Sequel to cutting down racist sign at beach

NO FINE – GIVE ME JAIL, SAYS FYNN

by Gary Govindsamy (Leader Reporter)

LAC member Morris Fynn was found guilty in the Durban Magistrate's Court this week for sawing down a racist sign on Durban beach. The sign read: "This beach is for members of the Coloured community only."

He was sentenced to a fine of R200 or 30 days in jail. Fynn elected to go jail and warned the Court orderly not to accept payment of the fine as he did not authorise anyone to do so. Hi thumb impressions were taken and the local community leader hugged and kissed his supporters before being led away. He was taken to Westville Prison.

Mr Fyn in his evidence to the packed court said he had cut down the sign because "it should not have been there in the first place." He quoted President Botha's speech in Parliament and also a letter by him in the newspaper which said: "We are committed to eliminate hatred amongst the races", and "We have outgrown paternalism and apartheid".

Mr Fynn said he was not a Coloured and that the Court, if it were in his position and called a "Coloured" would appreciate what he had done and why he had done it. He said when the State President announced the 'end' to apartheid he was happy as he could take his family and relatives who were Indian, African and White to the beach, but when he went to the beach he could not stand the sight of the apartheid sign. He then took a saw and cut down the sign. "The sign should not have been there in the first place" he said.

He said if the Durban City Council did not understand that apartheid signs should be taken down "then I was doing the Council a favour." "I had a responsibility to remove the sign." He also said: "It affects me tremendously when I am told that I am Coloured when I am not." He told the court that apartheid was guilty of the offence and not Morris Fynn.

During cross examination the prosecutor told Mr Fynn not to use the courtroom as a political platform and make political speeches but his counsel Mr Chris Nicholson, objected saying the prosecutor's job was not to lecture the accused on his rights but to cross examine him. The Court was open for him to say what he felt.

Mr Fynn said her denied breaking the law but he had removed the sign. He begged the Court and prosecutor to understand his feelings and to appreciate the fact that he and his people have been suffering for the past 300 years. Magistrate Mr Struwig said he appreciated Mr Fynn's problems but that he should take up the mater through other avenues. Mr Fyn said there was no channel in the country save for bodies like the LAC's which were only advisory bodies to the City Council and could not make decisions.

Mr Nicholson in mitigation of sentence said Mr Fynn was representative of the frustrations of his community.

A 14 year old Phoenix schoolgirl shaded her more experienced competitors when she was chosen "Queen of Queens" in the sari contest in a show held at the Durban City Hall on Saturday night. Vino Moodley won the judges' nod, a handsome trophy as well as a trip to London.

PAY GOODWILL, HOMELESS TOLD

Leader Reporter

Nine families are still uncertain of their future after they had to flee their flats when the building in Victoria Street shifted to one side, threatening to collapse.

The families are now attempting to force landlords whose flats are lying empty to give them accommodation.

Attempts were made by the families to approach these landlords for vacant flats – some of which were lying vacant for some months.

The landlords, however, demanded goodwill, which in some cases were as high as R8000.

“Off course there are a few vacant flats, but which poor tenant can afford R5000 goodwill or key money?”

A call is now being made to pressurise the landlords into dropping their goodwill demand and to force them to let the flats on a reasonable basis.

Tenants in the Ahmed Bros. Trust Building at 92 Victoria Street, bid a hasty retreat from the building on Wednesday afternoon when the building suddenly veered to one side.

Most of them fled fearing for their lives, but ventured back into their flats to rescue whatever possessions they could when they saw that it was safe for them to do so.

By yesterday afternoon it was not clear what the fate of the lop-sided building would be. An inspection of the building was undertaken on Monday by the Deputy City Engineer for Development, Mr Geoff Boden, but he was not available to say what the outcome would be.

A family member of the owners of the building was present during this inspection and told “The Leader” afterwards that he was convinced that the only course was to demolish the building.

A decision would only be made once they were paid out by their insurers.

The building which has been vacated because of sagging foundation.

Juleika Moola, with some of her possessions, points to serious cracks in the wall, before leaving.

ENENS EXT.....In existance for over 80 years in the Grey Street Casbah, Enen's Extension 139 Grey Street. I visited the store yesterday and was greeted by some very courteous ladies that know all about Sari's and the like. Sadly the store is not teeming with customers as it was in the 'old days'. Was good to meet with the wife (Mrs Genie Ramlakan) of a dear friend and football colleague, the late Federation Referee Mr Ranjith Ramlakan. Go in and visit the store when next in Grey St.....something still there to remind us of the 'old days' of the Casbah.

Cheryl Bissessor Bhana: Thanks for sharing Buddy. What is the name of that big Saree shop at the end of that strip on Grey St..near some Lane?.. Is it Popit Lal Kara?.Would looove to see a pic if you around the area next time.

Barbie Moodley: Popatlall Kara - one stop Indian wedding shop is no longer in existence. Closed down almost 16 yrs. PEP Stores is now in its place.

Cheryl Bissessor Bhana: Thanks Barbie.So sad to hear this..did a lot of buying at this shop back in the day.

Buddy Govender: Shrimathi's as well....

Barbie Moodley: It is sad.One could find anything you needed there.It was an Indian store for those that couldn't mke it to India but wanted the finest India stuff for their special occasions.

Buddy Govender: Plenty good authentic stuff still available there...

Barbie Moodley: There's still Satar"s standing strong in Bond Street.They even extended the store, great crockery and much more.

Chevron Beamish Fredericks: Didn't they Sarees at the Oriental Bazaar that purple building corner of Queen and Albert street I think.

Fay Hassim: My grandparents were the founders of Sattars and it still stands in Bond street. Still a family business. A great legacy. Wonderful memories of serving customers in Bond street.

Premilla Singh: I miss SHOPPING..like the the good old days !

Mahomed Gany: Sadly my friend from queen street the owner of sattars was murdered in that store in Bond street , his sons now run the branch in peters road , his name was omar farouk (cheesy)

Hansa Bhoola: Very disturbed to read that. He was such a nice person. Always willing to help when I was in that store. Can you tell me when the incident took place

Fay Hassim: @ Mahomed Gany. Correction Muhammad Ali, his youngest brother was killed in 1998 , 18 years ago. Omar Farouk still has the shop in Bond street. Peter's road is M.Allis son's shop. May Allah grant M.A. The highest stages in Jannah. Aameen.

Mahomed Gany: My sincere apologies how could I have made that mistake as I know the family so well Muhammad Ali is correct , may Allah grant him the highest status in Jannah ameen . Omar farouk was know as big cheesy and Muhammad Ali as small cheesy a very good soccer and cricket player !

Davendra Ranchod: I used to go there with my mother

Sagie Pillay: Wel done Buddy 4 ur Efforts an advising us on da Sari shops .. Wat ur da chances of going inside Patels ..an giving dem sum exposure.. may u b truly blessed an ur u stil playing soccer nowadays

Cheryl Bissessor Bhana: Thanks Buddy for all the effort you make to post these pics...for us who are so far away from home ...you keep our hearts in the right place! Thanks for keeping our memories of HOME ALIVE!!!!
Shersrin Naidu I remember my mum taking me here . I think one of the uncles that worked here was called Apple .

Cheryl Bissessor Bhana: Hey Shesrin..I remember uncle APPLE from one of those saree shops.I think his daughter was living in NZ and now Australia. Is APPLE driving school from the same family.Sorry just asking.

Mahomed Gany: Who remembers Choonilalls in Victoria street ?

Hansa Bhoola: I remember vaguely. I got married in 1970 and came to Durban , they were in Prince Edward Street. One of the first sarie shop.

Niketa Naran: Oh and i really really love the pictures grin emoticon you do take awesome pictures Uncle Buddy smile emoticon Rajoo Kara: Hi Cheryl. Uncle Apple worked at Jayshrees in Victoria street. He is now over 90 years old but still has the same smile as always.

Teddy Ravjee: remember this store. although there are other saree shops but Enens is the oldest saree shop still existing in Grey street. is that uncle Apple , i also know him from Jayshrees. quite a salesman in his hey days.

Rajoo Kara: Yes Teddy. Second to me. Hah hah. Thats what he used to say. I ran Sunita's in Grey street. Next to Bhagats. Jayshrees was in the original Simons cafe spot.

Teddy Ravjee: yes, i know you. Rajoo. What about Rivaz at the corner of Prince Edward street and Cross Street. Was't this shop owned by Jayshrees.

Cheryl Bissessor Bhana: Teddy ..Rivaz , I think was owned by the late Usha Jivan.She was a classmate and friend.May her soul R I.P.

Buddy Govender: I remember Usha so well...a gentle soul....she was our classmate at St Anthonys. I spent some time with her on the beach before she went for the fateful operation.....precious time.....may her beautiful soul rest in eternal peace.....

Buddy Govender: Got a lovely call from the owners Mr Yatish Naran yesterday, thanking us for the photos and articles....much appreciated Mr Naran.

The 26 May is the 35th anniversary of the 1980 School Boycott.... what are your memories of that turning point in our history?

This picture was taken out the ML Sultan in Durban

Suneal Singh: My first year as a teacher - Greenbury Secondary . Phoenix was pretty passionate about the cause back then.

Satish Mohan: I was in high school and got klapped by the police...and on top of that by my ma

Jayce Singh: Pupils were protesting about conditions in Black education. Slogans such as "Teachers are not monkeys, don't pay them peanuts." in abundance. Proud of our pupils then. Covert support for them.

Fer Oza: We used to sit on the island outside Orient Hall St Anthony's and the race course and sing Amandla Awethu.

Mac Mackenjee: Was in matric Gandhi Desai 1980. Was boycotting. 107 of us were arrested by riot squad. Spent the day in jail!!!

Jayce Singh: The following year (1981) discriminatory salaries were abolished. There was parity based on qualification. Our salaries increased appreciably.

Rithy Singh: I was in Class 1.. N in my class 1 mind i wondered whether there was something like GIRLcott if there was a BOYCott!

Habib Jamal: My second yr of teaching at Rylands High in Cape Town. Very politically aware those kids were compared to Natal

Toots Naidoo: All the school kids from central Dbn meeting at Orient High n having meetings. Being chased by the cops n hiding in St Anthony 's church

Marcelle Brinkhuis: I was in STD 9 living in Vanguard Estate (Athlone, WC). I cannot compare to KZN but yes it was pretty woe as the Cape Tonians would say. Remember our parents always being on tenterhooks. A tumultuous period that provided a catalyst and impetus for change.

Faizal Sahib: I was in Orient, the Hub of the Boycott action. I was suspended for three months from school, for participating in the boycotts.

The boere cops didn't waste time with us, they set the dogs on us and used batons on us. We sang, We shall overcome one day..... Unforgettable memories

Francesca Anne Leclerc: I was in Isipingo High. The principal, Mr Ally read the mandate that we had to go back to class or be suspended. He called the riot police who pointed their guns at us as we walked out of the school property with our hands on our heads. Our suspension which included the July holiday totaled close to three months.

Claudette Sabatini Irvine: This is sad, I had just arrived back in Durbs when this happened,

Dhillip Jeena: changes in South Africa....i was at Gandhi Desai High School

Eshana Suleman: I was in Gandhi Desai, standard 8 and remember being warned by my mum (a teacher) that I will be severely punished if I joined the boycott... but I did anyway... beautiful memories... I also remember narrowly escaping being arrested just because my best friend and I took a bathroom break just as the riot squad pulled up... We peeped from behind a wall and watched our friends being pushed into those trucks... have to admit it was terrifying... frown emoticon

Mervin Luke: I was in standard 6, got expelled because I was boycotting, then got klapped by my father and then got reinstated in school the next day. Also remember the special branch police chasing us.

Sherifa Yerally: Well Buddy I gave birth to a beautiful baby girl on the 26th May - she turned 30 yesterday- I got married in 1980 - ops no recall of that event

Fatima Seedat: was in Std 5 at St Anthony's, the big kids from across the road came over at break time. our small group earned three cuts each on our shins for refusing to return to class after break ... truth was I knew so little about what was happening, but it felt like the right thing to do.

Shireen Sathar Suleman: I remember this, all kids in school grounds chanting to the teachers Oh No we went to and Amandla Aweto.

OMSA SPORTS

Leader Sports Staff

THE Old Mutual Sports Association held a highly successful indoor sports competition for its members in Durban last week.

The Carlisle Street branch scored the highest points to win the composite trophy.

Deva Govender and Farook Moola (table tennis) and Ivan Moodley and Rajen Naidoo (carrom) contributed largely to Carlisle's success.

Competitors from branches throughout

Natal participated in the various competitions.

Stamford Hill finished a close second. Peeru Abdulla and Deva Ramnarain (thunee) and Bob Santhee and Jugie Naidoo(darts) were the stars for the branch.

OSMA is contemplating an outdoor competition in May which would also involve the partners of members.

SPENCER AT HELM AT DGC

Leader Sports Staff

SPENCER Naidoo was elected chairman of the Durban Golf Club, at the 59th annual meeting held at the Curries Fountain boardroom.

The club, which has taken a firm stand in support of no racialism in the sport, is on the threshold of exciting developments in the year ahead.

Based at the Papwa Sewgoolam Golf Course, the club will obtain use of an additional nine-hole course, probably in September, making it a full-size golf tract.

The extra holes will then relieve pressure on players, particularly on competition days and at weekends when long waits are the order of the day at several congestion points on the present nine-hole course.

For this reason, too, the club has been reluctant to increase its membership. But with the easing of playing conditions the club will be more favourably disposed to new applications.

A further aspect to the clubs activities will be the planning for the golden jubilee celebrations which will be a social highlight for the entire sporting fraternity.

The club cabinet consists of Mr Yacob Goga and A.B. Danka, vice president Ahmed Mohamedy, treasurer and Duren Patel secretary.

In a five club tournament played on Sunday afternoon James Naidoo carded in a score of 73 to beat Johnny Prithpaul by two strokes.

Ahmed Mohamedy was placed second after a count out from Baboo Khan with a score of 69 in the B section.

This Sunday sees the club stage its first four-ball competition and all competitors will be allowed to choose their own partners.

The competition promises to be an exciting one as a full turnout of members is expected.

BIG GATHERING FOR KARATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

THE Shotokan Karate International of South Africa will hold its ninth annual championships this Saturday and Sunday at the Greenbury Community Hall in Phoenix.

More than 400 students from many parts of the country will participate in the championships.

Sonny Pillay, president of the SKI, said he expected a very high standard to be displayed at the championships.

The finals will begin at 1 o'clock.

Favourites to win their respective divisions are Dicky Gopaul, R. Choromanski, Ravi Moodley, V. Naiker (Natal), R. Phillips, V. Mavuso, T. Govender, Segale Mmotsa (Transvaal), L. Chetty, A. Phillip, F. Contor (Eastern Province).
