold activities he interested himself in during his lifetime on the local, provincial and national levels were traced by various speakers representing the different institutions in Ladysmith. They were:

Mr. M. V. Naidoo, representing the Hindu Durukastam and Shri Ganesh Temple.

Mr. N. M. Khan, representing the Ladysmith Maddressa and Mosque Fund.

Hr. B. Pashu, representing the Hindi Yuvak Sabha, Ladysmith.

Mr. K. R. Singh, representing the Ladysmith Sanathan Dharma Sabha.

Mr. Harry Sadhomoney, representing the Young Hindu Colind Service Society.

Mr. L. Sewgolam, representing the Ladysmith Arya Samaj.

Dr. A. H. Sader, representing the Local, Natal, and South African Indian Congresses, and the Ladysmith Remi and Ratepayers Association.

Mr. Ismail A. Moosdla, representing the Ladysmith Indian Education Committee.

Prayers were offered by Messrs. J. R. Singh and V. G. Moodley. Two kirtans were rendered by members of the local branch of the Ramakrishna Centre. The service concluded with a recitation of shanti paath, hymns and prayers. At the memorial service held to be the first of its kind, a tribute to a great son of Ladysmith was an eloquent testimony to the spread and effect of the work made by the late Mr. Kallie.

GUARD OF HONOUR

HUNDREDS of assorted girls at the Sultan Technical College in Durban formed a guard of honour when Krishna Shah and the cast of the "King of the Dark Chamber" came to the College restaurant last week to attend a lunch arranged by the staff of the College in "honour of the effort that they are making to revive cultural and drama in South Africa".

The girls clapped and cheered Shah and the cast as they entered the college.

But everyone asked "where is Surya and Bhaskar?" They were missing.

At the lunch was the staff of the College and the students.

It was a grand affair and not even the oppressive heat could dampen enthusiasm or enthusiasm for the guests of honour.

MULTI-RACIAL CULTURE GROUP PLANNED

AN inaugural meeting to launch a multi-racial cultural group in Durban by Union Artists will be held some time next week.

One of the main speakers will be Mr. Ian Bernhardt of Union Artists, who was responsible for bringing Krishna Shah and the players here. He will address the meeting on the aims and ambitions of Union Artists.

Mr. Bernhardt will take advantage of the cultural awakening that the "King of the Dark Chamber" has brought to Durban to initiate a multi-racial cultural group.

There is expected to be a good response.

Once the group is launched there will be shows in music, drama, dancing, and so on, and there will be regular shows.

One of the highlights after the group is formed will be a series of lectures to be delivered by Krishna Shah on various aspects of drama.

D.I.G.H.S. speech day was a great success

THERE was a large gathering of parents and friends at the annual Speech Day of the Durban Indian Girls' High School on Saturday. The Principal, Miss J. MacArthur said that the examination results of 1960 were very good. In the Senior Certificate 37 entered, 41 passed and 18 obtained matriculation exemption. In the Junior Certificate 224 entered, 161 passed and 11 passed with merit.

The library has been used to great advantage all this year. Girls make full use of the library during lunch time and the projects in this library period each week have encouraged them to consult reference books and further them to work individually.

"As a result of a Speech and Drama Festival two girls were awarded a joint bursary of R25 by the Durban Speech and Drama Association to enable them to take speech lessons.

Miss MacArthur called on parents to "co-operate fully with us, to use their pride in their home work and to encourage them to take part in school games and activities."

Mr. W. A. D. Russell, a former Mayor of Pietermaritzburg, and the guest of honour, spoke to the girls on the importance of education and discipline. The education of today was very different from that of the days of the Cape Town Agreement, she said.

The reason for this, she pointed out, was the efforts made by many public-spirited people who had worked and prepared for the future.

She recalled that the Lady Kunwa Rani Maharaj Singh encouraged educated young Indian women, particularly in Natal, when she was in South Africa.

Mrs. Russell told the girls to uphold the ideals of service, truth and activity inculcated at school. All were not intelligent but everyone had something to offer others.

"It is in school that authority should be obeyed, for later on in life the discipline taught at school helps one to become ideal citizens," she said.

Mr. Russell presented the following trophies:

NO ONE DESERVES NOBEL PRIZE MORE THAN CHIEF LUTHULI

CHIEF ALBERT LUTHULI has been awarded the Nobel Prize for Peace, and it is a cause for great rejoicing. For "the Chief", as his many friends, followers and admirers affectionately call him, surely richly deserves the prize.

In a country like ours where the climate is ripe for Communism, where the oppressed masses of non-Whites, poverty-stricken, semi-naked and hungry, is ever-ready cannon-fodder, for those who preach the evil doctrine of Communism, it is remarkable that the masses have kept a level head.

When the atmosphere is charged with racial conflict and violence, when there is provocation and incitement aplenty—not least from men in high places—it is a remarkable thing for South Africa that it can yet boast so much peace and goodwill between the various communities.

Why is this so? Anyone who has made a study of the last decade will agree that Albert John Luthuli is the one man among millions who has been largely, if not wholly, responsible for this level-headedness on the part of the great majority of South Africans.

Our country is fortunate in having a man like him. It was during the Debate of Native Laws Amendment in 1952-53 that Chief Luthuli really got to know the masses of South Africa and the people of South Africa got to know Chief Luthuli.

A man of great personal charm and infectious laughter, Chief Luthuli has never been known to utter a bad word against any opponent. He is an orator, too, a man with a great gift for moving the people by the sheer power of his words so full of wisdom and sincerity.

GREAT THRONGS

Great throngs began to hum at the "Red Square" in Durban, and in many other places throughout the country, during the campaign. He spoke to them in simple language, often in Zulu, and it was a treat to watch the great crowd—always a happy and peaceful crowd—hold spellbound, applauding, cheering.

He could sing, too. And it was marvellous to hear him lead the crowd at the end of those meetings, singing "Mayibuye" or "Inkosi Sikelela."

Over the years the Luthuli star rose and rose to a great height, until it was obvious to the powers that be that this was a man to watch. He was deposed of his Chieftainship (Up to this day the Government has not been able to find another Chief to replace him as a Government Stooge carries on as the unremoved Chief, but without any official recognition or title.

The supreme tragedy of our times has been that the Government saw in Luthuli a dangerous man. It has outlawed and banished him, without realising that it has not thereby killed the message of peace, harmony and racial goodwill that Luthuli has been preaching all his life.

Even when the Pan-Africanists within the A.N.C. were calling Luthuli a traitor who had sold out to the Indians, who had sold out to the Africans, "I feel I can look his ground firmly and with pride and dignity."

A lesser man would have succumbed to the temptations and pressures of the Pan-Africanists. Not so Chief Luthuli. Instead of the Organisation—which he loved—that his opponents were forced to split.

Today, he is as much a man of ideals as ever. He may not, indeed, try to deliver his people from oppression and poverty and goodwill and racial harmony come a place of honour in men and women, not only from within our own country but overseas—but special recognition.

But his fame has spread far and wide beyond our borders. He has been featured in the Time's feature "Observer" profile. Overseas newspapers make a special point of meeting him.

If there is a man deserving of the Nobel Peace Prize in our country, it is Albert John Luthuli, man of peace and a fine citizen of the world. It is his sincerely the wish and prayer of ever-increasing number of people, that the honour bestowed upon Chief Luthuli will be an influence for the good of races in South Africa.

LEADER OPINION

ELECTION LET-DOWN

THERE can be no doubt that the result of the general election will be received with great disappointment by the vast majority of South Africans. For the great majority of South Africans desired an end to Dr. Verwoerd's rule. That is not to be at least for the next five years.

If ever there was a time for the defeat of the Nationalist Party, this was it. Yet the White electorate of South Africa has elected the path of domination in place of racial co-operation and goodwill.

Dr. Verwoerd has received a strong mandate from his followers, and non-Whites particularly can expect much worse from a Government which is totally blind to their hopes and aspirations.

The plain truth of the matter is that South Africa stands hopelessly divided. The United Party has failed to win over the Afrikaners. Dr. Verwoerd has failed to win over the English-speaking Whites.

The non-Whites, of course, stand outside the South African "Nation" of Dr. Verwoerd.

While there is some consolation in the number of votes won by the Progressive Party, South Africa is still made to swallow the bitter pill of apartheid or "differentiation" as Dr. Verwoerd prefers to call it now.

The White man in South Africa has elected toh hold on to his position of privilege, power and domination, come what may. By so doing he has done the cause of not only the Black man but the White man also, great harm. That, in a nutshell, is how we see the result of the general election.

White domination "dead as a dodo" in Southern Rhodesia

Salisbury Tuesday.

THE Southern Rhodesia Prime Minister, Sir Edgar Whitehead, said when he opened the U.F.P. (Southern Rhodesian) Congress in Salisbury that his party did not resent out of hand the outdated notion of white domination, it would have to look for a new leader.

The maintenance of straight-forward White supremacy was "as dead as the dodo". It was essential that there should be no artificial barriers between the races.

Problems should be dealt with sincerely. "We must respect each other as Rhodesians and build up a united prosperity." As the years go by "we shall come closer and closer together as all nationalities."

Revealing new industrial projects for Southern Rhodesia and plans for tremendous expansion of existing industries, which would boost the country's economy he said he had interviewed more people contemplating investment in the last three weeks than he had in the last three years.

There was a fast affluence.

There was, he felt, more confidence in the Colony without its borders than there was within. An international expert had told him that Southern Rhodesia was the second most developed country in Africa and was beginning to leave the category of under-developed countries.

Outlining his party's approach to the general election next year, Sir Edgar predicted a new order in Southern Rhodesia, the protection of the rights of individuals, respect for the law of land, and the building of a strong Rhodesian nation.

With tremendous opportunities ahead, Southern Rhodesia was capable of supporting a million people at a high standard of living. "We have not yet reached development in this country," he said. "The eyes of the world are on us doing it now. Since the war there has been a great spirit of growth in Southern Rhodesia."

BUREAU HELPS EVERYONE

Salisbury Tuesday.

SALISBURY'S non-racial Citizens' Advice Bureau—the first to be established in Africa—has proved so successful that Nairobi intends to copy it. Inquiries on its workings have come from Nairobi, Cape Town and Johannesburg.

The enthusiastic secretary of the Salisbury Bureau, Miss E. M. Tom-son, said that 147 similar Bureaux were opened in South Africa this month as a result of Southern Rhodesia's successful groundwork in providing this free service.

Miss Tomson said she would be visiting Johannesburg and Cape next month to answer questions about the Salisbury office and its branches in the African townships of Harari and Highfield. So far the Salisbury Bureau has dealt with 1,522 inquiries this year. The problems on which advice was given varied from hire purchase agreements to old age pensions, location of eliding schools, sending annuities abroad and how to invest money. Of the inquiries dealt with 258 were made in the Harari African Township locality.

Old Girl to hold baby show

Pietermaritzburg.

High School Old Girls' Association will hold a new field of activity in December when it holds an exhibition of baby shows.

Mrs. S. Makowski, secretary of the association, said "The Leader" that the exhibition would include needlework, embroidery, knitting and cooking.

'Lousy Pal, Plain Lousy'

HOW MANY IN THE STREET VIEWED THE RESULT

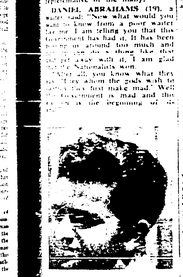
THE big guns have spoken—but what does the man in the street think of the election result. This week 'The Leader" went out to make a survey and interviewed a cross-section of the community.

Most of them showed a remarkable awareness of the significance of the Nationalist victory. Many shook their heads and hoped for better things. Some were facetious and tried to pass the whole thing off as a joke, but a sense of fear of the future underlined their remarks.

Out of the scores of people that "the Leader" interviewed, we chose the following points of view as representative of the many:

DANIEL ABRAHAMS (19), a waiter said: "Now what would you want to know from a poor waiter like me? I am telling you that this Government has done a lot. It has been working on around, now like that. Everything goes away with it. I am glad the Nationalists won.

"Now, you know what they are? They adorn the goals with to [illegible] fast make mad. Well, this Government is mad and this [illegible] is for beginning of [illegible] come scarcer and scarcer. There is going to be more hunger and more poverty everywhere. Some people will be lucky if they get two meals a day."



Mr. Y. L. NAIDOO (27), a bus conductor, said: "I have a wife and two children to support and I regret being responsible for this poor children being born into this country. I am not going to make any more children here until the Malan man was has freedom, and I know that I have a decent opportunity to live like a man. Things would have been better if the Progressives won."

Mr. M. S. REDDY (20), a student at the M.L. Sultan Technical College, said: "I am a Natal Indian and I feel very disappointed. We want action and I feel sorry that I will not vote in the next election. But I will not. It thrills me to see that I am fed up with things. I don't see what I should be studying because what can I do with my education. It's a waste of time. But plain [illegible]

ELNICE, BARMANIA (22), a sewing machine mechanic, said: "Times are bad. I am sure that the Nationalist victory is going to bring more hardships for all of us and that there is going to be a lot of unemployment.

"I am going to cling on to my job because they are going to be [illegible]

Mr. A. KHAN (23), a bus driver, said: "You want my honest opinion, well, I am going to tell you. What this election has shown us is that the White man will not be [illegible] We do not give [illegible] about the Progressives. [illegible] We do not [illegible] Nationalists [illegible] Verwoerd [illegible] Nationalists [illegible] Verwoerd [illegible] Nationalists [illegible] Verwoerd

Luxurious new cinema

It was a glittering occasion. The new cinema opening on Monday night of Pietermaritzburg's new cinema — the Astra — by the Mayor, Mr. G. J. R. Bulman.

Mr. Bulman congratulated the D. M. Vather brothers on their enterprise in adding an ultra-modern cinema for non-White people.

He said that the Astra Cinema had been born a long time in the making but it is the realisation of a much-cherished dream.

Mr. D. M. Vather, the managing director, said that the cinema, situated as it was in the hub of the business and residential areas, was within each reach of future patrons.

The vast auditorium has a seating capacity for 850 people on the ground floor and another 300 upstairs. All seats are fitted with thick-pile foam rubber seats. The projectors are of the Siemens-Rase B12 type and the stage is equipped with wide-screen and cinemascope which allows for full visual advantage from any part of the auditorium.

THE BEST

While not disclosing the source of their film supply, Mr. Vather gave the assurance that only the best will be screened in the Astra Cinema.

The Mayor was garlanded by Miss Nirmala Vather, who also presented the Mayoress with a bouquet of flowers.

Mr. K. M. Pillay, president of the Natal Indian Blind Society thanked the Vather Bros. for their assistance in donating the entire proceeds of the opening night to the Society's funds.

Others who posted in connection with the Vather Bros. were Mr. D. A. Chetty and Mr. N. P. Moodley, Inspector of Indian Schools. Mr. K. R. Pillay was compere for the evening.

Among the Mayoral party were the Rev. Clark, Mr. G. W. Baxter, and Mrs. Baxter. Other dignitaries present were Dr. Govindasamy, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Naidoo, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Moodley, Mr. Durasamy, manager of the Regent Cinema, and Mrs. Doothi Bramdaw.

ALAN LADD

Highlight is Muslim duel with javelin

ALAN LADD and Richard Conte stage one of the most unusual movie fights ever filmed when they put off in a "jerred" for a highlight sequence in Universal International's "Desert Legion," opening at the Rex next week.

The "jerred" is a Muslim duel and is fought with one sharply pointed javelin thrown in the centre of an arena. The antagonists face for its possession and the one who gains it stalks his opponent before throwing.

If he misses the other gains the spear and the duel is reversed. Duels employed as a military game in Moslem countries, the "jerred" is also a more sensational method of duelling to death.

Actor Dahl plays the feminine lead in "Desert Legion," directed by Joseph Pevney and produced by Ted Richmond. Akim Tamiroff is also contracted.

JERRY IS FUNNIEST EVER

ALL Jerry Lewis fans who have been thinking that the comedian is on the "way out" haven't seen anything yet. In his new film Wally, Paramount production, "Visit to a Small Planet," which plays shortly at the Raj, Jerry is further out than even as Keaton, the Peck's bad boy of the stratosphere who comes to take a look at earth.

"Visit to a Small Planet" is based on the hit show that rocked Broadway with laughter, but with the advantages of the motion picture camera magic, the film version is said to be even funnier.

Costarred are lovely Joan Blackman, who was last seen as the young wife in "Career," Earl Holliman and Fred Clark.

An obvious choice

WHAT must surely rank as the most obvious casting of the year, has just been made for Mark Hellinger's "The Inspector," now being filmed by 20th-Fox in Britain. Scotland Yard Superintendent Robert Fabian—who recently visited South Africa — has been signed for an important featured role as a Scotland Yard detective.

Fabian will also serve as technical adviser to director Phillip Dunne.

SAILOR WANTS DIRECTOR TO FIND HIS TEAPOT

A sailor from Connecticut, Francis M. McKernon, has appealed to film producer Darryl F. Zanuck to help him recover a family treasure reposing at the bottom of the English Channel.

Mr. McKernon read that Zanuck was producing "The Longest Day," a reenactment of D-Day, June 6, 1944. He has written to Zanuck in the hope that research for the film might point the way to recovering the heirloom — a beautiful old silver teapot — from its watery grave.

McKernon was Chief Technician aboard the destroyer U.S.S. "Corry" when it went down off "Utah" beach in Normandy. After bombarding German coastal positions in preparation for the invasion, the "Corry" hit a mine and sank as it was taking away from the beach.

It took with it McKernon's much-treasured silver pot, which he had stored in the Chief's galley up forward.

Now, McKernon would like to know from Zanuck whether some diver might be going to examine the "Corry." If so, perhaps the man might consider going through the hatches and bringing up the teapot.

McKernon has two good reasons for wanting his treasure back. "My old mother told me not to date some home without it. She died in 1949, but I still remember how I received her Irish wrath when I returned home in 1945 without the teapot."

Bits and pieces from 'Exodus'

THE props used in United Artists' "Exodus" filled two full warehouses, and included 70 old British trucks and armoured cars which were shipped to Israel from Cyprus.

The props included everything from old pieces of furniture, broken instruments and abandoned toys to hatty carriages, mountains of torn mattresses and piles of worn suitcases. Also on the collect were 500 animals: dogs, cats, cows, chickens, and even twenty camels.

"Exodus" is due for release soon and stars Paul Newman, Eva Marie Saint, Ralph Richardson, Peter Lawford, Lee J. Cobb, Sal Mineo, John Derek, Hugh Griffith, Gregory Ratoff and Jill Haworth.

ONE OLD HAG INCLUDED IN CLEOPATRA PARADE

THE "procession list" for "Cleopatra," will employ a total of 6,833 persons and 110 animals for the elaborate scene in which Elizabeth Taylor is carried through the streets of Ancient Rome.

Cleopatra's vast entourage will include the following attractions: 36 giraffes on white horses, 1 old hag, 1 beautiful girl, 16 dwarfs on zebras, 40 snake dancers, 30 ostrich dancers, 8 marble men to carry Cleopatra, 4 elephants, 20 Egyptian bands, and 10 gold fan bearers.

Also 38 girls with gold wings on a Pegasus, 8 charioteers with 16 black horses, 11 acrobats, 28 pole dancers, 32 bowmen on foot, and 8 bowmen on chariots, 8 pole vaulters, 12 green-smoke dancers, 12 yellow smoke dancers, and 36 elite guards of honour on noted horses.

Present for the grand march will also be a host of Roman and Egyptian dignitaries numbering 1,000, to welcome the beautiful Queen to the eternal city.

The mammoth production was written and directed by Joseph L. Mankiewicz, and stars Rex Harrison, Richard Burton, Roddy McDowall and Hume Cronyn.

Police escort for the milk

TWO policemen had to escort a farmer Hanson's milk to market for weeks on end, all because of the film unit making "Whistle Down the Wind," which stars Hayley Mills.

The unit was shooting at Mr. Hanson's farm at Worsaw, near Clitheroe, Lancashire, where the lanes are so narrow that the milk lorry was in danger of being delayed by the film unit's many cars.

The price farmer Hanson gets for his milk depends on the time his churns arrive at the Clitheroe centre. And the police escort was laid on to see that the milk arrived there on time.

Among the film unit's impressive fleet were two Rolls-Bentleys, belonging to producer Richard Attenborough and director Bryan Forbes, and one Rolls Royce belonging to John Mills, who was staying in the area to be with his daughter Hayley.

TONY'S FRIEND

JACQUELINE CHAN, Chinese-Russian charmer who was a companion of Anthony Armstrong-Jones before his marriage to Princess Margaret, makes her screen debut as the bespectacled "Queenie Lee" in Paramount's "The World of Suzie Wong," starring William Holden and Nancy Kwan.

IN MEMORIAM

KANIAPPEN M. PALIAM (Nelson). In loving memory of our dear son, who passed away under tragic circumstances on October 3, 1960.

You Rude us not a last farewell,
You said good-bye to none,
Your task on earth was not done.

October comes with sad memories
A month that we will not forget
Quick and sudden came the call
Of the heart which was of gold
Your sudden death shocked us all

When you had to answer God's call
Life falling leaves the years will pass by
But memories of you will never die

God Bless you, Nelson
You were the best of all.
Ever remembered by his sorrowing sisters and parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Paliam, of Amatikulu. D 2557

PILLAY NADAS. — In ever loving memory of our beloved father and brother Nadas, who was called to rest on October 21, 1957.

We are lonely without you,
We are missing you more each day
Our lives have never been the same
Since the day you passed away
We often sit and think of you
Your loving ways and smiling face
Nor wish to call for you back
Knows God and for he all the number of his family. D 2559

BEREAVED SON ANSWERS CEMETERY OFFICIAL ON GRAVESITE REFUSAL

Sir,—I wish to comment on a Press statement made by Mr. Gany, a cemetery official of the Harley Estate Cemetery, on your paper.

In the first place, Mr. Gany is not qualified to make a statement with regard to the refusal of a burial site for my late father in the Harley Cemetery.

He was not present when the site was refused to me and is therefore unaware of what transpired then.

The person who refused me the site intimated that no site was available to me as the Aliff family was not a subscribed member of the Cemetery. If I wished to bury my father in the Cemetery, I had to find a subscribed member who owned a grave site in the Cemetery and with his permission I could use the grave site that he owned.

Mr. Gany went on to say that the owners of the Cemetery put in each lot the upkeep of the Cemetery. May I know who the owners of the Cemetery are? Is he prepared to forward to me a copy of the Deed of Ownership? I am prepared to pay any costs that may be involved in this dealing.

I wish to make it known to him that I did not ask for a paupers grave. I was willing to pay cash, on the spot, and all costs that might arise.

This matter, Mr. Editor, is written in all sincerity and in the hope that it will bring to bear upon the minds of those in charge of the Harley Cemetery, the plight of less fortunate people who may not be able to afford to become subscribed members of the Cemetery, and thereby own grave sites there.

Schoolboy is missing

A 15-year-old Woodlands High School student, Victor Pillay, has been missing from his home in Edendale since October 7.

His Mother, Mrs. David, said yesterday that he saw Victor on October 7 in Church Street, and on the same day his uncle saw him in Durban. He spoke to the uncle briefly before the boy disappeared in the crowd.

The parents of the boy are terribly worried and have made a thorough search in all their relatives' places.

Victor's parents would be grateful for any news about his whereabouts, and assure him that he will not be punished.

Information could be sent to c/o 24 Rothe, Edendale, or Phone 23722 Pietermaritzburg.

Ronnie Govender says:

LET'S TALK SOCCER—NOT WOMEN!

RACIAL recriminations at this stage will disastrously sabotage the fight for integration. We should therefore not countenance, in the slightest, men like Mr. F. H. Renecke, who, on behalf of the Transvaal Soccer Board, says: "A start must be made by forgetting our old customs. (TELL OUR INDIAN BROTHERS TO OPEN THE DOOR SO THAT WE ALSO FRATERNISE WITH THEIR WOMENFOLK.)

Mr. Renecke adds: "The Bantu and Coloured women folk fraternise with the Indian; that is where integration will be born."

These statements are contained in a memorandum to the South African Coloured Football Association which is presently, together with the other national football associations, contemplating Federation's decision to integrate completely.

These platitudes of racialistic hate, which have been picked up from the very depths of the gutter, are calculated to halt the excellent progress of the South African Soccer Federation which recently scored a major triumph by getting the world body, F.I.F.A., to intervene in the discriminatory South African soccer setup.

What does Mr. Renecke and his Transvaal Soccer Board want? The answer is made abundantly clear in the following statements:

"T.S.B. has now reached the climax whereby we feel that we must build up our own sport on a solid foundation. In the Transvaal we are just getting our own recreational facilities and this is through the Government to whom we made our appeals."

So, because he wants to accept the few scraps thrown his way, Mr. Renecke is prepared to halt the excellent and morally incontrovertible progress of the Federation. He does this by needlessly attacking a community that has shown itself to be four square behind integration.

However, knowing the South African Coloured Football Association and having full faith in the wisdom and integrity of men such as Moosa, Soeeris, Allerton, Hookes and others, I know that they will treat Mr. Renecke's fulminations with the contempt they deserve.

THE 500 SOCCER FANS

MOST of them may not be aware of it, but these 500 non-White supporters of Durban City who travelled up to Johannesburg in eight buses have let us down badly. By this action, they have shown their support for racialism in sport.

Durban City is an exclusively White team that plays in an exclusively White league. This exclusiveness has such a stink that the rest of the world have suspended them from the world body.

I know that the cry will go up that I am introducing politics into sport. Nonsense. There's no law stopping mixed sport. There is no law stopping Durban City, if they are true sportsmen, from joining the South African Soccer League.

The cry will also go up that Durban City players are a bunch of swell guys who can play topsy-turvy football. But, however, nice a guy may be, if he is an active participator in apartheid on the sportfield, he stands in the way of progress and should not be supported.

As for good football. We have seen some great matches at Curries. My sayings may not be good enough, so I am quoting a White referee, Mr. Burke, who has refereed Durban City matches and the titanic first meeting between Aces United and Berea.

He said: "This is one of the finest matches I have seen. These two teams can give any team in the N.P.A. a run any day."

IT'S THAT OLD NORTH-SOUTH RIVALRY AGAIN

THE professional soccer matches at Curries Fountain this Sunday should draw in the crowds as it is nothing more than a "dressed-up" version of the old soccer rivalry between Southern and Northern Natal.

Avalon Athletic meet Maritzburg City and Berea play Lincoln City. At 12 noon Spartak take on Warwick Wanders and in an earlier game Durban Wanderers United in Sensational League fixtures.

These matches have been arranged by the Durban Indian Sports Control Association to raise funds to provide better facilities and the installation of floodlights at Curries Fountain.

Fans have grumblingly consented to pay for nothing.

They know, however, that the strength of the competitors will be lessened by the withdrawal of Aces and the subsequent withdrawal of Berea, the intense rivalry between Northern and Southern Natal is decidedly altered.

The Southerners wanted a clash of Durbanites who have the cream of footballers in this side of the mountains.

They come with two teams containing outstanding talent. Seldom for one team from up north failed to deliver the goods, and in recent years their footballing strength has been so much that for sure individualistic talent they have dominated the stage.

Maritzburg have made five changes in their side since they were beaten by Aces. That should make quite a difference, for the team that played Aces was of the first order.

The replacements read: Jugoo Govender, Kista Pillay, Sam Pillay, S. Napier, M. K. Govender, Henry Paterson, Alfred Chemane, Sydney Diedrichs, Abdool Ismail, Tommy Leonard, L. Shandley, Joseph Radebe, Teddy Jamalodeen, Julian Clothia and Jakes Hobson.

That is a most impressive list. The calibre of men such as Jamalodeen, Jugoo Govender, Sam Pillay, Napier and others has been proved. However, they must be at their very best to match Avalon Athletic, whose titanic struggle against League Cup holders Transvaal United is still hotly contested.

Lincoln City vex with Maritzburg City in strength. If anything, judging from the tough time they gave Avalon Athletic, who only managed to beat them recently, Lincoln appear to be a stronger side than Maritzburg City. But Lincoln have a tremendous task at hand. They meet the men who almost knocked Aces upon Berea.

These matches should provide a great feast. The Leader makes a special appeal to those White soccer fans to support these matches instead and thus give no one but ourselves a helping hand.

BOY STABBED IN SCHOOL GANG FIGHT

GANG warfare at the Greyville Indian School, Durban, came to a violent climax last week when a pupil stabbed his classmate—a member of the rival gang—a fraction of an inch from the heart after a trivial argument.

The stabbed boy was admitted to King Edward VIII in a critical condition, and the alleged boy has been charged on an allegation of "attempted murder."

"The Leader" learned that the gangs were formed at the beginning of the year.

Boys from the H. S. Dene and who were transferred to Greyville, felt that the boys who had always been at the school being favoured by the teachers.

"Outsiders" formed a gang, and the "insiders" countered by forming another gang.

Tension between the two gangs was evident and fights started to break out on and after school hours. Every afternoon, battles between the two factions in the school and vacant lots near the school were the order of the day. Knives, knobs and even knives were used.

VICTIMS INJURED

Many took part in the fights and were injured but they did not report the matter. The teachers at the school were unaware of the bitterness between the boys and only after the stabbing incident of the week was

Last Wednesday during the afternoon session, a number of the boys being admitted to hospital after a knife had been thrust into his chest—only a fraction an inch from his heart. It appears that the stabbed boy and the other lad a loan of the knife he was sharpening a pencil. When it was refused, he is said to have punched and kicked the boy who retaliated by pulling the knife into him.

It is said that a quarter of the knife was also buried in the boy's body.

When the teacher came in, he saw the boy staggering round the room immediately informed the police and the boy was rushed to hospital in the car of one of the teachers.

The teacher's car was soaked in blood by the time they reached the hospital.

It is alleged that the boy was lucky to be alive, for the nature of the wound indicated a direct thrust at the heart.

After the incident, investigations by the teachers revealed that on the previous day another boy had been stabbed in the shoulder.

A spot raid carried out on the boys produced from 12 to 20 knives.

When the parents of the stabbed boy were informed they came to the school to give the assailant a beating up, and they had to be restrained by the police who were called on.

CONGRATS. LUTHULI

THE following letter was sent to Chief Albert J. Luthuli:

"At a meeting of the United Nations Association, Durban, at the Lecture Hall, Natal University, Warwick Avenue, to celebrate Queen's Birthday, Prince Philip was asked to send a message of greetings and to congratulate you for having been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1960.

"We are greatly heartened and overawed at the honour of this great honour having been bestowed on a worthy son of South Africa.

"While your peaceful efforts and non-violent methods for the attainment of human rights for all South Africans have brought you this recognition, we, together with thousands of other South Africans of all races, rejoice in the fact that this honour should come to our country.

"It is our earnest prayer that you enjoy good health and are spared long to continue your peaceful efforts for the noble goals to which you have dedicated yourself.

Two tragic deaths

Won money, but shock killed him

KISTENSAMY NAIDOO (30), of Bellair, will never be able to enjoy that R1,000 he won at the races recently, for immediately after he was given the good news by a friend he had a heart attack and died.

Kistensamy who had never been to the races, decided to take a bet after he was given a tip by a European with whom he worked. He got in touch with a regular racegoer and told him about the tip he had been given. He said he had a strong feeling that it would win.

On the Sunday morning while he was washing himself at the tap he heard who had placed the bet, ran home, came in and told Kistensamy the good news.

Then the next moment he fell to the ground with a heart attack. He was rushed to hospital where he died.

Kistensamy was a very poor man and worked as a hawker for about R6 a week.

RAN OVER HIS SON AND DIDN'T KNOW IT

A FATHER living at Marville is alleged to have accidentally knocked down and killed his own child recently.

The father did not even know he had run the child down until he was stopped by the shouting of a passer-by who saw the accident.

The son, Brian, was his youngest child and was three years old.

The father, who parked his car in his garage next to his house, went off to work and did not see his young son follow him.

He reversed his car out of the garage and knocked down his child without knowing it.

The father drove off and then he heard a man calling to him.

When he saw his son lying on the ground he could not believe his eyes, and he cried like a baby. He carried Brian into the house, where he died a few hours later.
